. . . Says Gromyko After Seeing LBJ, Rusk

Washington (AP) — Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko said and the State Department agreed Monday night that the United States and Soviet Union are moving toward agreement on a treaty on nonproliferation of nuclear weapons.

"It looks like both countries are striving to reach agreement and facilitate conclusion of an international agreement," said Gromyko after he had met for 1 hour and 45 minutes with President Johnson and 2½ hours with Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Won't Say More

But Gromyko refused to tell newsmen about anything else discussed at the White House or State Department dinner.

The White House described the Gromyko session with Johnson as "a frank and wide-ranging discussion in a businesslike atmosphere."

Both sides agreed to continue talks on the nonproliferation question. They reportedly will pick up in New York within a few days with Arms Control and Disarmament Agency head William C. Foster the likely U.S. negotiator.

Clearing Underbrush

Washington sources said after the Gromyko visit that both sides agree a nonproliferation agreement is desirable, and that "some of the underbrush" had been cleared away by the day's talks. But no agreement is yet on paper, it was learned.

The general idea of such an agreement would be for nuclear countries to agree not to give away or sell nuclear weapons, and for nonnuclear countries not to acquire such weapons.

Asked if he had discussed Viet Nam with Johnson, Gromyko said, in reference to his non proliferation comment "What I said was positive on what we discussed."

No Troop Mention

Asked if the number of troops in Europe were brought up he said, "I did not mention troops in Europe."

White House aide George Christian told reporters a number of subjects of mutual concern had been discussed with Johnson.

The meeting had been expected to include discussion of Johnson's proposals for improving relations between the United States and Russia and to get Moscow's reactions to proposals Johnson made Friday in a New York speech.

Switch

Gromyko carefully avoided making a side trip to Washington last year when he attended the United Nations General Assembly in New York, as if underlining differences between the two countries over Viet Nam. He is reported to have agreed immediately to come and see the President this year.

Rusk, Ambassador at large Llewelyn Thompson, presidential adviser Walt W. Rostow and Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Y. Dobrynin also participated in the conference.

Although American officials cautioned against attaching too much importance to Gromyko's changed attitude, they appeared to agree that some guarded optimism about Moscow's interest in the Johnson proposals was justified.

Not Unusual

Experts on Soviet affairs termed it characteristic that the Moscow press has not mentioned thus far Johnson's suggestion that the Soviets consider a "gradual and balanced" withdrawal of both countries' forces from Europe.

To leave such an important proposal unmentioned means that it is seriously considered in the Kremlin, diplomatic sources advised. The experience is that the Soviet government prefers that its people are informed on such vital issues simultaneously with Moscow's decision.

ZONING CHANGE HIT . . .

Gateway Area Expansion Dies

. . . MAYOR BREAKS TIE

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

Mayor Dean Petersen Monday broke a 3-3 City Council tie and voted to kill a zoning change which would have extended commercial land use to a 17-acre tract abutting the eastern edge of Gateway Shopping Center.

The move might be a preview of future council action on pending rezoning ordinances which would accommodate the development of large-scale retail developments at 52nd and R and 48th and Van Dorn.

Requested by Harold and Gwendolyn Conant was a change of zone from A-2 single family to G-1 planned commercial on the East O St. acreage.

$1.5-Million Building

Attorney Richard Peterson said the Conant's, owners of the property for 25 years, plan to sell it to "an institutional investor", who in turn would construct a 100,000 square foot, $1.5 million retail building and lease it to one of three major national retail chains.

He mentioned Sears-Roebuck and F. W. Woolworth as two of the bidders.

Voting to indefinitely postpone the rezoning were council members Mrs. Helen Boosalis, John Mason and Ervin Petersen. Against were John Comstock, Lloyd Hinkley and Carroll Thompson. Mayor Petersen then cast his tie-breaking vote and the ordinance was killed. Councilman John Selleck was absent.

Also Split

Council members, evenly divided on the Conant request, were also on either side of the question whether to "tie in" Conant with the rezoning applications of N.E. Copple (52nd and R) and Larry Price (48th and Van Dorn), both pending before the City-County Planning Commission.

There was more of an indication that a majority of the council will support Planning Director Douglas Brogden's contention that the downtown core should remain the major retailing center for the city at the expense of developing more suburban shopping centers of the Gateway magnitude.

Brogden's position is upheld by the regional comprehensive plan, which proposes developing shopping centers on the city's periphery as it expands. The plan was adopted by the planning commission and the council several years ago.

Brogden again told the council, "that he feels Lincoln cannot support another shopping center the size of Gateway even with a population of 250,000."

Hinkley, in opposing the kill motion, said, "I will vote for public convenience in sh for public convenience in shop- that downtown can remain the only major shopping area in the future.

Mayor Petersen, on the other hand, said all information available to him "leads me to believe we have ample area zoned for business in all parts of town . . .(existing) shopping centers are ample enough to serve the people."

Prejudgment

Mason forecast a prejudgment of the Copple and Price applications if the Conant's were turned down, adding "if this is sustained, I don't see how we can deny the others—they both have the same reasons for wanting to develop."

Hinkley, Mrs. Boosalis, Thompson and Comstock said they would judge each rezoning request "on its merits."

Attorney Peterson told the council that commercial zoning "is the highest and best use" for the now-vacant Conant property, and a "natural extension of commercial zoning from the Gateway area."

'Desirable'

"Consider the desirability of concentrating the commercial zoning internally within Gateway," he added.

As for increased traffic congestion, Peterson said the natural growth of Lincoln is bound to create traffic problems with two solutions: "No growth, no traffic problems," or, "concentrate growth in areas that can best handle it."

He cited the controlled access already provided Gateway.

In addition to Brogden and the planning commission, previously the Conant rezoning was opposed at the council hearing by the League of Women Voters, Downtown Development Corp. and Bennett Martin Jr. of the Lincoln Terminal Co.

Home Buyers May Notice Hike In Monthly Payments

By DAN DICKMEYER
Star Staff Writer

According to reports from Lincoln savings and loan associations, residents of Lincoln who are paying for their homes through long term loans will soon be noticing an increase in their monthly payments.

The cause of the monthly payment hike is an increase in the escrow portion of the payment, which the association uses to pay all taxes and home insurance.

Due to increased real estate taxes — state, county, school, city and other governmental subdivisions — Lincoln borrowers are likely to be paying an average of eight to ten dollars more a month. This figure is for a $15,000 home with an assessed valuation of $5,000.

However, spokesmen for local loan associations were careful to emphasize that the figures were very broad averages. The figures will vary on an individual basis with such things as increases in assessed valuations, home owner's insurance or the amount of surplus funds in a person's escrow account.

Will Notify

First Federal Savings and Loan reports it is beginning a re-analysis of its accounts and will notify customers of changes in the amounts of their payments about the last of November. It gave the following samples of increases in tax escrow payments:

—A home with an assessed valuation of $7,300 by the city and $7,800 by the county will require an increased payment of $10.50 a month.

—A home with an assessed valuation of $4,300 by the city and $5,400 by the county will show an average monthly increase of $8.00.

—A home assessed at $4,200 by the city and $5,000 by the county will cost the borrower about $7.00 more a month.

Extend Time

A spokesman for Nebraska Central Building and Loan said his association's policy is to extend the length of time on a loan rather than to increase the monthly payments.

"In effect, most loans will be increased anywhere from a few months to a year" by the tax increase, the spokesman said.

State Federal Savings and Loan also said it is re-analyzing its accounts and will notify its customers of changes in payments about the end of November.

"We will probably be raising all borrowers' escrow payments except for the lucky ones who have a surplus in their accounts," a vice-president of the association said.

"If we were taking a loan application for a new $15,000 home, it would probably mean a monthly payment of about $120," he said. This would be a monthly increase of $10.50.

About 21%

Union Loan and Savings is in the process of notifying its customers. A spokesman said a broad average for payment hikes on all loans which his association handles would probably be about $10 or 21% — very near the total percentage increase in all real estate taxes this year.

Lincoln borrowers may also be making up for a lack of funds in their escrow accounts caused by a time difference. Loan payments were not increased immediately upon the increase in taxes.

Borrowers who have a surplus in their accounts may not have to worry about this. Others may be paying the shortage in their escrow accounts by lump sums; one loan association has sent notices of such lump sum payments.

Two of the loan associations said that the "lump sum" approach "created a hardship for borrowers." They report that they therefore make up their shortages by adding a fraction of the total shortage to the borrower's statement each month.

All associations stressed that each loan is "an individual matter" and that increases and-or shortage payments will depend on the balance in the individual escrow account.

Powell Guilty Of Willful Contempt

New York (AP)—Rep. Adam Clayton Powell's three-year legal battle to avoid paying a $160,000 libel judgment led to his conviction Monday of willful contempt of court.

Pewell laid the groundwork for an appeal of the verdict in advance when he and his lawyers boycotted the trial, claiming the State Supreme Court lacked jurisdiction in the case.

The State Supreme Court is a court of original jurisdiction in New York. An appeal from its findings goes through the appellate division to the Court of Appeals, the state's highest.

Sentence Later

The maximum penalty under the jury's verdict is 30 days in jail and a $250 fine on each of the five counts. State Supreme Court Justice Matthew M. Levy withheld sentencing until the matter of jurisdiction is threshed out.

Powell owes $160,000 in libel damages to a Harlem widow, Mrs. Esther James, 68, as a result of a jury's 1963 decision that he libelled her. In a 1960 television broadcast, he called her a bag woman, or graft collector, for the police department.

Since the original libel verdict, the case has been in eight different courts, and more than 70 judges have taken part in it at various times.

Claimed Immunity

During the legal proceedings, Powell five times ignored court subpoenaes for his appearance to undergo financial examination — once in 1963, twice in 1964 and twice last year. Powell claimed that as a congressman he was immune to the subpoenaes.

Last Aug. 12, State Supreme Court Justice Irving Saypol cited Powell for criminal contempt. He ordered a jury trial to determine the extent of Powell's "willfulness" in ignoring the subpoenaes.

A jury of nine men and three women was selected for the trial last Wednesday. However, Powell never appeared in court and his four defense lawyers walked out after Levy deferred the matter of jurisdiction until after the trial.

'Nose Thumber'

Justice Levy noted that Powell has been subject to considerable public comment as a congressman but admonished the jury:

"He is not on trial because he is the subject of controversy in other areas."

$4.4 Billion OKd To Aid Colleges

Washington (UPI) — The Senate approved a three-year, $4.4 billion college aid bill Monday after shelving a rider to give home rule to the nation's capital.

Approval of the bill came on a voice vote in sharp contrast to the heated fight over the amendment by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., to provide self-government for Washington, D.C.

The measure was the second major education bill passd within a week by the Senate, which also approved a $6.4 billion aid authorization for elementary and secondary schools last Thursday.

To Conference

The college bill now will go to a Senate-House conference committee to work out differences with a $2.9 billion version passed by the House.

Most of the funds are destined for building classrooms, libraries and laboratories at institutions ranging from junior colleges to graduate schools. The Senate version also would raise federal contributions to student loans through the National Defense Education Act and other means.

The Southern block in Congress adamantly opposes the home rule proposal for Washington, more than two-thirds of whose residents are Negro.

Nonpartisan

Morse's rider would have authorized the selection of a Washington mayor, council and school board in a nonpartisan election. District voters also would elect a nonvoting member of the House of Representatives.

But the House, which has traditionally voted down home rule, refused on that occasion to negotiate a compromise with the Senate on the issue.

York Man Sentenced In Tax Evasion Case

A York cattle dealer was sentenced to one year in prison and fined $10,000 in U.S. Federal District Court Monday on a charge of filing a false income tax return.

Judge Robert Van Pelt sentenced Dennis R. Grosse, who was indicted by a grand jury in Omaha last spring and had entered a plea of nolo contendere.

Judge Van Pelt said in sentencing that "it is my judgment that Grosse has not told the court the truth . . . and I consider this an open attempt to defraud the government."

Grosse was charged with claiming total 1959 income of $5,036.33 when it was actually $22,473.60.

Joseph Ginsburg, attorney for Grosse, told the court in closing statements at the presentence hearing, that the government was not deceived and "no fraud resulted from the transactions" pointed out by agents for the Internal Revenue Service.

In pleading for leniancy for his client, Ginsburg said that the purpose of sentence is to protect society, people and government and to rehabilitate the defendant.

He noted that other returns have been filed since 1959 and there "apparently is no question since that time," and the defendant "has apparently rehabilitated himself."

Judge Van Pelt granted Grosse 30 days in which to appeal.

Two weeks ago, Judge Van Pelt fined several prominent persons for income tax evasion and warned that his policy of suspending prison sentences in tax cases would stop if circumstances warranted it.

U.S. Bolsters Lines In North

A big battle may be in the making in the border province of Quang Tri, where American Marines and South Vietnamese troops have killed about 2,000 infiltrating Hanoi regulars in two operations since last July and are holding the line against others.

The ground forces are under orders not to occupy the six-mile-wide buffer strip — a point reiterated by Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara to newsmen in Saigon. But fighter-bombers struck again at military trails and supply dumps within the zone and B52 jets pounded a communist base camp just north of it.

Developments so far disclosed in the shift of manpower:

—A battalion —perhaps 800 men—of the U.S. 173rd Airborne Brigade, which has headquarters at the Bien Hoa airfield near Saigon, sped to Da Nang. That city, 380 miles northeast of Saigon, is headquarters for U.S. Marines in Viet Nam and for the Saigon government's 1st Corps.

—From its base at Chu Lai, 53 miles down the coast, the headquarters unit of the 1st Marine Division also pulled into Da Nang, evidently to arrange for a move of combat detachments.

—Headquarters of the 3rd Marine Division, based at Da Nang, headed 30 miles north to the Hue-Phu Bai sector. There was no announcement as to how many Leatherneck regiments might be expecting orders.

CP At Dong Ha

The field command post for American Marines and Vietnamese troops in the long engagement is 40 miles farther north at Dong Ha, within artillery range of the border zone that the Geneva conference of 1954 earmarked as neutral territory.

The 173rd Brigade paratroopers are the first U.S. Army soldiers, aside from advisers and Special Forces, to be assigned within the 1st Corps area, the northernmost region of South Viet Nam. Helicopters give them mobility.

Allied troops directly involved on the outskirts of the zone between the South China Sea and the Laotian frontier total about one division—15,000 men. It's a 45-mile-long front.

Intelligence agents have identified elements of three North Vietnamese divisions in and around the zone and strategists expect the communists to try an offensive under cover of rain and fog due with a seasonal switch in monsoon winds this month.

Moderates May Blast 'Black Power'

New York (AP)—Negro leaders in the moderate wing of the civil rights movement said Monday they may issue soon a manifesto disowning proponents of "black power."

Confirming that talks with this aim are going on, A. Philip Randolph, president of the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, said:

"Black power is a menace to racial peace and prosperity. No Negro who is fighting for civil rights can support black power, which is opposed to civil rights and integration."

Others taking part in the discussions include Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People; Whitney M. Young Jr., executive director of the National Urban League, and Dorothy Height, president of the National Council of Negro Women.

"What we have in mind," said Dr. John Morsell, assistant national director of the NAACP, "is a statement which will clarify the civil rights movement — what its goals are and what they are not."

The proposed manifesto would be aimed primarily at the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) and the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC).

McNamara In High Huddles

Saigon (AP)—Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara had a round of top-level meetings with American officials Monday on the part the United States is playing in the Viet Nam war.

Within an hour of his arrival at Saigon's Tan Son Nhut Airport, McNamara met with Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the U.S. commander in Viet Nam.

Much of the rest of the day was spent in secret intelligence briefings. McNamara's findings on over-all capabilities, concepts and goals of the allies during his four-day visit—his eighth to Viet Nam—are expected to weigh heavily on future U.S. commitments in men, money and material.

Colonies Lost; George Too Big For Britches

By EDDY GILMORE

London (AP) — I think I now know why King George III lost his American Colonies—his pants were too tight.

This reporter put on George's britches Monday, and his coat and vest as well.

While the coat and vest were fairly comfortable, with the stomach room and sleeve length just about right, the pants were terrible.

In Wrong Places

They were painfully tight, binding in all the wrong places, hard to get into and out of, and powerfully hot.

I wore them for 48 minutes, and they were torture. At the end of 48 minutes I'd lost my sense of humor.

King George's crimson velvet suit—along with two others—are at Sotheby's, the fine-arts auctioneers. They are to be knocked down to the highest bidder Friday.

Same Size

The expert rolled his eye over my ample frame and said:

"You and the king seem to be of the same size. Would you like to try on the suit?"

(Editor's note: Writer Gilmore weighs 214 pounds.)

"May I keep the suit on for a while?"

"Of course, but why?"

"I want to test out a private theory. Historians say George III was vain, testy, short-tempered, obstinate, unforgiving, and sulky. In the end he went nuts."

Tea Party

Fourteen months after he started wearing this job, a group of George's infuriated subjects in Boston held one of the most disastrous tea parties in England's history, dumping the king's tea into Boston harbor.

This was followed by other acts of rebellion and then, in course, the Declaration of Independence in 1776 and the Revolutionary War.

Church Tax Challenge Turned Down

Washington (UPI) — The Supreme Court turned down Monday an appeal by a group of atheists seeking to bar state tax exemptions for church property on grounds they are a subsidy of religion.

At the second session of its new term that began last Monday, the high court disposed of more than 40 cases by announcing whether it would accept them for review and arguments.

In refusing to hear the church suit brought by Mrs. Madalyn Murray O'Hair and others, the court did not specifically affirm a Maryland appeals court ruling that upheld the tax exemption.

The Supreme Court simply refused — without comment— to hear the case. Its rejection of the appeal undoubtedly will be cited in support of continued tax exemptions granted in other states for churches and parsonages.

Won Prayer Case

Mrs. O'Hair, formerly of Baltimore and who now lives in Austin, Tex., also was the woman who brought the suit that resulted in the Supreme Court's 1963 decision outlawing prescribed prayer and Bible-reading in the public schools.

The new suit challenged Maryland's real estate tax exemptions for church property. It contended that the practice was an indirect subsidy of religion and as such was prohibited by the 1st Amendment to the Constitution, separating church and state.

Mrs. O'Hair said she would renew her suit to get a Supreme Court decision on the issue.

"I will bring it again and again and again, if it takes me 20 years," she said. "Sooner or later they have to face the issue, and I'm going to be here plugging until they do."

In other cases, the Supreme Court acted on appeals from four decisions involving civil rights.

'63 Birmingham Protests

It agreed to examine complaints of eight civil rights leaders, including the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., that Birmingham officials used state courts to suppress their constitutional freedoms. The case, growing out of demonstrations in 1963 against Birmingham segregation practices, will be heard some time this term and decided by written opinion.

The high court let stand an order requiring Mississippi officials to authorize the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) to do business in that state.

It also let stand an order setting astride the 1965 municipal elections in Sunflower, Miss., on the grounds that Negroes had not been able to vote on run for office.

The court denied a hearing to a group of Negroes from Birmingham and Bessemer, Ala., who claimed racial discrimination in the selection of juries there. The brief court order left standing as final a lower court ruling that the Negroes did not prove their case.

2 Libel Cases

In other actions, the Supreme Court:

—Agreed to review two widely publicized libel judgments, one to former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker and the other to former Georgia athletic director Wally Butts. Walker won a $500,000 libel judgment against the Associated Press in 1964 in a suit based on two AP dispatches dealing with his activities on the University of Mississippi campus during the 1962 rioting when Negro James H. Meredith was enrolled. Butts' award of $460,000 from Curtis Publishing Co. grew out of an article in the Saturday Evening Post that charged him with rigging the 1962 Georgia-Alabama football game.

—Refused to hear an appeal by an Indiana man's widow against General Motors Corp. for her husband's death in an auto crash. The action let stand a lower federal court dismissing the claims brought by Mrs. Barbara F. Evans.

—Dismissed a challenge to a New York state law which makes it illegal to distribute obscene literature to persons under 17. The appeal was rejected "for want of a properly presented federal question."

—Denied a hearing to T. Eugene Thompson, St. Paul, Minn., attorney convicted of masterminding the 1963 murder of his wife for $1 million in insurance and the love of a mistress.

—Rejected a plea by California state officials to reinstate a ban on home subscription television. The ban was approved by state voters in 1964, but the California Supreme Court held the act to be unconstitutional.

Percy Quotes Bible, Returns To Campaign

"As the Bible says," Percy said firmly, " 'there is a time for every purpose under the sun—a time to be born, a time to die; a time to mourn, a time to dance...'

"With so little time remaining, I think it is time to speak."

Thus, three weeks and one day after his daughter Valerie was slain, the Illinois Republican senatorial candidate resumed his campaign to unseat veteran Democratic Sen. Paul H. Douglas.

Percy was asked how he feels.

"Under the circumstances, as well as can be expected," he said. "I am more determined than ever to wage a strong campaign."

Percy said that as of now, inflation and Viet Nam "together with racial disturbances" are the main issues of the campaign.

Nebraska Harvest Lagging Slightly

. . . BEHIND 1965 PACE

By United Press International

Nebraska's golden corn harvest, expected to yield bin-busting quantities, is lagging slightly behind last year's pace, government farm experts reported Monday.

The state-federal division of agricultural statistics said less than five per cent of the crop has been picked so far.

Nebraska News

However, the corn harvest doesn't get into full swing in Nebraska until the third week in October. The division said the outlook is still bright. A new production and yield estimate will be issued later this week by the U.S. Agriculture Department.

The grain sorghum and soybean harvests are in full swing in some areas. About 25% of the bean crop is out.

The division said moisture content of the grain sorghum is averaging 17%. Yields have been good and, in some localities, yields of dryland sorghum have been exceptional.

The sugar beet harvest is also under way in the west. Early reports indicate a good crop.

Planting of winter wheat is virtually completed in all parts of the state, and the crop has emerged to very good stands in most areas. Moisture supplies in the topsoil are becoming short, particularly in the southeast and some central counties.

Silage cutting and haying operatings are winding up. Fourth cutting alfalfa and corn and sorghum silage yields have been good.

Range and pasture conditions are near average in the state while feed grain supplies are expected to be average or better in most counties. Hay and forage supplies are below average in some southeast and northeast areas but mostly average or above elsewhere.

The division said recent movement of replacement cattle into feedlots has been heavy. Weather conditions have been highly favorable for most classes of livestock.

Nebraska Skater Takes Time Off Trip—To Skate

Bartholomew, Aurora, Neb., carpenter, headed on east on U.S. 30 for North Platte Monday encountering one of the dangerous 50-mile stretches of his 5.385-mile trip. He plans to follow U.S. 30 across the state and will encounter less traffic once he gets east of North Platte where the Interstate Highway begins, and siphons off much of the traffic.

Followed by his wife in a camper truck, Bartholomew has covered 1,400 miles since he started out June 27 from Spokane.

Energized Staff Plans Uses For Reading Lab

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Auburn—If the air feels charged around this school system, an impressive array of electronic paraphernalia is the original source.

But a strong secondary shot comes from an energized staff anxious to crackle this message:

"Auburn's reading laboratory is the best-equipped non-metropolitan setup in the state."

Visitors from other schools not only hear such enthusiasm from Supt. Albert Austin, but see themselves marvel on closed-circuit TV. Meanwhile, Principal Jack Kent and Mrs. Lillian Eddy have video-taped the conversation—and it's a convert who steps onto the screen.

No Limits

"There are so many practical applications of the equipment that we're limited only by our imaginations," said the superintendent. "Four laboratories and some 160 youngsters will be using it this fall to improve their reading, but there are all sorts of other possibilities."

Acquired last February under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, approximately $15,000 of electronic apparatus enhances the more common listening booths and study materials. Two grade school laboratories and one each in junior and senior high have their own basic equipment, borrowing the TV pieces as needed.

Employing re-useable tape, the video-tape machine permits the playback of ETV programs for students with schedule conflicts. It has also proved of "tremendous value" for speech and dramatics, science demonstrations, and athletic events.

Film Football

"We used it on the football field to show the mistakes during a soap scrimmage," noted Kent, who heads both the junior high and two elementary schools. "We'll also shoot all the football games without having to buy a dollar's worth of movie film."

Utilized for 90 remedial reading pupils this summer, the closely-watched program has already demonstrated its possibilities. Some children have grown "as much as two grade levels," noted Mrs. Eddy.

Orginally a $42,000 project, the program is continuing under a supplementary grant of $34,000. Assisting director Mrs. Eddy are teachers Mark Zimmerman, Mrs . Darlene Kent and Mrs. Leona Reed.

U. N. Given Statue

Mrs. King Cites Civil Problems To Be Overcome

Omaha (AP)—Mrs. Martin Luther King Jr., wife of the well known civil rights leader, declared Monday that racial injustice, poverty and war are the problems which civilized men must overcome because "if any part of society is in need, each of us is affected."

Mrs. King spoke before the National Board of Managers of the United Church Women. The board, meeting in Omaha for the first time, will continue sessions through Wednesday.

Mrs. King said "real and substantial gains have been made in racial justice," but she said minorities—particularly Negroes—still must battle for equal job opportunities, education and housing.

She urged the group made up of more than 500 women, to first inform themselves about problems and then to become involved in their solution.

Youth Held In Stabbing Of Little Sister

A 15-year-old Lincoln youth was being held at the detention home and his 12-year-old sister was listed in "fair" condition at Bryan Memorial Hospital Monday night following an incident at their home in which police officials said the boy stabbed his sister several times with a knife.

The boy was treated at Bryan Hospital for stab wounds which police said he also received in the fight.

Police and juvenile authorities were still investigating the incident which occurred about 7:30 p.m. Monday.

According to police the boy just grabbed his sister and stabbed her several times.

A struggle ensued and the girl managed to get hold of a knife which she plunged into the boy's leg twice, police said. When the girl finally broke away from her brother, she ran to a neighbor who called the police.

The girl received deep stab wounds in the breast and back, the police said.

State Streamflow Generally Above Normal Amounts

Washington (UPI) — The Department of Interior said Monday the average streamflow in Nebraska during September was above normal except in the north-central area, where it was slightly below normal.

The department said irrigation demands decreased and reservoirs began to fill during the month.

Harry Strunk Lake and the Harlan County Reservoir were 0.9 feet and 0.4 feet, respectively, into their flood pools. Contents of Lake McConaughy increased and was 1,579,000 acre feet, which was slightly more than a year ago and 35% more than average.

Ground-water levels generally declined. The greatest decline was in the heavily pumped area of the lower Platte River Valley. Water level at the key observation well near Gibbon was nearly 5.5 feet below average.

Land Bank Heads Meet In Omaha

Omaha (UPI) —Twenty-three directors of federal land bank and production credit associations opened a two-day conference here Monday with officials of the Federal Land Bank and the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Omaha.

Civil Rights Measure In Omaha's Proposals

Omaha (AP) — The Sorenson Administration Monday proposed 22 bills for presentation to the 1967 state Legislature including one which would permit Omaha to enact civil rights legislation.

Another measure would increase the Metropolitan Utilities District's annual contribution to the ciy in lieu of property taxes.

The civil rights measure would permit the city council to adopt laws prohibiting discrimination in the sale or rental of property and in the use of public accommodations.

In 1964 the State Supreme Court ruled that the Omaha Fair Employment Practices Ordinance was unconstitutional because the state had not given the city the power to pass civil rights laws.

The MUD measure would increase MUD payments in lieu of taxes from a flat $250,000 yearly to 4½% of the gross revenue from retail sales. Greg Stuve, city legislative representative, estimated the change would bring MUD's annual contribution to about $750,000.

Other proposed legislation would establish a $5 a vehicle highway user fee and increase the cigarette tax from eight to nine cents a package.

Additional proposals would:

—Allow Omaha to use gasoline tax funds to pay off revenue bonds for street and highway construction and maintenance.

—Require the State Department of Roads to allocate 10% of federal primary road money and 10% of federal secondary road funds and a matching amount of state money to an urban highway fund to be spent on streets and highways within cities on a sufficiency rating basis.

—Make the State Department of Roads responsible for maintenance of state and federal highways within city limits.

—Knock out the requirement that a sewer bond measure receive a 60% majority for passage and substitute a simple majority.

—Remove the provision that general obligation bonds cannot be issued in excess of 10% of the assessed property valuation of a city.

—Eliminate the one dollar added this year on non-moving traffic violations. The added dollar goes to a pension fund for judges.

There also were some minor proposals.

'Farmers Won't Plant Full 1967 Wheat Allotment'

Washington (AP) — Members of an Agriculture Department Grain Advisory Committee generally agree that farmers will not plant the full 65 million acre allotment the government has set for the 1967 wheat crop.

Here for conferences with department crop control officials, representatives from major wheat areas said many farmers dread the possibility of a return of wheat surpluses.

Hence, they said, many growers will plant around 75% of the increases the government has recommended. This year's wheat allotment was 51 million acres.

Powell Urges Responsibility

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

An encouraging sign might be found in the Sunday statements of Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, Harlem representative in the House. For some 30 years now, this Negro Democrat has been a stormy figure, first as a strong voice in local affairs and later as a leading spokesman for his race in Washington, D.C. Powell's career has been anything but calm.

Mr. Powell's History

During the 1930s, he was an active participator in demonstrations in New York against job discrimination. In 1936 he began writing a newspaper column for a weekly Harlem publication. In 1937 he succeeded his father as pastor of the Abyssinian Baptist Church, the place from which he made his Sunday remarks. He was elected to his first public office, a seat on the New York City Council, in 1942. In 1944, Powell accomplished the political trick of receiving both the Republican and Democratic nominations for Congress in his district, and, naturally, was elected.

Powell has been unbeatable in his home grounds since then and it is believed that he will have his seat in Congress for as long as he wants it. In Congress, he has been a liberal with his voting record and continued his efforts in behalf of an end to segregation in all forms.

It is more in the personal end of his life that Powell has surrounded himself with controversy. Beginning in 1952, Powell spent the next 14 years in a continuing battle with the Internal Revenue Service over alleged underpayment of taxes. In June of 1966, pending complaints against the Harlem Democrat were settled with his payment of $27,833.17 in back taxes and penalties.

Within Congress, Powell has faced the criticism of his peers for a number of things. In recent years, Powell has had an attendance record roughly 30 per cent below that of the average member of the House. His attendance for the current session is running even worse than that, at a 40 per cent clip. Next, Powell aroused congressional critics with his junketing.

Congressional Quarterly (CQ) reports that "in August of 1962, Powell's junketing activities during congressional sessions provoked considerable comment both within and without Congress. Accompanied by two office secretaries, Chairman Powell (of the House Education and Labor Committee) departed in mid-session for a six-week tour of Europe. The well-publicized trip resulted in an unprecedentel attack by a member of one chamber of Congress on a member of the other chamber.

"On Feb. 5, 1963, Sen. John J. Williams, Delaware Republican, denounced Powell by name on the Senate floor, saying that 'on the front page of every newspaper were accounts of Mr. Powell's European vacation with his lady friends, where he attended all the night spots of the European capitals on a tax-paid junket that was financed through the State Department.'" Powell was also criticized for having his wife, living in Puerto Rico, on his office payroll at $12,974 per year. Later, even his wife was to complain because Powell began depositing her check in his own personal account. He maintained that he paid her bills himself from these funds.

In 1956, Powell pulled a political switch and supported the candidacy of President Eisenhower against Democrat Adlai Stevenson. Some columnists connected the party switch by Powell with his income tax problems at the time. More recently, Powell has been at odds with the Democratic administration over the implementation of the anti-poverty program.

He has also been at odds with the membership of his own House committee. Condemning his conduct of committee business, the membership recently took action curbing his authority in spending committee funds and controlling committee business.

Ability and Power

Also, Powell has had a continuing struggle since 1960 with Mrs. Esther James who is suing him for libel and other related matters. Despite all of this, even critics admit that Powell has great ability and none will challenge his political power. Thus, it is generally agreed that he could be a tremendous force for progress in the world. He has further alienated himself from some quarters, however, as a result of his affiliation with the so-called "black power" movement. It is on this score that he showed promise Sunday.

He denounced Negro violence and anti-white feelings in his Sunday statement, calling for "massive" Negro responsibility in all walks of life. If Powell would become a spokesman for Negro progress through individual responsibility, he would make a real contribution to the civil rights problem that seems at the moment to be getting worse rather than better.

Break For The Hunters

The problem of the hunters and the property rights of farmers has been relieved somewhat under a new Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation provision.

It is granting an average $2.50 per acre subsidy to complying farmers. In return the farm land is open to public access during the hunting season.

Thus far 382 farms have been so opened to Nebraska hunters, totaling in all 47,000 acres. The farms will be posted under the cropland adjustment program and hunters may use it subject to reasonable restrictions of the Nebraska State Game Commission.

This could develop into a great break for the hunters, who more and more have been feeling the pinch of land closed to hunting by the owners. Good sportsman behavior can increase the new open acres substantially. But careless hunting and damage to installations and injury to livestock can ruin the program.

The day of open hunting range, which so long prevailed in this middle western region has about had its day. The new program is one that can both encourage game and keep hunting land open to the rank and file. With cooperation both from the landowner and the hunter there is no reason why this new venture cannot open a better day for the outdoorsman.

Shoring Up Downtown

The Lincoln Downtown Development Corporation has directed its energies toward a program of self-improvement. The organization has hired a full-time director to pursue its objectives—improved parking and continued commercial strength.

These are the two things with which the corporation should be concerning itself. The downtown area has a number of built-in advantages but these are not sufficient in themselves to insure perpetuity.

The University of Nebraska downtown is a big advantage as is the presence of facilities for large numbers of service and professional people. Downtown has the largest core of people to draw upon of any retail business center in the city but still it could find itself in a declining competitive situation.

To make use of these retail facilities, it is essential that people be able to park conveniently and at no expense. We did not say little expense, but no expense. Parking must be plentiful and free if downtown is to meet the challenge of modern and rapidly developing commercial centers in the suburbs.

Of course, downtown's commercial or retail base must be retained. That means that merchants downtown must stay there, not move out of downtown and into the newer shopping centers. This is a large order because it involves the availability of normally expensive land as well as a trend toward the suburbs.

The corporation will not find either job an easy one but it will succeed if, as is now indicated, it realizes that it must. In its efforts, it should receive the enthusiastic support of city government and the people of Lincoln in general. All of us have a substantial interest in downtown as a tax-producing center and any serious erosion of its valuation would be a blow to the entire city.

The Seeds Of Failure

President L. B. Johnson asked Congress for $1.75 billion to run his anti-poverty program through the current 12 months.

Last week House action seemed to comply. It authorized a budget of $1.75 billion, nominally supporting the program.

But an understanding of congressional procedures shows that an authorizatoon only sets metes and bounds to actual spending. Funds are appropriated under later money measures. The upshot may be that the program will get $1.75 billion or something less, perhaps a great deal less.

But the damage to the program was done in the fine print, some of which could constitute failure of the program. There are more ways to kill a cat then stuffing butter down its throat.

One such is the lower limitations on salaries of the operators of the program. Pay increase limitations of 20 percent have been levied on all earning $6,000 or more in the program. This virtually assures pedestrian leadership. There are not very many men who have the rare and peculiar faculty of getting successful results from a massive endeavor. Because of their rarity they come high. One would not expect General Electric or U.S. Steel to employ as president a man they could get for $6,000 a year. But apparently that is about what we are going to expect of the nation's anti-poverty program.

Another serious blow was struck in reducing the care and educational and social budget which will limit the cost of training the unemployed at $7,500 a year. It has been $9,100. Poorer training will mean a poorer product and is a strong invitation to failure.

Whether the program is realistic or not it can only succeed by doing an adequate job under adequate leadership. If it fails for dollar shortage and unreasonable limitations we had better not embark on it, if there is any other answer.

But life is a bundle of fictions. The Congress is willing to pay $2.75 billion a month for a speculative war in Viet Nam but only $1.75 billion a year to solve a serious social and economic imbalance in our domestic society, involving infinitely more people than are in our whole defense establishment.

Gromyko Acted To Bail Out U.S.

WASHINGTON — When Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko sits down to dinner with President Johnson in their hands will be the question of peace in Southeast Asia or the risk of World War III.

They will not be sitting down as strangers; rather as two shrewd negotiators who came to Washington about the same time. It was when Lyndon Johnson was a young congressman from Texas that Andrei Gromyko came to work four blocks from the White House in the 16th Street mansion built by Mrs. George Pullman, widow of the Pullman car executive.

Gromyko, a young Soviet secretary, grew up in these capitalist surroundings, featuring gold candelabra and red satin wall coverings; came to know the politics of the USA not as well as Johnson, but its foreign policies perhaps better.

He knew in the 1960 election, however, not to criticize Nixon or it might defeat Kennedy. I know because in October, 1960, I talked to Gromyko about it. He also knew in 1963-64 not to do anything that might rock the political boat for Lyndon Johnson and elect Goldwater. And he knows right now that Johnson is handicapped in making foreign policy moves until after the November elections.

☆ ☆ ☆

The Russians, though they don't agree with American politics, understand politics and are practical people. Twice in the past they have rescued the United States or the West from embarrassing impasses. Once was in 1954 when Foreign Minister Molotov, Gromyko's predecessor, helped call the Geneva conference to get France and indirectly the United States — which had been financing France — out of the Indo-China mess.

The second was in 1961-62, when Khrushchev deliberately helped President Kennedy pull his chestnuts out of the fire in Laos where we had become overextended and hopelessly bogged down.

So the big question is: will Gromyko help bail us out of Viet Nam, where we have 317,000 troops involved in a war that may last eight to ten years, which is undermining the Johnson administration, causing serious inflation and alienating our friends in Asia and our allies in Europe?

On the surface this is a situation which should make Gromyko and his chiefs in the Kremlin rub their hands with glee. But political recrimination isn't as important in this case as the bitter gulf developing between Russia and Red China and the Russian desire for peace.

They know that the USA and USSR today can control the peace of the world.

Campaigns Fail To Touch Issues

WASHINGTON—One of the oddest election campaigns in America's political history will falter to an uncertain end in four weeks. It has been a peculiar campaign because the deep underlying concerns and discontents have found so little expression in the give-and-take of campaign oratory.

The war in Viet Nam, the growing hostility between Negroes and whites, crime and violence—these nagging worries have been muffled. The candidates are talking about effects rather than causes.

The Democrats stress prosperity, the Republicans hit at high prices and high interest rates. The cause, in the swelling expenditures for the Viet Nam war, gets only incidential attention.

The outcome on Nov. 8, if a confusion of predictions is a measure, is equally uncertain. The loss of Democratic seats in the House ranges from a cautious forecast in the neighborhood of 30 to Sen. Everett McKinley Dirksen's proud claim of 75. Any change in the Senate is likely to be no more than two or three seats either way, with the present Democratic majority of 66 to 34 left intact.

This reporter leans to the cautious forecast while recognizing that some profound subsurface upheaval could blow all the prognosticators out of the water. A loss of 30 Democratic seats, and this is roughly the figure which in private knowledgeable Republicans give, would be less than the normal attrition after the Johnson landslide of 1964. It could be claimed as a Democratic victory, although a loss on that scale would put a roadblock in the way of the Johnson great society programs.

If Democratic losses are comparatively small it will not be hard to find the reasons. First and foremost is the massive power that goes with control of the executive branch of government and with large Democratic majorities in the Senate and House.

Increasingly, with huge spending by the federal government — conspicuously the $60 billion for the Department of Defense — this power can hardly be exaggerated.

First-term Democrats in marginal seats have benefited by a constant flow of post offices, rehabilitation projects, government contracts of various kinds, dams and harbor dredging, in other words, the pork barrel has been full to overflowing.

The crop of first-termers out of '64 were in many instances exceptionally able. They knew how to take advantage of the favors passed out by Washington and if they didn't they were coached by Vice President Hubert Humphrey and others. Humphrey has played a leading part in co-operative efforts to line up support for hard-pressed Democrats in both Senate and House.

LA VERNA HASSLER

Patchwork Prairie Country

The night comes very fast now at this time of year. It reached the gate of the corral just as I went past. Up in the barn the pigeons were cooing their good-night vespers. I heard the soft flutter of wings as they moved and settled again and again before finding a final place to roost. Soon all the ruffled feathers were silenced and I knew their heads were tucked snugly under their wings.

I heard, too, the soft purring of the kittens as they followed one behind the other to find their hiding place among the bales of hay. I stopped to hear what they were saying but all I caught was a piece of soft purring saying something over and over again. Purrr . . . haps it was not meant for me to understand.

A crow swooped by, visible only because he was several shades blacker than the oncoming night. He alighted in a nearby tree, amid a great flutter of wings. Other crows had already settled for the night and resented the late-comer. Soon their raspy back-talk came to a close and the dark shadows settled through the treetops.

In the corner of the gate, a spider worked diligently to complete its web. The death trap for some unsuspecting moth was meticulously spun and barely visible in the gray shadows. I knew as darkness settled some insect would fly into the mesh of webs.

One by one the notes of the crickets grew into a steady hum in the grass. Their serenade to the night grew in intensity as the night progressed.

I hurried into the house, glad to feel the warmth of the kitchen meet me as I opened the door. The chill of the evening air had penetrated deeper than I thought.

Every night I wonder if frost will come. The roses are blooming again and I would like to see the last four or five buds open into full blown roses before they are nipped by a freeze. Roses in the fall are as welcome as those in the early summer. Knowing the blooming season is of short duration in autumn makes each rose more beautiful. Giving up the last rose to the frost is saying good-bye to the old season.

I have been rather smug and boastful to The Farmer since I have found a recipe for making pie crust with a commercial cooking oil, or salad oil, as it is also called. In the past years I have made pie crust with lard, always certain there was no other best way to make a tender, flaky crust. Then I came upon a recipe using oil and milk instead of lard. There is no more crumbling the flour and lard together until it looks like cornmeal. It is rolled between pieces of waxed paper so there is no counter-top covered with flour to be cleaned up after the crusts have been made. It only takes a jiffy to make and I am quite satisfied with the tender pie crusts.

I have no excuse now for not baking pies unless it should come because of a broken arm as a result of patting myself on the back after taking a pie from the oven with a "melt-in-the-mouth crust."

It almost looked as if it could snow one morning recently. The dark blue-black clouds hugged the farm with a somber foreboding and the wind had a winter-chill. I would not have been at all surprised to see big feathery snowflakes fall through the sky.

Perhaps the sky is the best guide to a changing season. Spring has its own vibrant blue, clear as a looking glass. Autumn has its dark navy blue mixed with grays. Winter has its own heavy, rolling clouds of gray, low slung and dreary.

The winds, too, are different as the seasons change one to another. A spring zephyr is light and airy as a bubble. An autumn wind is chill and filled with the scents of drying seed pods and grass. A winter wind is eerie and cold. It whistles around the corners and tells of a snowstorm coming from the distant north. Almost, but not quite, it seemed the wind had a warning note as it blew in with the dark clouds.

Two Pauls

Bennet, Neb.

There's a fellow named Harvey, his given name is Paul, and he's due for a tumble, as sure as you're tall.

No doubt he's a smart one for he sure handles words, but his political talks are all for the birds.

Now, he's not for the "peace-nicks," as he calls them of late. He's all for the eating but still save the cake.

Twenty centuries ago another man, Paul, rode astride of his high horse when he too took a fall. But when he met the hard earth, his vision did clear and his eyes they did open and he saw far and near. And he learned at that moment when his high horse did stumble that to pass through the gate, one needs to be humble.

And today that same Paul of long years ago is watching and waiting for the Pauls here below. But it makes his heart sad as he watches their stride, for some might not make it because of their pride.

The Spotlight

Lincoln, Neb.

Tell me, is it necessary for the highest paid official of the sheriff's office (the sheriff) to escort prisoners to and from the Courthouse and jail?

Is it possible the deputies are not qualified to handle prisoners, or is it because of the film and TV coverage enjoyed by the escorter?

Experience

Davey, Neb.

In answer to "Farmer for Colin," I reiterate, Mr. Colin has had no law-enforcement experience whatever. We cannot risk replacing the present sheriff, Merle Karnopp, with a person who has had absolutely no practical experience in this field. If there is ever a post that requires experience, it is the office of sheriff. Mr. Karnopp has been a leader in law-enforcement for almost a quarter of a century and deserves our support.

Curtis Film

Lincoln, Neb.

I was shocked to see the Carl Curtis film on television the other night with that portion depicting children clapping. As everyone knows, that portion of the film was a ruse; that the children were asked to clap before the senator had spoken to them; and that the children were asked not to tell their parents about the matter.

Last spring the school committee said it would protest the matter, that of using children for partisan political purposes. But it never did. They said that portion of the film depicting our local children clapping would be deleted. It was not.

I think this is nasty business, and as one whose son was in the auditorium that day, I protest very much that he has been used to help Senator Curtis gain re-election to a post he has no qualifications to hold.

I believe it would help us to evaluate the sales and income tax question if readers who have lived with these in other states would write in their opinions.

We can profit if told how much these started at, if they have been altered over the years, and how their state property tax has been affected.

Legal Fees

Lincoln, Neb.

The final article in a Star series leaves a question in my mine. What possible relationship could there be between the size of an estate and the fees charged by lawyers? It's like a cancer surgeon setting his fee by the size of the tumor he excises.

It is not logical to assume that the larger the estate, the more complex it is; therefore, the fee schedule seems to be an impudent gouge by lawyers in many cases. Actually probate and administration are the simplest and least professional jobs that lawyers do—nearly any intelligent layman could do this work if he were permitted to do it—and the per-hour profits must be fantastic.

Drafting and executing a will need not be expensive? As little as $25? That happens to be two or even three days pay for most Nebraskans. I note from studying the outrageous fee schedule The Star quotes that the poor pay more percentagewise than the rich do. The rich would not stand for the kind of treatment that the poor accept meekly. The bar association knows this and has set fees accordingly.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Athletic Elders Splendid Examples For Others

By ROBERT PETERSON

A lot of elders pride themselves on keeping in trim and engaging in feats of considerable physical demands. They not only benefit from their assorted exercises, but set a splendid example for their contemporaries.

I've never forgotten my long ago interview with 91-year-old Henry Torrance of New York who exercised regularly so that each summer he could fulfill his annual goal of paddling the length of Lake George in his canoe.

Then there was Mrs. Freda Bourne in her 80s, who was still taking two strolls a year from Providence, R.I., to Boston, Mass., and back again — a round trip of some 80 miles.

In the tradition of these hardy souls is Prof. Edwin H. Paget, a speech professor at North Carolina State University in Raleigh. He's in his 60s but has climbed Pikes Peak in Colorado 175 times during the last six years. This past summer he climbed it 24 times.

Eager to learn more, I contacted Prof. Paget who tells me he became interested in exercise and its role in health a score of years ago. He said he had noted terrible waves of fatigue and exhaustion, and began wondering if a daily regime of exercise might help.

"I found that regular exercise was what I needed," he said, "and began getting at least an hour of strenuous activity daily.

"As a young man I had climbed Pikes Peak a few times, so I decided to see if I was still equal to it. Apparently my daily exercises paid off, for I found I still had the strength to climb it. This triggered my belief that if we exercise regularly we may well get stronger with the passing years.

"Climbing Pikes Peak several times each summer has now become routine, and I wish I could interest others along in years to join me. I'd like to see established a national center for physical fitness where people could come and study various ways of keeping fit."

Prof. Pagent doesn't think much of the pace at which golf is ordinarily played. In an attempt to zip up the game he has founded a National Speed Golf Tournament held annually at the Garner Country Club in Raleigh, N.C. To participate, a player must be able to play an 18 hole golf course of at least 6,200 yards in less than 53 minutes of actual playing time — the minimum time required to qualify.

The late news commentator H. V. Kaltenborn would have approved of speeding up golf. He once told me that he gave up golf in his 40s, in favor of tennis. Golf, he said, wasn't much better than a leisurely stroll across a country meadow and gave the body none of the brisk shaking up required for health and longevity. He must have known what he was talking about for he lived to be 90.

There's little doubt that we need to stimulate folks along in years to get some brisk exercise daily. By using our muscles and stimulating the blood circulation, we retard the bodily lethargy and organic deterioration which comes from too much food and too much sitting around.

If you would like a booklet "Exercises for Folks Past 40" write to Robert Peterson, "Life Begins at Forty," c/o The Lincoln Star enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents to cover handling costs.

Swanson's Candidacy Is Legal, Meyer Says

By Associated Press

Atty. Gen. Clarence A. H. Meyer said Monday State Railway Commissioner Wayne Swanson's nomination for state treasurer does not violate the State Constitution.

Democratic State Chairman John Mitchell of Kearney said last week that if Swanson, a Republican, is elected to the treasurer's post, the election might be challenged on a contention that the constitution prohibits a railway commissioner, while in office, from seeking another elective position.

Swanson's term on the Railway Commission expires in 1968.

Article LV, Section 2 of the State Constitution states that "none of the officers mentioned in this article shall be eligible to any other state office during the period for which they have been elected . . ." The Railway Commission is mentioned in Section 20 of the same article.

Meyer, also a Republican, said he has told railway commissioners seeking other elective posts in the past that the constitutional restriction does not apply to them.

He said the constitutional restriction against certain officers running for other posts during their term in office has been in the constitution since 1875.

He said voters authorized creation of the Railway Commission in 1906 but did not specify where the Railway Commission section should be placed so it was added to Article IV.

"The people didn't put that section in Article IV," Meyer said. "It was placed there by the printer because of lack of a better place to put it, and a printer cannot determine a person's eligibility to office."

Compromise Ends Reservist Dispute

Washington (AP) — House and Senate negotiators compromised Monday in their dispute over presidential authority to call up military reservists.

The dispute has delayed final congressional action on the $58 billion defense appropriations bill.

But neither Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., nor Rep. George Mahon, D-Tex., leaders of the Senate and House groups, would disclose terms of the agreement.

Public Later

Mahon said details will be made public when the conference committee report is filed in the House, probably Tuesday.

"It's not altogether satisfactory, but it's better than nothing," Russell said of the compromise.

Russell sponsored the Senate plan, which was tacked onto the appropriations bill, to give the president authority to call up as many as 467,000 reservists to bolster U.S. military manpower for the war in Viet Nam.

House's Separate Bill

The House passed separate legislation, covering about 197,000 active reservists who are not now assigned to reserve units.

Both versions waive the requirement that the president declare a national emergency to summon reservists. Each would run for two years.

Increase In Hanoi Air Power Noted

Saigon (AP) — U.S. military sources said Monday North Viet Nam's air force, while still not a significant power, is increasing in size. The latest intelligence indicates Hanoi has about 100 MIG fighters.

The new estimate indicates that the Soviet Union and possibly Red China have replaced North Viet Nam's combat losses and beefed up the forces since last spring, when the best guess was that 75 MIGs were on hand.

Photo reconnaissance from high-flying aircraft is the only way the United States can check on the communist air power because virtually no in-country intelligence is available.

The MIGs have been appearing more frequently south of Hanoi in recent weeks. Previously they had been confined primarily north, northwest and northeast of Hanoi and in the Haiphong area.

The increasing MIG activity heightens the possibility that the United States may attack the communist air bases.

As one officer put it: "If they keep shooting at us, we probably will have to do something about it."

The latest encounter with MIGs came Sunday when Navy pilots flying propeller-driven Skyraiders downed one MIG and damaged a second, and a jet Crusader felled another.

U.S. Bombing Halt Urged To Pave Way For Talks

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — Communist and neutral nations pressed Monday for an end to U.S. bombing of North Viet Nam as a means of breaking the deadlock on peace talks. A British peace plan got a promise of careful U.S. consideration.

Poland and Sweden were among the nations suggesting in the U.N. General Assembly that a stop to the bombing might open a door to negotiations.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg conferred privately with British Foreign Secretary George Brown on Britain's six-point plan which Brown is expected to present formally to the Assembly Tuesday.

Goldberg said afterward the United States was giving "very thoughtful consideration" to the British proposals and expressed hope that this "sober consideration will be matched by equally thoughtful consideration in Hanoi and other capitals."

Hanoi has spurned the British plan, and also has rejected the appeal by Pope Paul VI for an end to the hostilities. But Western diplomats said they would continue efforts to get the Viet Nam war to the negotiating table.

State Educational TV Commission Meets Tuesday

Revision of program submission and acceptance procedures will be a major topic on the agenda when the Nebraska Educational Television Commission meets at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday in Room 2414 of the State Capitol.

Reports from network in-school programming agencies, the Nebraska Council for Educational Television, Inc., and the Metropolitan Omaha Educational Broadcasting Association on expanded services in the new academic year will also be heard.

Other items on the agenda include a quarterly review of the commission's budget and reports on coverage being provided by the two new stations, KPNE-TV, Channel 9, North Platte, and KTNE-TV, Channel 13, Alliance. The meeting is open to the public.

Job Picture Bright Except For Negroes

Washington (AP) — The nation's job picture continued bright for most Americans except Negroes last month and the unemployment rate dipped to 3.8%, the Labor Department said Monday.

Commissioner Arthur M. Ross of the Bureau of Labor Statistics said the prospect is good the rest of this year for continued high employment and a low jobless rate, except for Negroes and unskilled workers.

Total nonfarm payroll employment rose 400,000 to 64.9 million, a record for September. And factory workers' average wages went up 4 cents to a high of $2.74 per hour.

The bureau said the total number of unemployed dropped by 350,000 to 2.6 million in September, bringing the jobless rate down from 3.9% to the civilian labor force in August.

Nationalizing Studied

Nairobi, Kenya (AP) — The government plans to study the possibility of nationalizing all of the country's electric power supply plants, Ngala Mwenda, communications minister, announced. He said the study would start soon.

Officials Can't Ask Funds For Income Tax

The state tax commissioner's office said Monday it will not include any funds for income tax administration in its initial budget request for the 1967-69 biennium.

William Peters, attorney for the tax commissioner, said the successful referendum petition drive to force a November vote on the 1965 income tax law prevents state officials from taking any action to prepare for the income tax.

If the 1965 law survives the election test next month, the tax commissioner's office will file a supplemental request for funds to administer the tax, Peters said.

The 1965 Legislature appropriated $635,000 in state funds to prepare for administering the new law, and only a few thousand dollars were spent before the initiative drive suspended the law.

Prof. Gaver To Address Confab

Prof. Mary Gaver, president of the American Library Association, will speak at the 68th annual convention of the Nebraska Library Association at the Lincoln Hotel Oct. 20 and 21.

The theme of the convention will be "Centennial Eve: Planning for the Next 100 Years." Professor Gaver, of Rutgers University, New Brunswick, N.J., will speak on cooperative library planning for school library development.

Other plans for the program include a look at future developments and needs in public libraries, planning a study on regional library systems, library education and a review of federal legislation for libraries and library interaction.

ELECTIONS—1966

Two-Term Limit For Governor Proposed On Ballot

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Constitutional amendments which would limit the governor to two consecutive terms, permit elected executive state officials to seek the governorship during their terms of office and hike payments to state senators will appear on next month's general election ballot.

Among other proposed amendments are two legislative reapportionment proposals and a measure providing procedures for removing or retiring judges from office.

All six amendments were placed on the ballot by action of the 1965 Legislature.

Amendment 9, proposed by the Unicameral on a 38-10 vote, would limit the governor to two consecutive four-year terms. He could seek election again four years after the completion of his second term.

Three Terms

Nebraska has elected four governors, including Frank Morrison, to three consecutive terms—but the length of gubernatorial terms prior to the 1966 election was two years. No Nebraska governor has served in office for eight years.

Amendment 1, which won 42-3 legislative endorsement, would eliminate the present constitutional ineligibility of elected state executive officers to seek other state offices during their terms.

If approved, the amendment would permit the secretary of state, auditor, treasurer and attorney general to be candidates for governor — or any other state office—during their elected terms.

(There is some legal dispute over whether the amendment also applies to members of the State Railway Commission, or whether commissioners are now covered by the present constitutional prohibition. Railway Commissioner Wayne Swanson, whose term extends until 1969 is the Republican nominee for state treasurer.)

The amendment would also permit the lieutenant governor to seek state offices other than governor. A 1962 amendment previously freed the lieutenant governor to be a candidate for governor during his elected term.

Travel Expenses

Amendment 2, approved by the Legislature on a 39-8 count, would provide state senators with round trip travel expenses home once a month while the Unicameral is in session and per diem expenses for each legislative day, not exceeding 120 legislative days (about six months) per session.

Senators now receive expenses for only one round trip home each session and no per diem (meals-lodging) allowance.

The amount of per diem pay would be established by the Legislature (perhaps at a special session after the election) if voters approve the amendment.

Amendment 7, which gained 43-0 legislative approval would create an 11-member Commission on Judicial Qualifications composed of seven judges, two members of the Nebraska Bar Assn., and two laymen to consider complaints against judges.

Removal Of Judges

The Commission could recommend removal of judges for misconduct failure to perform their duties habitual intemperance conviction of a crime involving moral turpitude or disbarment or retirement because of physical or mental disability of a permanent nature.

Recommendations would be submitted to the State Supreme Court which would review the proceedings and make the final determination.

Two legislative reapportionment changes are proposed in Amendment 13, which won 35-7 legislative approval.

The first change would require redistricting of the Legislature after each federal decennial census. The constitution now contains permissive, rather than mandatory, language providing that the Legislature "may redistrict the state from time to time, not more than once in 10 years."

The second change protects the four-year terms of senators whose districts are reapportioned in the midst of their terms. Those senators would continue in office and the Legislature would specify what new district each would represent for the balance of his term.

Interest Pleases Candidate's Wife

Mrs. Philip C. Sorensen, who last Thursday began a series of coffee hours to campaign for her husband, Democratic gubernatorial nominee, says she is "pleased by the interest shown."

Mrs. Sorensen is scheduled to visit 60 communities in two weeks.

Other visits scheduled this week:

Tuesday — Hershey, Wellfleet, Paxton, Grant and Big Springs.

Wednesday — Oshkosh, Dalton, Potter and Kimball.

Thursday — Morrill, Minatare, Bayard and Bridgeport.

Diesels In Operation

Dacca, East Pakistan (AP)—Eighteen new American diesel locomotives — 14 bought with a U.S. loan of $8.7 million and four with U.S. aid—went into service this week in East Pakistan. The total of American locomotives in East Pakistan now is 102. The oil burners help cut down consumption of coal, which Pakistan imports from Red China.

Broad Scientific Research Base Vital—Sorensen

Omaha (AP)—Lt. Gov. Philip Sorensen Monday described as essential "a broad scientific research base brought about under the auspices of state government."

Such a research base would "help secure national assistance in the development of scientific research and aid the growth of industry," he declared in remarks prepared for a Dundee Kiwanis Club meeting.

The Democratic candidate for governor noted that Nebraska now has the second highest literacy rate in the nation and ranks among the top 10 states in percentages completing both elementary and high school. He urged "building on this base for a strong future."

State Service To Suggest Changes

State Administrative Services Director Willard Townsend said Monday his department will draft specific remedial recommendations for the next Legislature to consider for enactment.

Townsend said the suggestions, though only in idea form now, will help "smooth out" the rough road his department has traveled since its creation in 1965.

"We hope to have a series of recommendations that will be clarifications," he said. "In some cases it is evident certain activities need to be repealed."

Administrative Services is charged with the state's new accounting procedures. It also serves as an overseer of the newly installed computer system.

Townsend said the Legislature tacked on certain amendments to the bill establishing his department which are unrealistic under actual operation.

He said the recommendations should be completed for both the Legislative Council's Executive Board and Interim Budget Committee when the council meets in full membership Nov. 14 and 15.

Two Brothers Charged In Sheryl Cummings' Slaying

Santa Monica, Calif. (UPI)—Two brothers were being held Monday in the slaying of secretary Sheryl Cummings whose body was discovered nearly two months after she disappeared.

They were identified as Donald A. Davis, 19, and his brother, Gene, 20.

Earlier police had booked Donald on suspicion of murder in connection with the death of the attractive 22-year-old secretary. She was formerly a student at the University of Nebraska and was a native of South Dakota.

Donald led authorities to the body Friday. She was found concealed under heavy brush near a tunnel in the Santa Monica mountains.

Homicide Lt. James Hamilton of the Los Angeles sheriff's office said the Davis brothers had been arrested for questioning about a burglary. Detectives said Donald then admitted having knowledge of the murder and led them to the body.

House-SenateConferenceCommittee Approves Power Line Appropriation

Washington (AP) — Nebraska Sens. Roman Hruska and Carl Curtis reported through their Washington offices Monday that the House-Senate conference committee has approved an appropriation of $450,000 for the start of the 345-KV transmission line from Fort Thompson, S.D., to Grand Island.

This amount was $50,000 less than had been asked for the big power line, but the Nebraska Senators said in telegrams to Nebraska power leaders the appropriation will be sufficient for preliminary engineering and right-of-way for the $26 million power line project.

They noted that the bill includes language requiring the Bureau of Reclamation to go back to both houses of Congress for approval before extending the line beyond Grand Island. Power planners have envisioned extending the transmission southward to hook up with the Southwestern Power Pool providing an integrated grid system, which will make possible greater and less interruptible power supplies to Nebraska.

This was included in the $4.1 billion public works appropriation bill, one of the last big money bills remaining to be passed by Congress.

TALK around Town

No time for any verbal meandering this ayem — We have to hurry along with th news — We want to tell you that there are to be some guests from New York City in town for the game weekend — Mrs. John O. Ross, the former Mary Riepma of Lincoln — and Delta Gamman at the University of Nebraska. Mrs. Ross, who will be accompanied by Mrs. Margaret Speer, also of New York City, will be arriving either Thursday or Friday and they will find numerous courtesies waiting for them.

There is, for instance, a very small dinner on Friday evening complimenting Mrs. Ross. And on Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Arnott Folsom will be a pre-game host and hostess when they entertain at luncheon at the Lincoln Country Club in courtesy to the visitors. The guest list will include a group of Mrs. Ross' old friends.

* * *

Then we learned that Mrs. Ross and Mrs. Speer are to be included among the guests when Judge and Mrs. Hale McCown and Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Olson are hosts and hostesses at a post-game canape party at their penhouse apartments atop Sky Park Manor.

Later on Saturday Mrs. Ross and Mrs. Speer will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ellery Hall Davis at the Monday Night Club dinner dance at Hotel Cornhusker.

On the far side of the weekend Mrs. Ross, a highly successful attorney in New York City, and Mrs. Speer will take off for California — and business. But during her stay in town Mrs. Ross aims to plant a seed — She is hopeful that she may be able to inspire some enthusiasm for a reunion of her Delta Gamma class — next summer.

* * *

The members of a certain birthday club will be out and about today celebrating the anniversary of Mrs. Elsie Grainger Fullerton, whose birthday really was on Oct. 6.

Anyway, the group will be the luncheon guests of Mrs. Ralph Campbell at Hotel Cornhusker.

Sorority Alumnae

New pledges of the collegiate chapter of Pi Beta Phi will be guests Thursday evening when the Lincoln Alumnae will meet for a 7:15 o'clock dessert at the home of Mrs. Clifford Hardin, 41 The Knolls.

Chairman of the hostess committee for the evening will be Mrs. M. E. Whitehead.

BRIDE
at evening wedding

Bouquets of chrysanthemums in autumn tones appointed the altar of the church of St. Mark's-On-The-Campus, Episcopal, on Saturday, Oct. 1, for the marriage of Miss Diana Dawn Barr, daughter of Mrs. Thelma Barr of Nebraska City, and of William J. Barr, New York City, to Dale William Sall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Sall of Holdrege. The service was solemnized at 7 o'clock by the Rev. George Peek.

The attendants, who wore Empire frocks of dark blue velvet and powder blue crepe, were Mrs. Gary Barrett of Nebraska City, as the matron of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Suzanne Hansen, Omaha, Miss Kay Jones, Nebraska City, and Miss Karen Sall, Atlanta.

Serving as best man was Bob Sall of Holdrege, and the ushers were Matt Beha and Duane Queen, Omaha; Gary Sall, Holdreye; Rick Sall, Atlanta; and Raymond Sall, Mullen.

The bride's period gown of white Chantilly lace was embroidered with iridescent sequins. The long-sleeved basque was designed with a scalloped, sabrina neckline, and the width of the skirt was emphasized by a back panel of lace-edged tiers of silk tulle which continued into a cotillion train. She wore an heirloom amethyst lavaliere, and her illusion veil was held by a circlet of jeweled illusion petals.

Mr. and Mrs. Sall will live in Holdrege. The bride is a former student at the University of Nebraska, from which Mr. Sall received his degree in engineering.

FORMER
coed is shower honoree

An autumn visit with Lincoln friends was completed with a pre-nuptial courtesy for Miss Sharon Maule of Princeville, Ill., on Saturday evening. Miss Maule, a former student at the University of Nebraska, will become the bride of Donald Campbell of Lafayette, Ind., on Dec. 28 at Princeville, Ill.

Miss Maule is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Maule of Princeville, Ill. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Campbell of Rensselaer, Ind., Mr. Campbell is doing graduate study at Purdue University in Lafayette, Ind.

NEWS

While Orioles might be the favorite birds of the sports world in Baltimore this week (after their World Series victory) in Lincoln it seems that the stork is society's mascot. News of suburbia today includes the arrival of two of the Stork's most traditional bundles.

EASTBOROUGH

The first of the storks visits to the Merle J. Westerling residence in Eastborough left them tiny Tracey Allen. Tracey, the first of the Westling "nestlings," arrived home with his mother yesterday. Grandparents of the one-week-old baby are Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Kess, and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Westling, all of Lincoln.

The stork also has made new grandparents of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Schamp. The new arrival is Jeffery Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Schamp of Las Vegas, Nev.

Born Sunday, Oct. 9, Jeffery is anxiously awaited at home by his brothers Douglas and Gregory and sister, Susan Marie. Their mother is the former Noralee Dyer of Savanna, Ill.

TRENDWOOD

Visiting her son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. Gary Aksamit, for the past week has been Mrs. Lydia Morton of North Platte.

Planning to stay for a week or 10 days, Mrs. Morton arrived in Lincoln Monday, Oct. 3 for vacation, visiting and perhaps "a bit of babysitting."

KIMBERLY HEIGHTS

Former Lincoln residents Mr. and Mrs. Ray Dinges of Omaha were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Gabelhaus Friday night at the Hillcrest Country Club.

The reunion was prompted by the Dinges' plans to move to Seattle, Wash., as soon as Mr. Dinges has found a home for the family.

BETHANY PARK HEIGHTS

Tommy, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Zimmer, celebrated his birthday last Monday, October 4 with his grandfather, his parents, brother Steven, and sister Linette.

We Hear That

A visitor in Lincoln last week was Mrs. S. George Notaras of Indianapolis, Ind., who arrived Tuesday evening to spend several days as the guest of the collegiate chapter of Alpha Gamma Delta at Nebraska Wesleyan University. Mrs. Notaras serves as president of the sorority's Province X.

REAL ESTATE TIPS

Q. Our home has been rented and needs a lot of fixing to make it look decent. Couldn't we just sell it for less and let the buyer do the work himself?

A. In any condition, your home is worth whatever a buyer will pay for it. However, it will sell much faster if it's in SHARP condition.

ABBY: if your qualifications are up to par—call police

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am 22 and for the past year have been going with a married man of 44. He was nearly separated from his wife when I met him. He's a fine intelligent man, and we love each other very much. His wife is a shrew who has turned their four children against their father. Since she has foeund out about me she has been pestering my family with anonymous telephone calls and gossiping about me.

She has called me, too, and said some horrible things to me, calling me names, etc. She's also sent me hate cards. I know she'll eventually get sick of the way things are and will divorce him so he can marry me. But in the meantime, is there anything I can do to keep her from making my life so miserable?

BORN TO WIN

DEAR BORN: It is the right of every decent, law-abiding, respectable citizen to go about his daily business without fear of being harassed, intimidated or threatened. If you qualify, seek police protection.

DEAR ABBY: A teacher in a public school wanted to make an example of my son because he talked out of turn, so she put a piece of adhesive tape across his mouth. Well, Gilbert wasn't going to walk around school with that tape on his mouth all day, so he tore it off just as he was leaving her class.

And with it he tore off a piece of his lip. The principal had to rush Gilbert to a hospital to have six stitches put in his lip. What I want to know is, can we sue?

MRS. G.G.L.

DEAR MRS. L.: I have an agreement with the bar association. They won't write advice columns and I won't practice law. But they have allowed me to state that no one can prevent anyone else from suing. Whether they can collect or not, is another matter. In the meantime, why not give the teacher a piece of YOUR lip!

CONFIDENTIAL TO "THE FALL GUY" IN AUBURN, N.Y.: Let it go. No man of stature ever demands an apology.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♥	Pass	1 NT	Pass
2 NT	Pass	3 NT

Opening lead — king of spades.

The secret of good play is the ability to figure out how the unseen cards are divided. Once you know the distribution of the missing cards, your task is relatively easy.

If you are a defender, your knowledge of declarer's hand will usually come mostly from his bidding. Generally he will have described his hand to some extent during the bidding, and any additional information you may need to pinpoint his values will ordinarily come from either your partner's plays or from declarer's choice of plays.

For example, suppose you have the East hand and partner leads the king of spades —on which you play the deuce and declarer the six. West continues with the ten, which South wins with the ace.

Right at this point, if you bother to think about the matter, you can predict the outcome of the hand. You should pretty much know declarer's hand, and you should also know that he will eventually go down exactly one.

It is not difficult to pinpoint South's values. He has shown up with nothing in spades but the ace and he is also bound to have the ace of clubs, if the two bids he made are to be believed. There is nothing else left for him to have.

So when declarer leads a diamond at trick three and finesses the jack, you take it with the king and return the king of clubs!

This unusual play sinks declarer without a trace. Regardless of what he does, he winds up with only eight tricks.

But if you had not been paying attention to the bidding, or to the significance of your partner's play of the king of spades followed by the ten, you might not have made the key play of the king of clubs. You might have returned a low club, or some other silly card, and in that case declarer would wind up with a minimum of nine tricks.

PEO Meeting

A meeting for unaffiliated members of PEO in Lincoln will be held Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Roy J. Martin, 3125 W. Summit. The meeting will begin at 7:30 o'clock.

PTA Board

A meeting of the board of Saratoga PTA has been planned for Tuesday afternoon. The 2 o'clock meeting will be held in the teacher's lunchroom of the school.

Pros Finally Get Chance

Monday at Lincoln's Hillcrest Country Club and today at the Lincoln Country Club, Nebraska's golf pros are finally getting to swing a club somewhere other than on the teaching tee.

When they teed off on the first hole at Hillcrest Monday, these 20 to 30 pros had to feel somewhat like the small boy, who had just been allowed out of the house after being quarantined all summer.

He was able to look out the window to the vacant lot across the street and see other youngsters playing baseball. But he couldn't join in.

These golf pros, the club pros, are similar to that little boy. They can occasionally glance out of the pro shop window or look up from the teaching tee and see golfers chasing the little white pellet, but they seldom get to participate themselves—until fall when activity in the shop falls off.

Turn Pro, Quit Playing

How many times have you heard someone say of a top amateur golfer, "Why doesn't he turn pro? He's always on the course."

There's one very good reason why many amateurs choose to remain amateurs rather than turning to a pro career at a golf course—they wouldn't get to play nearly as much golf.

Few people who own a set of golf clubs get to play less golf than a club golf pro.

More Than A Golf Pro

These club pros playing in the Nebraska PGA Tournament are more than golfers—by demand.

He has to be a discerning judge, being able to hear two distorted views of what actually happened from two of his members and be able to render a decision that could decide the $2 nassau.

He has to have the patience of a kindergarten teacher, being able to have a member tell him, "But Jack said I should hold it this way," and still keep his composure while trying to straighten out that member's slice.

He has to be as cool as a pilot with one engine on fire, being able to listen calmly while John tells him the pin placement on No. 11 is lousy and while Matilda blames him for putting a fence up between the fairway and where her drive landed.

At many clubs, he is a janitor one minute, a mechanic fixing an electric cart the next, and a carpenter the next, repairing the bridge across the creek.

Early Beginning, Late Ending

The club pro's day begins somewhere between 5 and 8 a.m., depending on the nature of his members, and ends well after sundown.

He is normally on the scene when the first golfer tees off and is still there after the last golfer has run in his final putt.

While the members are at the 19th hole improving their lies, the club pro is in the pro shop figuring out who won the blind bogey, who was closest to the flag with his eighth shot on the 16th hole and who gets the booby prize for having hit the most balls into the lake at No. 12.

The club pro must be all of these things, sometimes going for several days without being on his own golf course, and still be able to go out and shoot par golf to keep his respect with club members.

If he goes away to a tournament such as the one being conducted now in Lincoln and comes back with a pair of 77s, he's sure to hear from members, who shot the same course in 73 several weeks ago.

The only differences, which the pro dare not mention, are that the member has been playing every day since the snow melted, the tee markers were in the middle and the pin placements were in easy positions.

A club golf pro is a golfer only a few days out of the year. Monday and today are two of them.

Wisconsin 'Rabbit Trick' Good Entertainment

. . . DEVANEY CREDITS HUSKER DEFENSIVE UNIT

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Wisconsin received two pats on the back from Nebraska football coach Bob Devaney at Monday's Extra Point Club Quarterback Luncheon — one for its choice of pre-game entertainment and another for its football team.

"That rabbit trick of theirs was far superior to Iowa State's bomb," Devaney said, referring to the bomb that exploded on the field at Ames, Iowa, a week ago and to the rabbit that cavorted on the Wisconsin gridiron through much of the first half Saturday.

"If we're going to have that type of entertainment each week, I'd have to say, Wisconsin's rabbit trick was in much better taste than that bomb," the Husker coach continued. "That rabbit gained quite a bit of ground in the first half."

Devaney also jokingly blamed the rabbit for Wisconsin's lone score — a field goal.

"Our defensive players are very tender hearted," he explained, "And they were looking out for that rabbit so they wouldn't step on him."

The Wisconsin rabbit was the second time this season the Huskers have encountered relatives of Bugs Bunny.

Earlier this fall in a practice session, a group of baby rabbits were discovered on the practice field and the Huskers shifted their drills to avoid hurting the animals.

Devaney also credited Wisconsin with "the best all - around running and passing game we have faced this year."

Explaining that his Huskers had played their best game of the year in whipping Wisconsin, 31-3, Saturday. Devaney also gave them credit for doing it against a sound football team.

"You couldn't say that we beat them, 31-3, because they were a bad football team," Devaney pointed out. "They (Wisconsin) were good enough to beat Iowa at home and they played unbeaten Southern California good until the final quarter.

"When you hit a player like Langston Coleman hit John Ryan," Devaney explained, "You're going to cause them to fumble. And our pass interceptions were a result of our linebackers and defensive backs being in position.

"Once again, we were able to prevent the home run both on the ground and in the air. And our offense carried its share of the load.

"This was our best overall game. Our defense played as well as it has all year and the offense was better. Our offense was able to control the ball which helped the defense."

Defensively, Devaney credited Jim McCord with playing his best game of the season and indicated Barry Alvarez would see more action in future games.

Alvarez, a linebacker, was in on eight tackles and intercepted a pass in his brief appearance against the Badgers although in running back the interception, he looked like a man trying to carry a large banner against a high wind.

"Offensively our line with the exception of one man was definitely improved," Devaney said. "Gary Brichacek was as good or better than at any other time."

Richnafsky Out With Ankle Injury

Nebraska will be playing its next three to four games without two of its early season starters with split end Dennis Richnafsky joining halfback Ron Kirkland on the injury shelf.

Richnafsky, the Huskers' leading pass receiver with 12 catches for 121 yards, suffered a hairline fracture of the ankle in Saturday's win over Wisconsin.

NU trainer Paul Schneider said Richnafsky's foot will be in a cast for two weeks and another week will be required for rehabilitation.

"It is a painful type of injury but it is not as bad as a serious sprain," Schneider said Monday. "Once a hairline fracture heals, it heals well and there are no injured ligaments to contend with."

Husker coach Bob Devaney also revealed Monday that Kirkland's knee would remain in a cast for two more weeks and he likely would not be ready for three weeks.

This would mean both Kirkland and Richnafsky will be out for the Kansas State, Colorado and Missouri games.

Devaney said Tom Penney, a sophomore from Augusta, Kan., would replace Richnafsky at split end on the top Husker unit. Penney has caught five passes for 77 yards this season.

Lincoln Swim Club Sets Tryout Date

The Lincoln Swim Club will conduct tryouts next Monday at Lincoln High.

Boys and girls 11 and under will try out at 7 p.m. with those 12 and over trying out at 8 p.m.

BAUER HONORED BY AP

. . . AS MANAGER OF YEAR

New York (AP) — Hank Bauer, the former Marine who led the Baltimore Orioles to their first American League pennant and World Series victory, was named the circuit's Manager of the Year for 1966 Monday in the annual Associated Press poll.

Bauer was an overwhelming choice in the balloting by 380 baseball writers. He received 321 votes. Al Dark of Kansas City was second with 53 votes.

The Orioles led virtually throughout the season, clinching the pennant 10 days before the end of the campaign and finishing with a record of 97 victories and 63 defeats. They wound up nine games ahead of the second-place Minnesota Twins.

Hampered by the sore arms of several of his starting pitchers, Bauer made effective use of his strong bullpen that included Stu Miller, Moe Drabowsky, Eddie Watt, Ed Fisher and Dick Hall.

The former New York Yankee outfielder made a key personnel move before the season's opening, placing rookie Dave Johnson at second base. Jerry Adair, who had played that position for Baltimore in 1965, was later traded to the Chicago White Sox for Fisher.

Johnson turned out to be one of the club's most valuable members along with outfielder Frank Robinson, who won the triple crown, third baseman Brooks Robinson and rookie catcher Andy Etchebarren.

Bauer is 44 years old and a native of East St. Louis, Ill. He took over as Baltimore manager before the start of the 1964 season and the club finished third the next two years.

Dark, who managed San Francisco for four years, directed Kansas City to a surprising seventh place finish. The A's won 74 games and lost 86, placing ahead of Washington, Boston and New York.

Others who received votes were Gil Hodges of the Senators, 3, and Bill Rigney of California and the late Chuck Dressen and Frank Skaff of Detroit, one-each.

Skaff was the Tigers' interim manager after illness struck Dressen and Bob Swift. Dressen died of a heart attack two months ago.

Backlund Leads State PGA Tourney With 72

. . . PLAYS 'SCRAMBLING' GAME

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Merle Backlund, playing what he called, "the best scrambling round of my life," took the lead Monday in the Nebraska PGA Championship with a 72 over the Hillcrest Country Club course.

Backlund, pro at Grand Island's Riverside Golf Club, thus will enjoy a two-stroke edge over Lincoln Holmes Park pro John Young as the action shifts to the Lincoln Country Club for the final 18 holes today.

Defending champion Bud Williamson of the Lincoln Country Club and John Frillman of Omaha's Happy Hollow Country Club are four strokes back at 76 and Carl Faddis of Sidney, along with Bob Popp of the Omaha Country Club are at 77.

"Scrambling," was Backlund's reply to a query regarding a strong point in his game Monday. "It was the best scrambling I've ever done. I was just chipping and putting good.

"If I had been playing Firestone today, I'd have had a 90," he continued, referring to the Firestone Country Club in Akron, Ohio, where he and Williamson played as Nebraska's representatives in the National PGA Tournament the past summer.

Typical of Backlund's round was the opening hole, a 476-yard, par-5 which he birdied despite duck hooking his tee shot near the driving range, then hitting a second shot far to the right across the fairway and nearly out of bounds before chipping close to the pin and sinking the putt for a four.

"I missed seven greens so that means I was seven under-par with putts," Backlund said in discussing the round.

His major problem was duck hooking his drives and after the fifth hole, he used a three-wood off the tee until he came to the par-5 18th where he grabbed the driver again and again duck hooked the tee shot.

Playing up the left rough, Backlund found himself faced with a delicate shot to the green to reach it in regulation. His approach was two feet from the hole for the birdie putt, giving him 72 and the lead.

Going to the tight, tree-lined Lincoln Country Club with a duck hook could be trouble for the Grand Island pro and former Lincoln High athlete. So what do you do?

"I'll use irons or maybe a 4-wood on those first four holes at least," Backlund replies.

Young, who trails by only two, could have been even closer had he not three-putted the 18th green for a bogey moments after Backlund had gotten his birdie to account for the two strokes difference.

Williamson, who had made the nine-hole turn in 36, one stroke ahead of Backlund, blew his chance for a share of the lead when he three-putted three straight greens on the back side, starting at No. 11 for three straight bogeys.

Frillman stayed in contention by getting an eagle-3 on the 544-yard 11th hole when he hit a drive and a 3-wood 10 feet from the hole and sank the putt.

—AURORA FACES TOUGH TEST—

Aurora, West Point Still Lead In B, C

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

Aurora and West Point, teams which have had little trouble producing touchdowns, continue to lead the Class B and C divisions of the Nebraska Prep Ratings.

Class B pacesetter Aurora pushed its scoring pace to 56.8 points a game as it stormed past outmanned Fullerton, 71-0, last week.

The Huskies, whose toughest test to date was a 20-7 triumph over seventh-ranked Cozad in the season opener, face their second major hurdle this week as they entertain sixth-rated York.

The improving Dukes, the 1965 ratings champion, have marched past three foes since losing to fifth-ranked David City in an error-filled opening game.

The lineup behind Aurora is shuffled this week with Blair taking over the No. 2 spot following a 27-20 win over previously unbeaten Ralston.

New in the No. 3 position is Holdrege, which handed Cozad a 14-7 whipping last week. Jess Keifer's Dusters settled for a 6-6 draw with Class A McCook in their opening game and were beaten 19-7 by Kearney, unbeaten and sixth-ranked in Class A.

York and Cozad are followed by Papillion, Seward and Lexington in the second division.

Papillion gets a chance to prove itself this week as it tangles with Blair with the North Division Ak-Sar-Ben Conference playoff ticket at stake.

There is little change behind West Point in the Class C race. The games of note last week saw Class B Scribner hand Wisner its first loss and Newman Grove defeat Humphrey St. Francis in a battle of unbeatens.

Rushville and Grant, the western powers, continue to run 2-3 behind West Point with Newman Grove using its 18-0 whitewashing of Humphrey St. Francis to climb to No. 4.

Hooper hangs on to the No. 5 berth after a surprisingly close 27-20 win over Clarkson. Wisner tumbles to No. 6 after a 26-7 loss to Scribner.

North Platte St. Patrick, 12-7 winner over Class B Valentine, continues in the No. 7 spot with Republican Valley leader Oxford retaining the No. 8 position.

Falls City Sacred Heart, narrow 12-7 winner over Wymore, moves to No. 9 and Norfolk Catholic, a high-scoring outfit, enters the list as the No. 10 team.

Baltimore Celebration Is Wild

Baltimore (AP) — Staid old Baltimore slowly returned to normal Monday following a rousing celebration in honor of the city's first baseball World Series championship.

The Orioles, who had a difficult time convincing local fans they were even American League pennant contenders, took the top prize by completing an amazing four-game sweep over the Los Angeles Dodgers Sunday.

Soon after center fielder Paul Blair caught a fly ball for the last out, the celebrating began. It lasted well into Monday morning.

Thousands of persons swarmed through the downtown area. Torn paper was thrown from hotel windows. Cars roamed the streets in various sections of the city, with horns sounding and passengers waving pennants from the windows.

Even the City Hall clock became involved. It was rung 66 times in honor of the year the Orioles won the Series.

The Orioles threatened to make a runaway of the American League race until injuries slowed down their torrid pace. Still, Baltimore won by a comfortable nine-game margin.

The World Series opened with Baltimore an 8-5 underdog and closed with the Dodgers humiliated. The National Leaguers scored only two runs on 17 hits—both all-time Series lows—and were shut out for a record 33 consecutive innings.

While most observers thought the Dodgers would be too much for the Orioles to handle, out-fielder Frank Robinson of Baltimore thought Los Angeles would be the easiest of the National League contenders to beat.

"Everybody thought I was crazy when I picked the Dodgers over San Francisco and Pittsburgh," Robinson said Monday. "Now, I don't look so crazy.

"People kept saying I should know better," Robinson said. "They said Los Angeles would beat us with pitching and speed."

It was Robinson's theory that the Orioles would be involved in close games with the Dodgers, and one swing could decide the outcome.

Baltimore won the last two games 1-0, in just such a manner. Paul Blair's homer won the third game and Robinson clinched the title with a solo homer Sunday.

"This has been an amazing year all the way around, from beginning to end," Robinson said. "It's all been like a dream."

Robinson sparked the Orioles from the start. In his first time at bat, after being obtained in a trade with Cincinnati, the 31-year-old outfielder doubled in a spring training intrasquad game.

He homered in each of his first two games of the regular season to get the Orioles winging, and his two-run homer in the first inning of the opening World Series game took the pressure off the Orioles.

Robinson won the American League Triple Crown during the 1966 season and a new car as the outstanding player in the World Series. He seems a cinch to be named the league's Most Valuable Player.

Robinson, who was paid about $65,000 this year, was asked Sunday if he would be embarrassed to seek a six-figure salary next season.

"Embarrassed?" he said. "That's where we'll start.

"I was only joking," Robinson said Monday. 'I really haven't thought too much about next year's salary yet."

Sooner QB Unanimous Back Of The Week

By Associated Press

Oklahoma quarterback Bob Warmack, who befuddled Texas with his passing, running and faking and gained a school record of 280 yards total offense, is the Big Eight Back of the Week by a unanimous vote.

He was the key men in an 18-9 Oklahoma victory, first by OU over Texas since 1957. Warmack, a slim and talented sophomore, was 10 years old the last time the Sooners beat Texas. He is 19 and from Ada, Okla.

Warmack completed 12 of 21 passes without an interception for 220 yards, ran for a net gain of 60 yards despite 29 yards in losses trying to pass, scored one touchdown and set up four field goals by OU rookie Mike Vachon, a conference one-game record.

"That little quarterback really hurt us with his faking and running," said Texas linebacker Joel Brame, a standout defender who made 15 tackles. "He really took us apart."

On one play Warmack faked a pass, Brame and two Texas linemen jumped, arms in the air, and Warmack scooted around them for a nice gain.

"Boy, did he make us look like a bunch of fools on that one," Brame said.

Warmack's faking to Ron Shotts on the OU touchdown drive was something to see. On one play, Texas tackled Warmack and Shotts went 22 yards. Then Texas tackled Shotts and Warmack kept the ball on his hip and circled end for the TD from the one-yard line.

On the first play of the second half, Oklahoma had the ball on its own 20, going into the wind. At the line, Warmack noticed Texas was in a blitz pattern and the safety had moved to cover Eddie Hinton, so he called a new play and threw a swing pass the other way to Ben Hart for 30 yards. OU went on to another field goal for a 12-3 lead.

Warmack's school total offense mark is noteworthy since Oklahoma has had several great backs over the years. He is 6-foot-2, 162 pounds, has been playing quarterback since age 7 and has never been hurt.

Other nominees were William Harris of Colorado with 109 yards rushing in 21 carries; Cornelius Davis of Kansas State 91 yards on 20 trips and two passes caught for 49; Harry Cheatwood of Oklahoma State, 11 tackles and two interceptions, last one at the OSU 22 spoiling Colorado's final bid; Harry Wilson of Nebraska, down to 198 pounds now, gained 86 including an 11-yard TD and caught a 25-yard pass; Larry Carwell of Iowa State, two pass interceptions for a Big Eight record of 123 yards, one a 75-yarder setting up the first TD; Ray Thorpe of Missouri, 93 yards rushing including a 67-yard sweep for the first TD; and defensive back Bill Hunt of Kansas with 14 tackles and a 32-yard interception.

Alworth's 28 Grabs Lead AFL

New York (AP) — Lance Alworth's 10 pass receptions in San Diego's losing cause against New York Saturday gave him the lead among American Football League pass receivers.

Alsworth now has a total of 28 catches good for 461 yards, an average of 16.5 yards per reception and four touchdowns. Alworth gained 149 yards on passes against the Jets, but New York won 17-16.

Jim Nance of Boston retained his rushing leadership with 437 yards gained in 100 carries for a 4.37 average and four touchdowns. Wray Carlton of Buffalo, is second with 337 yards in 81 carries for a 4.16 average.

K-State Loses Corr; Nossek Still Uncertain

Manhattan, Kan. (AP)— Kansas State's football team has lost offensive guard Tom Corr for the season, coach Doug Weaver said Monday.

Corr, who has started at times this season, suffered a shoulder separation in Saturday's game against Missouri.

Weaver said Corr was the only Wildcat to be injured in the loss to the Tigers.

Quarterback Bill Nossek may play this week against Nebraska, according to Weaver.

"We plan to have him run on Tuesday. On Wednesday, we'll look at him and say yes or no," Weaver said. "If he makes the trip to Nebraska, he will play."

Peru Is Next Challenge For Undefeated Wayne

. . . CLASH TOP NCC GAME

By TOM HENDERSON
Star Sports Writer

Wayne College, fresh from a 10-6 victory over Kearney last week, won't get any rest again this Saturday as the Wildcats host Peru in their second important test in the Nebraska College Conference in as many weeks.

Wayne, Kearney and Peru tied for the NCC title last season and things have been nip-and-tuck between the three schools again in 1966.

But Wayne managed to take a slight advantage last weekend, breaking a tie with the Antelopes for the lead.

Now, hoever, the Wildcats must stave off the Peru Bobcats who want to tighten things up again.

Kearney's loss placed the Antelopes in a tie for second place with Peru, both with 1-1 league records.

A Peru victory over Wayne, 2-0 in league play, would deadlock the NCC again.

Kearney, however, would drop to third, still with a 1-1 mark. The Antelopes take on Dakota Wesleyan in a non-loop contest.

A Wayne victory would take the heat off, placing the Wildcats in excellent position to run away with the title

"Peru always plays good football," commented Wayne coach John Jermier. "We will have to work hard to get the boys ready for this one. We can't let down after our win over Kearney."

Posting a 14-0 decision over Dana, Midland got its touchdowns in the second period.

A capacity Midland homecoming crowd saw the touchdowns come on a two-yard plunge by Bruce Green and a 25-yard pass play, Ed Oeltjen to Del Blair.

Bob Nix' kicking toe provided the margin in Sioux Falls' 14-13 victory over Concordia at Seward. He got the extra points in the first and fourth quarters following touchdowns by Hose Dalton, who took a 16-yard pass from Larry Skogerboe, and Sam Robinson, who went over from the one.

Barry Raga ran one yard for Concordia's first touchdown in the second period. The home team scored again in the third when Dennis Hartner returned an intercepted pass 22 yards.

Doane won its first game in 15 years against Hastings, 16-7. The home team scored 13 points in the first quarter for the margin. Larry Green tossed to Jim Welti for five yards and Roger Booth ran one yard for the tallies.

Doane got a 30-yard field goal by Fred Hayeks in the fourth.

Perry Peterson passed 49 yards to Jack Hockersmith for the Hastings touchdown in the second period.

At Peoria, Ill., Bradley captured seven University of Omaha fumbles en route to a 14-6 victory. Omaha got the first TD on a three-yard run by Bill Dodd in the opening period.

A recovered bad center in the end zone and a short run gave Bradley second and fourth-period scores.

Hiram Scott traveled to Denison, Iowa, and downed Midwestern 25-21. Ron Riggins counted twice for the Scottsbluff team, once on a four-yard run and again on a 70-yard pass interception.

Norfolk Junior College dropped its fourth straight game. The score was 27-13 for Estherville, Iowa, JC.

Polls Rate Nebraska Sixth

Compiled from News Wires

Nebraska moved back into sixth place in both the Associated Press and United Press International major college football polls this week after its impressive 31-3 victory over the Big Ten's Wisconsin.

Both polls rated the Huskers sixth two weeks ago, but an unimpressive 12-6 win over Iowa State dropped them to seventh in the UPI ratings and eighth in the AP balloting.

Both polls agree on the first nine positions with Michigan State leading both ratings.

The only discrepency is in 10th place where Baylor, a 7-0 victor over Arkansas, is given that spot by the UPI and another Big Eight school, Oklahoma, gets the nod from the AP.

Oklahoma stopped Texas, 18-9, last Saturday.

Notre Dame climbed to second in both polls, replacing UCLA which dropped to fourth after a close decision over unrated Rice.

Alabama, the national champion for the last two seasons is currently third.

Missouri Loses Russ Washington For 3-4 Weeks

Columbia, Mo. (AP) — Russell Washington, Missouri's giant defensive right end who suffered a knee injury in Saturday's victory over Kansas State, will be lost to the team for three to four weeks, coach Dan Devine said Monday. The injured knee has been placed in a cast.

Earl Denny, offensive right halfback who missed the trip to Kansas State because of a back ailment, has not been cleared for practice by the team physician and remains questionable for Saturday's game with Oklahoma State here.

Seven other players were held out of Monday's practice for injuries but Devine expects all of them to be ready for full duty against Oklahoma State.

Mitchell Eyes Soccer Kicker

Homecoming Contest With K-State A Sellout

Nebraska's Homecoming Day clash Saturday against Kansas State at Memorial Stadium was declared a sellout Monday by NU ticket manager Jim Pittenger.

Pittenger said the 3,000 tickets that had been put on sale last week for the game were now exhausted.

Dallas' Neely Faces Switch To Houston

Dallas (AP) —Ralph Neely, the former Oklahoma star who is rated by coach Tom Landry of the Dallas Cowboys as the finest offensive tackle in the National Football League, heard Monday that he may not be with Dallas long.

Neely signed contracts with both the Houston Oilers of the American Football League and Dallas. The U.S. Circuit Court at Denver held that the contract with Houston was enforceable, thus he would have to play with Houston if he continued in pro football although he now is in his second season with Dallas.

The Supreme Court in Washington denied a review of the decision Monday, therefore deciding that the contract with Houston was valid.

Johnson Number One O-State Signal-Caller

Stillwater, Okla. (AP) —Oklahoma State heard a scouting report on Missouri, then went through a light workout Monday.

Cowboy coach Phil Cutchin announced that Ronnie Johnson had secured the No. 1 quarterback spot for the Cowboys, which came as a surprise to no one, since it was Johnson who took Oklahoma State on a last-ditch drive that beat Colorado 11-10.

Sheppard Hearing Rules Are Strict

Cleveland, Ohio (AP)—A judge assigned 13 seats to newsmen — none to out-of-town media—and laid down strict rules Monday for coverage of a hearing opening Wednesday on a motion to move Samuel H. Sheppard's second murder trial out of Cleveland.

Judge Francis J. Talty's four-page journal entry was distributed to newsmen who signed receipts for press credentials. The entry specified and the judge said the rules were to regulate and govern conduct of the change of venue motion hearing Wednesday.

The judge said nothing about application of the regulations to the trial, scheduled to begin Oct. 18 in his small Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court.

The 13 seats assigned by Judge Talty went to organizations involved in the day-to-day coverage of news of Cleveland courts: the Associated Press, the United Press International, the two daily newspapers, five radio stations and three television stations.

One of the 13 seats was allocated to the afternoon Cleveland Press during the morning and to the morning Plain Dealer for the afternoon session. Each also had one seat for all day.

The rules Talty laid down prohibited:

—Use of cameras, recording devices, or registering devices "within the courthouse premises by any person before or during any hearing session or at any recess or adjournment."

—The making of sketches in the courthouse.

—Installation of any telephone or teleprinter equipment not in operation on or before Sept. 30, when the building had only its normal facilities.

—Any blocking of corridors or other access ways used in regular courthouse businesss.

Talty's journal entry said it was "appropriate, indeed imperative, that the court enter an order which will assure an environment of calmness and solemnity and be protective of the rights of the parties, public, witnesses, officials and news and communications media."

The U.S. Supreme Court held last June 6 that Sheppard was depriced of a fair trial by prejudicial news accounts and courtroom commotion when he was convicted 12 years ago.

Claim Against Beatrice Nixed By City Council

Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Beatrice — A $15,050 claim against the city resulting from a Sept. 4 police cruiser collision was rejected unanimously by the City Council.

Rodney D. Blaker asked the amount, alleging permanent back injuries. Officer Jerry K. Williams had been driving when the accident occured.

The council refused the claim with little discussion upon the advice of city attorney Arnold Wullschleger. He noted that any litigation would be defended by the city's insurance company.

Other action of the largely routine meeting:

—asked board of public works to consider paving of two off-street parking lots.

—appointed committee to study revising of occupation taxes as proposed by chamber of commerce, especially pertaining to itinerant salesmen.

GOV. MORRISON WELCOMES AID RECRUITERS

Omaha (AP) — Gov. Frank Morrison Monday welcomed recruiters for the Agency for International Development to Nebraska Monday night.

"I know that all Americans want the war in Viet Nam to end as soon as possible and if we are going to end the war in Viet Nam as soon as possible it is necessary that we help the Vietnamese people create a stable, progressive society of their own," the governor said, adding:

"The AID program, in which these young men are engaged, is not a give away program. It is an attempt by the American people to furnish technical assistance to the Vietnamese people to help themselves build a stable society and stable government, for without this all of the sacrifices made by our soldiers is made in vain.

"This is an important program of the American people working through their government to help bring the war in Viet Nam to a speedy conclusion and in the words of former President Eisenhower "create a stable government in Southeast Asia and in South Viet Nam in particular."

City May Get Engineer To Eye Sewer Trouble

The City Council Monday said it might employ a consulting engineer to investigaet and recommend a remedy for sanitary sewer troubles in the Hoppe Heights residential addition.

The cost of outside help would first have to be determined, the council intimated.

Action stemmed from two claims against the city submitted by property owners in the area—Melvin A. Bice of 4001 Gertie Ave. and David Higgins of 4101 Gertie Ave.—who alleged property damage resulting from a sanitary sewer backup following heavy rains on June 2, 1965 and on subsequent occasions.

The city legal department has recommended that the claims be denied. Action on both was withheld until the situation is investigated.

Higgins and Bice said that all incidents which occurred in the Gertie Ave. neighborhood during the same time period were examples of sanitary sewer backup and not caused by rainwater entering basements from other sources and then flooding the sewer lines.

Both claimed that sewage and water from the line filled their basements from 12 to 27 inches after the rains and contaminated and ruined furniture, appliances anf other property.

Lee Blocker, acting director of public utilities, said his department has been unable to determine how the overcharge of water entered the sanitary sewer line. "We don't know what the problem is," he added.

In other action, the council continued to debate the implementation of its sidewalk construction policy adopted in August last year.

The latest conflict involves a resolution ordering in sidewalks on both sides of So. 27th, between Calvert and Van Dorn.

Calling the order unnecessary because of a lack of pedestrian traffic on the street, attorney Art Whitworth presented a petition with the names of 26 of 29 property owners in the area in question who opposed new sidewalk construction.

The residents were asked to come up with a compromise solution providing for sidewalks on one side of 27th and an agreement on financing the project, and the council said it would tour the arterial next Monday.

The council approved Mayor Dean Petersen's appointment of the first two new members of the city Park and Recreation Advisory Board who are under the 21-year-old voting age.

Named to one-year terms on the board were Ron Pfiefer, 20, of 1301 J, a student at the Univeristy of Nebraska and formerly at Southeast High School, and Terry Mazurak, 18, of 1001 Eldon Drive, a senior at Lincoln High.

Council Meeting May Move Out Of City Hall

Mayor Dean Petersen said Monday he favors moving City Council meetings and the council's new secretary out of City Hall until the City-County Building is completed.

A lack of space currently with the expectation of hiring additional administrative staff in the mayor's office led him to his opinion, the mayor said.

The council said it would meet informally for lunch next Monday to look over Pershing Municipal Auditorium as a site for public meetings and as office space for secretary to the council Mrs. Marcia Baldwin, who started work this week.

The mayor said that City Hall space, now at a premium, would become even more limited with the future addition of an administrative assistant and an economic development coordinator, as well as Mrs. Baldwin.

Money for all three positions has been budgeted for this fiscal year.

An obvious advantage in holding regular meetings in the cramped council chamber, aside from custom, is that the council has direct access to needed information during debate from administrative departments within the same building.

Asked if a move might not work to a disadvantage for the council and the public, Mayor Petersen said, "there might be some inconvenience, but not too bad . . . if anyone wants anything, it can be brought over".

Council members were not noticeably for or against the proposal, but took a wait-and-see attitude.

Legally, a move to the auditorium would fulfill City Charter provisions, since Pershing is a city building.

Most officials have guessed that the new city - county structure will be finished in two years.

Slow Traffic On O Street Under Fire

City Councilman Ervin Peterson Monday asked that city departments work on a method to speed up traffic movement on O St.

"It's time we conduct a study on the means we can get further use out of O, as well as the southeast radial and other arterials—driving two-a-breast at a low rate of speed is not allowing motorists to get the proper use out of O, especially when other main streets are being worked on," Peterson said.

He suggested either raising the maximum speed limit to 45 miles per hour, setting a minimum speed limit or issuing tickets for "obstructing traffic".

Peterson also called for more "clear time" at traffic signals for O St. traffic.

Councilman John Mason proposed that O St. traffic capacity could be increased east of 17th by cutting back existing wide sidewalks, thus creating a permanent parking lane and additional traffic lanes on each side.

'INEZ' DIDN'T COME

Little Silveiro Aquerro drops his bottle outside taped-up doors of his home in Brownsville, Tex., Monday after waiting out Hurricane Inez. She didn't come. Erratic to the end, Inez veered away from Texas and laced into the northeast coast of Mexico. She damaged at least six villages. The rugged brush country north of Tampico took the steam out of the storm's vicious winds. Inez killed more than 300 persons in her wild swing through the Caribbean.

76% Of State, Local Taxes On Property

. . . UNIVERSITY STUDY SHOWS

Property taxes in Nebraska accounted for $246,851,000 or more than 76% of the $322,391,000 in total state and local tax collections in 1965.

These figures, based on tax data not previously compiled, were reported in Business in Nebraska, a publication of the University of Nebraska Bureau of Business Research.

Intangible taxes which totaled $8,382,180 constituted only 3.5% of all property taxes and about 2.6% of the total bill for state and local taxes.

In relating taxes to personal income, from which all state and local taxes ultimately must be paid, the analysis showed that the cost was roughly $85 per $1,000 of personal income.

The study was conducted by Dr. Edward B. Schmidt, tax specialist in the University's department of economics, who considers a cost figure related to income to be more significant than an average since some families paid much less and some much more than the average.

He found that on an average basis, however, state and local taxes came to approximately $220 for each man, woman and child in the state, or $880 for a family of two parents and two children.

Taxes on property accounted for almost 93% of the $266,098,000 unrestricted taxes which may be spent at the discretion of the legislative groups that authorized their collection. Of total tax collections, unrestricted taxes constituted 82.5%. The rest were restricted taxes, more commonly referred to as "earmarked."

Of the restricted taxes, gasoline and motor vehicle taxes, which are considered highway user taxes, totaled $55,150,000 or 98%. City poll and severence taxes made up the remainder of the $56,293,000 total in this category.

Dr. Schmidt's study represents an attempt to supply reasonably comprehensive and accurate data for the year ended June 30, 1965. Information concerning the amounts of tax revenue derived from the various taxes in the state is in short supply because no single agency is charged by law with the responsibility for collecting and reporting data.

Tunender Pleads Guilty Of Motor Vehicle Homicide

O'Neill (AP)—Francis J. Tunender, 27, of Emmet, pleaded guilty Monday to a charge of motor vehicle homicide and District Judge William C. Smith deferred sentencing until Oct. 24.

Tunender was charged in connection with the death of Mrs. Martha Wills, an elderly Emmet woman. She was struck by a car while returning from church March 16 and died the following day in a hospital.

Judge Smith said an investigation would precede sentencing.

Rural Power Districts To Pursue Goals If They Aren't Met Voluntarily

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Rural public power districts Monday announced that they will attempt to accomplish five major goals of the 1965 power consolidation act through further legislation if they are not pursued in the recently-announced voluntary power realignment.

Notwithstanding the announcement, rural districts said they will proceed with their legislative program.

What they will actually seek from the 1967 Legislature will depend upon what is finally agreed upon by the three major districts which are negotiating a realignment plan.

Consumers Public Power District, Loup River Public Power District and Platte Valley Public Power and Irrigation District announced last week that they have agreed, in principle, to a joint proposal.

Under the plan, Consumers would replace Loup as Platte's partner in the Nebraska Public Power System.

Loup would acquire and operate the retail electric facilities of Consumers in a new four-county district comprised of Platte, Boone, Nance and Colfax Counties.

The joint legislative committee of the Nebraska Rural Electric Assn., and the Nebraska Electric Generation and Transmission Cooperative met in Lincoln Monday to consider the realignment plan.

Dil Blatchford of Columbus and Paul Ogier of Wallace, committee co-chairmen, said rural districts continue to seek assurance that five major objectives of the 1965 power merger act will be met. Included are:

—The realignment will continue to work toward the goal of a single, representative wholesale generation and transmission agency to serve outstate Nebraska.

—Wheeling will be made available to all power agencies regardless of the source of power.

—The wholesale supplier will recognize present contractual agreements, including the right of the rural districts to contract collectively.

—The wholesale supplier will assume utility responsibility to provide power supply at the least overall cost and provide for delivery point facilities.

If only part of these objectives are met by the realignment agreement, Ogier said, "we may introduce legislation in the 1967 session to see that the rest is accomplished."

Rural districts have not established any deadline for the realization of all five goals, Blatchford and Ogier said, nor do they all necessarily have to be accomplished in full by the conclusion of the 1967 session.

"We certainly don't want to throw cold water on the negotiations," Blatchford noted. "We don't want to do anything to discourage continued negotiations to get this thing settled."

But, he noted, "we've got to see progress made" toward accomplishing all five objectives.

Rural districts were strong supporters of the 1965 consolidation act which later was ruled unconstitutional by the State Supreme Court.

First Satellite Collision Reported To Scientists

Madrid (UPI) — Two unmanned U.S. satellites accidentally collided in space at speeds of five miles per second but withstood the crash and are still in orbit, it was disclosed Monday.

Dr. Hilliard W. Paige, a vice president of the General Electric Co., told the 17th International Astronautical Congress of the first known crash of two satellites. It occurred in April 1965, he said.

"After they collided," Paige said, "both satellites quickly stabilized. Today, after 18 months, both are still stabilized in orbit."

Scientists among the 1,200 delegates from 30 countries attending the Madrid meeting said it would be almost impossible to put two satellites on the same orbit so they would collide.

Leroy E. Day, director of the U.S. Apollo test program and former deputy director of the Gemini project, said progress in space since the first Soviet Sputnik was launched nine years ago "has far exceeded the most optimistic predictions."

Soviet scientists declined to answer queries as to why the Russians have not put a manned spacecraft into orbit for 19 months. But they denied reports the Soviets were building a rocket capable of putting a 165-ton spaceship into orbit.

Federal Highway Funds Meted Out

Washington (AP) — The Commerce Department apportioned among the states Monday the $4.4 billion in federal highway funds approved by Congress more than a month ago for the next fiscal year which ends June 30, 1968.

An apportionment merely puts the states on notice of the amount of federal aid to which they are entitled in any specific year. The apportionment for the current fiscal year was $4 billion.

The total for Nebraska was $34,143,170, including $19,133,194 for the interstate system and $15,009,976 for primary, feeder and urban highways.

Ex-Justice, Wife Seeking $25,000 Insurance Claim

Former Nebraska Supreme Court Chief Justice Robert G. Simmons and his wife, Gladyce, filed a suit in Lancaster District Court Monday seeking a $25,000 claim from the Continental Casualty Co.

The plaintiffs allege that the defendants issued to them in 1961 a policy of group insurance with the American Judicature Society of Chicago, Ill., which included a clause for $25,000 coverage on permanent disability.

Simmons alleges that on May 10, 1964, Mrs. Simmons was totally and permanently disabled as a result of injuries received in an accident and that the total disability still exists.

The plaintiffs contend that all information concerning the claim was furnished Continental Casualty but that on Aug. 17, 1965, the defendants "disclaimed any liability or responsibility on account of permanent and total disability" of Mrs. Simmons.

The suit states that Simmons has made demands upon the defendant but the defendant has failed and refused payment.

The Simmons' ask $25,000 plus interest from May 10, 1965.

Wells Attacks Treasurer As 'Not Serving'

The present county treasurer is not serving the taxpayers by refusing to send out county real estate tax notices, according to Willard J. Wells, Democratic candidate for county treasurer.

Wells said, "It is unreasonable to make taxpayers inquire at the treasurer's office to find out their real estate tax bill. The county should automatically send out real estate tax notices to citizens. The city has been sending out notices for 28 years."

"In this respect and in many others, the county treasurer's office is years behind times."

Wells, 61, is running against Carl Berg, the present county treasurer. Berg, 75, has been in the treasurer's office for 40 years.

"It is true that the law doesn't require that real estate tax notices be sent out. The main characteristic of Berg's administration is that he has done no more to serve the public than he has to," Wells said.

Registration Not Altered By Street Renaming Plans

Residents of Lincoln areas where street names and numbers are in the process of being changed by the City Council don't have to re-register to vote Nov. 8 Miss Betty Jeanne Holcomb, county election commissioner, reported Monday.

She said that persons living at the same place of residence as when they last registered will be carried in the election record books at that address regardless of any pending changes in street designation.

The election commission has received many calls regarding the address changes in West Lincoln which are scheduled for December, she said.

Miss Holcomb said the election commission would change the registration records after the election to bring them up to date with the street designation changes.

Opposition To Liquor Organized

Fred F. Patzel, 362 Lyncrest Dr., was named chairman of the newly formed steering committee to oppose the liquor by the drink proposal — Lincoln Citizens Against Liquor by the Drink.

Overseeing and co-ordinating the efforts of groups and individuals who oppose liquor by the drink is the purpose of the organization, according to its secretary, the Rev. Richard C. Gage.

At its meeting at Bethel Baptist Church, the group based its opposition on the arguments that liquor by the drink:

—means an increasing highway accident toll.

—means more people drinking and more drunkenness.

—means more social pressure on young people.

—is a trap for the alcoholic.

—means more family problems and costs to the community.

—means further liberalization in drinking laws.

Rev. Gage said the plan of the group was to get the facts to the people through speaker appointments and the distribution of printed matter.

He further explained that the group was a voluntary association, contributions would be by personal subscription, and that the work of the steering committee would be done in committees composed of interested citizens.

Ex-Nazi Officer Commits Suicide; Denies Charges

Hagen, Germany (AP) —Former SS officer Kurt Bolaender 54, principal defendant at a war crimes trial here, was found hanging in his cell Monday, the prosecutor's office said.

Bolaender had been charged with the murder of 360 Jews and aiding and abetting in the killing of 480,000 other victims at Sobibor, a Nazi concentration camp.

A spokesman said Bolaender left a letter in which he denied being involved in the murders but said he felt the court would not believe him.

Market Mounts Vigorous Rally

Volume swelled to 9.63 million from Friday's 8.14 million shares and was the largest since Aug. 30 when 11.21 million shares changed hands in a rebound from the Aug. 29 low.

The Dow Jones industrial average showed an early loss of 5.24 when prices were being pounded. It retrieved this loss, however, and closed with a net gain of 10.19 at 754.51. This was its largest rise since Sept. 14 when it rebounded above the 800 level in a continuation of the snapback from the Aug. 29 lows.

Analysts saw no change in the fundamental newsbackground to account for a rally. Instead, they saw the recovery as based on the usual "technical" factors.

"The market was deeply oversold," said one analyst.

Multi-point gains were made by many of the glamor stocks which had just finished their worst week of the year.

Xerox closed at 143⅞, recovering 11½ points of the 42½ it lost last week. IBM regained 16⅝ of 24⅞ it lost; KLM Airlines 13¼ of 25¾; Polaroid, 11½ of 20; Fairchild Camera 9⅞ of 31⅜.

Sperry Rand was the most-active stock, rising 3 to 24⅛ on 240.900 shares.

Of 1,422 issues traded, 725 advanced and 453 declined. Lows for the year totaled 437. There were no new highs.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 3.5 to 272.9 with industrials up 6.5, rails up .9 and utilities up 1.6. It was the largest rise for this average since Sept. 12 when it gained 5.5.

All of the 15 most-active stocks advanced.

RCA reported record earnings and it advanced 3⅛ to 39⅞ but it was not among the 15 most-active stocks.

On the American Stock Exchange, a scattering of more stocks advanced than declined. Volume was 2.71 million shares compared with 2.41 million on Friday.

Grain Prices Firm, Weak

Wheat and soybeans closed easily to a scattered demand which started with some commercial accounts then attracted a little speculative short covering.

The failure of hedge selling to materialize as expected accounted for some of the support for soybeans. Dealers said there was a moderate demand from commercial accounts in early activity.

At the close wheat was 1⅛-1½ cents a bushel higher, December $1.72¼-72; corn ½ to 1 cent lower, December $1.35¾-36; oats ¼-½ higher, December 74¾-⅝ cents; rye ⅛ higher to ½ lower, December $1.23; soybeans ¾ to 2¾ higher, November $2.94⅛-94.

Sorensen Labels Lower Salaries 'False Economy'

Omaha—Failure to provide competitive salaries to keep the young teacher in Nebraska is false economy, Lt. Gov. Philip Sorensen told a meeting at Rock Brook School Monday night.

"If we are to place professional teachers before our students, we must keep those whom we train in our colleges and universities," the Democratic gubernatorial nominee said.

"Our young people are going to school in numbers which keep us ranked among the top states, and it is our responsibility to see that when they do this, they get the best possible start in life."

Mitchell Claims Norbert Tiemann 'Great Follower'

Kearney (UPI) — State Democratic Chairman John Mitchell said Monday "as a candidate banker Norbert Tiemann of Wausa is proving to be a great follower."

In a statement, Mitchell said Tiemann's "latest action in following Lt. Gov. Philip Sorensen is his endorsement of the constitutional convention.

"The lieutenant governor has been on record as favoring a constitutional convention since his campaign for lieutenant governor two years ago and has recently affirmed that stand in his answers to questions about a convention in questionnaires submitted to him."

Steen Predicts $10 Million Gain On Pheasants

A 10 million dollar income for Nebraska farm pheasant hunters was predicted Monday evening by Mel Steen, director of Nebraska's State Game Commission.

Steen, speaking to the Capital City Kiwanis Club, said, "We will have more nonresident pheasant hunters than the state has ever had, with a longer season and more pheasant population than any other state."

Steen received the Capital City Kiwanis Agricultural Bellringer Award in recognition of 46 years service in the field of wildlife, recreation and conservation.

Letter Carriers Delivering Cards For ZIP Codes

Letter carriers throughout the Lincoln area are delivering two cards to every residence, Postmaster Kenneth Lewis reported.

Each card will have spaces for addresses the householder wishes ZIPPED. After placing their uncoded addresses on the card, they may be dropped into any letter box with no postage required or returned to the mail carrier.

A return address should be included on the front of the cards so they may be returned after the post office has inserted the appropriate ZIP Code numbers.

The project is part of Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien's program to make ZIP codes more accessible to the mailing public.

German Women Prefer Nighties

The industry reports 78.5% of all ladies' nightwear produced in Germany in 1965 consisted of nightdresses. Only 18.1% were pajamas and 3.4% were shorties and bikinis.

Northern Co. Reveals Plan For Pipeline

Omaha (AP)— Northern Gas Products Co. a subsidiary of Northern Natural Gas Co. of Omaha, announced Monday a $10 million pipeline project to provide common carrier liquified petroleum gas transportation service to refineries in the Chicago area, Ohio and Michigan.

The project, including 70 miles of pipeline along the west side and through the south side of Chicago, will bridge a gap in common carrier transportation of natural gas liquids from the major producing areas of the southwest to markets in the northeastern United States.

Gas Products currently operates a 435-mile products pipeline from Bushton, Kan., to Wichita, Kan., and from Bushton to Des Moines, Iowa. Bushton is the location of an extraction plant which produces about 310 million gallons of natural gas liquids each year.

President Ross K. Albon said the company's present LP-gas pipeline system will become a common carrier. A propane tariff has been filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Besides the new Chicago line, which will have a capacity of 40,000 barrels per day, gas products is building 29 miles of pipeline connecting its existing system with the salt bed LP-gas storage near Hutchinson, Kan., plus three underground storage caverns and above ground tank storage in the Chicago area, two underground storage caverns at Des Moines and additional pumping capacity.

Hruska Attacks Ag Department's Proposed Policy

The senator said John A. Schnittker, undersecretary of agriculture, had been quoted as saying in effect that the present farm policy is aimed at achieveing parity income for adequate-sized commercial farms.

Asked by a reporter to define adequate-sized commercial farms, Hruska said they were said to be those grossing $10,000 or more a year.

According to the latest agricultural census, there were 80,163 farms in Nebraska, Hruska said, adding that 34,681 of these fell below the $10,000 gross income figure.

Schnittker declined any comment.

Ak-Sar-Ben promotes agricultural excellence in Nebraska's youth by awarding county fair premiums to 4-H and FFA winners. During the past 11 years, Ak-Sar-Ben has mailed over 100,000 checks totaling more than a third of a million dollars to reward these winners for a job well done, and to encourage them to take a bigger interest and do an even better job in the agricultural field. This is another of the many ways Ak-Sar-Ben works today towards a greater Nebraska of tomorrow.

Both Hanoi, Peking Reject Bomb Pause

Tokyo (AP) — North Viet Nam joined Communist China Tuesday in ruling out a pause in bombing of North Viet Nam, timed troop withdrawals and seating the Viet Cong at a peace conference as solutions to the Viet Nam conflict.

Like the Chinese, the North Vietnamese reiterated that U.S. troops must pull out of Viet Nam. Hanoi said this in a point-by-point rejection of a peace plan broached by British Foreign Secretary George Brown.

The army newspaper, Quan Doi Nhan Dan, said Brown's six-point plan clashes with the terms of the Geneva armistice agreements of 1954. Brown had called for a reconvening of the Geneva conferees.

In its clearest rejection so far of various recent peace moves, the Chinese accused the United States of "trying the old trick" of creating a Laos-style coalition in Viet Nam, a solution it made plain it would not accept.

The paper revealed that despite the peace initiatives, China's position has not wavered and that it insists on fulfillment of so far unacceptable conditions laid down by North Viet Nam and the Viet Cong.

HEMISPHERE CONFERENCE IMPROBABLE?

Washington (AP)—Some Latin-American diplomats speculated Monday that the proposed conference of Western Hemisphere presidents may never take place.

In addition, they said so many obstacles had arisen to the holding of a regular inter-American conference, originally scheduled for Buenos Aires that it, too, may not take place for months — if ever.

Trash About TV Outstripped Only By Sex—Commissioner

Atlantic City, N.J. (AP) — A federal communications commissioner said Monday night that there is "more nonsense, garbage and hogwash spoken, written and printed about television than about any other single subject with the possible exception of sex."

Lee Loevinger told the 20th annual convention of the New Jersey Broadcaster Association, "The more I see of television, the more I dislike it and defend it. Television is not for me but for many others who do like it, but who have no time for many things I like.

"It seems to me that television is: the literature of the illiterate; the culture of the lowbrow; the wealth of the poor; the privilege of the underprivileged; the exclusive club of the excluded masses."

But Loevinger said he believes, "If television is forced to admit the elite, it will lose its exclusivity for the masses and—as the clubby elite should know—this will destroy its value for those who belong to it.

"In the current lingo, television is the cool of the squares, and it cannot exist if inverted. The square of the cools equals nothing.

"Television is a golden goose that lays scrambled eggs; and it is futile and probably fatal to beat it for not laying caviar. Anyway, more people like scrambled eggs than caviar."

CARDINAL WILL KEEP HIS POST AS REQUESTED

New York (UPI) — Francis Cardinal Spellman disclosed Monday that he had offered his resignation to the Vatican but that Pope Paul VI had asked him to remain in his position with the Roman Catholic Church.

Spellman, 77, made the disclosure to some 3,000 worshippers at St. Patrick's Cathedral during a ceremony investing six auxiliary bishops as episcopal vicars.

The prelate said he had submitted his resignation Sept. 21 in compliance with a recently promulgated decree by the Pope, requesting bishops 75 years or older to resign.

The first zoological garden in the United States was established in Philadelphia in 1874.

Space Flight Influences Viet War, Webb Says

New York (UPI) —James E. Webb, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) said Monday that successful space flights have helped shape the war in Viet Nam.

"The situation in Viet Nam would be a bit different if the Gemini flights had been failures," Webb told a news conference.

"We are showing that we have power and technological capability to back it up. We are showing the Russians that we can make their effort in Viet Nam a loss rather than a profit," he said.

Webb said Russia is still ahead of the U.S. in attempts to land a man on the moon. He pointed out that Russia has not had a manned space flight in 19 months, but he said they were undertaking more extensive unmanned tests of the environment around various planets than the U.S.

Webb predicted, however, that the Russians would have a manned space flight very soon.

"The Russians are undoubtedly ahead of us in (moon) fly-by and probably ahead of us in actual landing," he said.

Floods Devastating

Algiers (UPI)—Widespread flooding in western Algeria during the past week has claimed the lives of 20 persons and made thousands homeless, the government said.

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane

"He was sitting right there where you're sitting," said Brendan O'Regan. "And he said: "Lord Inchiquin, how long has your family owned the castle?' 'Over a thousand years,' said Lord Inchiquin.

"Which is true," said Brendan, "for he's of the 'O'Briens who claim direct descent from Brian Boru who drove the Danes out of Ireland in 1014."

Dromoland Castle is a great gray-stone towered mansion, set is 1500 acres of rolling green park and woods and misty Irish lakes.

An American named Bernard McDonough bought it a few years ago. He spent $1.5 million remodeling it into a luxurious hotel of 70 castle rooms.

"I'd had business with him before," said O'Regan—he's chairman of the Irish tourist board. "His father came from Galway, though McDonough's in sand-and-gravel business in West Virginia now. And I said, "Would you be interested in making a hotel here?'

"I would,' he said. And I took him out to Dromoland."

Dromoland is all great halls. Lined with pictures of arrogant looking O'Briens of the aristocratic years. The ceilings are 20 feet high. You bounce on the thick carpets.

"We sat here," said O'Regan. "It was Lord Inchiquin's study then." (It is the scarlet-and wood-panel bar now.) McDonough was looking up at the picture of Donough O'Brien who got the place in 1570. 'Donough' it said under the picture. 'That's my name,' said McDonough. 'A good omen,' I said.

"He said, 'How much would you take for it, Lord Inchiquin?' 'Fifty thousand pounds with 300 acres,' says Lord Inchiquin. 'I'll take it,' says McDonough, 'That's about $150,000? Write it down,' he said to me. And I wrote it down."

Dromoland lies between Limerick and Ennis in the south of Ireland. The storm-damaged Armada fell on the coastal rocks—34 ships. The O'Briens put to death the sailors who got ashore. The mounded grave is at Lahnich.

"At this point," said O'Regan, "Inchiquin began to take thought. For it was all so sudden, you see. 'Not including the furniture,' he says. 'And only 100 acres.'

" 'Read off what you wrote down,' said McDonough, and I read it off—'300 acres.' Inchiquin says, 'I was confused with pounds and dollars.' 'Well,' says McDonough, 'you struck the bargain. But I'll not hold you to it. What do you want for the 300 acres?'

"So Inchiquin named him a figure," said O'Regan." 'I'll not take it,' said McDonough and he walked out.

"I was disappointed," said Brendan. "For we needed a hotel."

"I called Inchiquin," said Brendan, "and I said: 'You won't get a better offer. Now perhaps he doesn't need the acres. Would you do this: would you give him and his guests shooting, riding and hunting rights over the whole estate?'

"I'd do that,' said Lord Inchiquin. For you see, he was willing to make a compromise," said Brendan. "And I wrote that to McDonough."

☆ ☆ ☆

"A year or so later," said Brendan, "I was in the States and I called him.

" 'Come down,' he said. 'I want to talk to you. I'll send a plane.' So I went down.

" 'Oh, by the way,' he said to me when I got there, 'I bought that castle this morning by telephone.' 'But didn't you want to see more of it?' I said. 'You know nothing about hotel business.'

" 'The principle in all business is the same,' he said. 'I intend to make it the finest hotel in all Europe. If you're the best in your business, where else can people go for what they want?'

"And that's how it was bought," said Brendan.

N-SPREAD PACT 'NEARER'

. . . Says Gromyko After Seeing LBJ, Rusk

Washington (AP) — Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko said and the State Department agreed Monday night that the United States and Soviet Union are moving toward agreement on a treaty on nonproliferation of nuclear weapons.

"It looks like both countries are striving to reach agreement and facilitate conclusion of an international agreement," said Gromyko after he had met for 1 hour and 45 minutes with President Johnson and 2½ hours with Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Won't Say More

But Gromyko refused to tell newsmen about anything else discussed at the White House or State Department dinner.

The White House described the Gromyko session with Johnson as "a frank and wide-ranging discussion in a businesslike atmosphere."

Both sides agreed to continue talks on the nonproliferation question. They reportedly will pick up in New York within a few days with Arms Control and Disarmament Agency head William C. Foster the likely U.S. negotiator.

Clearing Underbrush

Washington sources said after the Gromyko visit that both sides agree a nonproliferation agreement is desirable, and that "some of the underbrush" had been cleared away by the day's talks. But no agreement is yet on paper, it was learned.

The general idea of such an agreement would be for nuclear countries to agree not to give away or sell nuclear weapons, and for nonnuclear countries not to acquire such weapons.

Asked if he had discussed Viet Nam with Johnson, Gromyko said, in reference to his non proliferation comment "What I said was positive on what we discussed."

No Troop Mention

Asked if the number of troops in Europe were brought up he said, "I did not mention troops in Europe."

White House aide George Christian told reporters a number of subjects of mutual concern had been discussed with Johnson.

The meeting had been expected to include discussion of Johnson's proposals for improving relations between the United States and Russia and to get Moscow's reactions to proposals Johnson made Friday in a New York speech.

Switch

Gromyko carefully avoided making a side trip to Washington last year when he attended the United Nations General Assembly in New York, as if underlining differences between the two countries over Viet Nam. He is reported to have agreed immediately to come and see the President this year.

Rusk, Ambassador at large Llewelyn Thompson, presidential adviser Walt W. Rostow and Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Y. Dobrynin also participated in the conference.

Although American officials cautioned against attaching too much importance to Gromyko's changed attitude, they appeared to agree that some guarded optimism about Moscow's interest in the Johnson proposals was justified.

Not Unusual

Experts on Soviet affairs termed it characteristic that the Moscow press has not mentioned thus far Johnson's suggestion that the Soviets consider a "gradual and balanced" withdrawal of both countries' forces from Europe.

To leave such an important proposal unmentioned means that it is seriously considered in the Kremlin, diplomatic sources advised. The experience is that the Soviet government prefers that its people are informed on such vital issues simultaneously with Moscow's decision.

ZONING CHANGE HIT . . .

Gateway Area Expansion Dies

. . . MAYOR BREAKS TIE

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

Mayor Dean Petersen Monday broke a 3-3 City Council tie and voted to kill a zoning change which would have extended commercial land use to a 17-acre tract abutting the eastern edge of Gateway Shopping Center.

The move might be a preview of future council action on pending rezoning ordinances which would accommodate the development of large-scale retail developments at 52nd and R and 48th and Van Dorn.

Requested by Harold and Gwendolyn Conant was a change of zone from A-2 single family to G-1 planned commercial on the East O St. acreage.

$1.5-Million Building

Attorney Richard Peterson said the Conant's, owners of the property for 25 years, plan to sell it to "an institutional investor", who in turn would construct a 100,000 square foot, $1.5 million retail building and lease it to one of three major national retail chains.

He mentioned Sears-Roebuck and F. W. Woolworth as two of the bidders.

Voting to indefinitely postpone the rezoning were council members Mrs. Helen Boosalis, John Mason and Ervin Petersen. Against were John Comstock, Lloyd Hinkley and Carroll Thompson. Mayor Petersen then cast his tie-breaking vote and the ordinance was killed. Councilman John Selleck was absent.

Also Split

Council members, evenly divided on the Conant request, were also on either side of the question whether to "tie in" Conant with the rezoning applications of N.E. Copple (52nd and R) and Larry Price (40th and Van Dorn), both pending before the City-County Planning Commission.

There was more of an indication that a majority of the council will support Planning Director Douglas Brogden's contention that the downtown core should remain the major retailing center for the city at the expense of developing more suburban shopping centers of the Gateway magnitude.

Brogden's position is upheld by the regional comprehensive plan, which proposes developing shopping centers on the city's periphery as it expands. The plan was adopted by the planning commission and the council several years ago.

Brogden again told the council, "that he feels Lincoln cannot support another shopping center the size of Gateway even with a population of 250,000."

Hinkley, in opposing the kill motion, said, "I will vote for public convenience in sh for public convenience in shop that downtown can remain the only major shopping area in the future.

Mayor Petersen, on the other hand, said all information available to him "leads me to believe we have ample area zoned for business in all parts of town . . .(existing) shopping centers are ample enough to serve the people."

Prejudgment

Mason forecast a prejudgment of the Copple and Price applications if the Conant's were turned down, adding "if this is sustained, I don't see how we can deny the others—they both have the same reasons for wanting to develop."

Hinkley, Mrs. Boosalis, Thompson and Comstock said they would judge each rezoning request "on its merits."

Attorney Peterson told the council that commercial zoning "is the highest and best use" for the now-vacant Conant property, and a "natural extension of commercial zoning from the Gateway area."

'Desirable'

"Consider the desirability of concentrating the commercial zoning internally within Gateway," he added.

As for increased traffic congestion, Peterson said the natural growth of Lincoln is bound to create traffic problems with two solutions: "No growth, no traffic problems," or, "concentrate growth in areas that can best handle it."

He cited the controlled access already provided Gateway.

In addition to Brogden and the planning commission, previously the Conant rezoning was opposed at the council hearing by the League of Women Voters, Downtown Development Corp. and Bennett Martin Jr. of the Lincoln Terminal Co.

Home Buyers May Notice Hike In Monthly Payments

By DAN DICKMEYER
Star Staff Writer

According to reports from Lincoln savings and loan associations, residents of Lincoln who are paying for their homes through long term loans will soon be noticing an increase in their monthly payments.

The cause of the monthly payment hike is an increase in the escrow portion of the payment, which the association uses to pay all taxes and home insurance.

Due to increased real estate taxes — state, county, school, city and other governmental subdivisions — Lincoln borrowers are likely to be paying an average of eight to ten dollars more a month. This figure is for a $15,000 home with an assessed valuation of $5,000.

However, spokesmen for local loan associations were careful to emphasize that the figures were very broad averages. The figures will vary on an individual basis with such things as increases in assessed valuations, home owner's insurance or the amount of surplus funds in a person's escrow account.

Will Notify

First Federal Savings and Loan reports it is beginning a re-analysis of its accounts and will notify customers of changes in the amounts of their payments about the last of November. It gave the following samples of increases in tax escrow payments:

—A home with an assessed valuation of $7,300 by the city and $7,800 by the county will require an increased payment of $10.50 a month.

—A home with an assessed valuation of $4,300 by the city and $5,400 by the county will show an average monthly increase of $8.00.

—A home assessed at $4,200 by the city and $5,000 by the county will cost the borrower about $7.00 more a month.

Extend Time

A spokesman for Nebraska Central Building and Loan said his association's policy is to extend the length of time on a loan rather than to increase the monthly payments.

"In effect, most loans will be increased anywhere from a few months to a year" by the tax increase, the spokesman said.

State Federal Savings and Loan also said it is re-analyzing its accounts and will notify its customers of changes in payments about the end of November.

"We will probably be raising all borrowers' escrow payments except for the lucky ones who have a surplus in their accounts," a vice-president of the association said.

"If we were taking a loan application for a new $15,000 home, it would probably mean a monthly payment of about $120," he said. This would be a monthly increase of $10.50.

About 21%

Union Loan and Savings is in the process of notifying its customers. A spokesman said a broad average for payment hikes on all loans which his association handles would probably be about $10 or 21% — very near the total percentage increase in all real estate taxes this year.

Lincoln borrowers may also be making up for a lack of funds in their escrow accounts caused by a time difference. Loan payments were not increased immediately upon the increase in taxes.

Borrowers who have a surplus in their accounts may not have to worry about this. Others may be paying the shortage in their escrow accounts by lump sums; one loan association has sent notices of such lump sum payments.

Two of the loan associations said that the "lump sum" approach "created a hardship for borrowers." They report that they therefore make up their shortages by adding a fraction of the total shortage to the borrower's statement each month.

All associations stressed that each loan is "an individual matter" and that increases and-or shortage payments will depend on the balance in the individual escrow account.

Powell Guilty Of Willful Contempt

New York (AP)—Rep. Adam Clayton Powell's three-year legal battle to avoid paying a $160,000 libel judgment led to his conviction Monday of willful contempt of court.

Powell laid the groundwork for an appeal of the verdict in advance when he and his lawyers boycotted the trial, claiming the State Supreme Court lacked jurisdiction in the case.

The State Supreme Court is a court of original jurisdiction in New York. An appeal from its findings goes through the appellate division to the Court of Appeals, the state's highest.

Sentence Later

The maximum penalty under the jury's verdict is 30 days in jail and a $250 fine on each of the five counts. State Supreme Court Justice Matthew M. Levy withheld sentencing until the matter of jurisdiction is threshed out.

Powell owes $160,000 in libel damages to a Harlem widow, Mrs. Esther James, 68, as a result of a jury's 1963 decision that he libelled her. In a 1960 television broadcast, he called her a bag woman, or graft collector, for the police department.

Since the original libel verdict, the case has been in eight different courts, and more than 70 judges have taken part in it at various times.

Claimed Immunity

During the legal proceedings, Powell five times ignored court subpoenaes for his appearance to undergo financial examination — once in 1963, twice in 1964 and twice last year. Powell claimed that as a congressman he was immune to the subpoenaes.

Last Aug. 12, State Supreme Court Justice Irving Saypol cited Powell for criminal contempt. He ordered a jury trial to determine the extent of Powell's "willfulness" in ignoring the subpoenaes.

A jury of nine men and three women was selected for the trial last Wednesday. However, Powell never appeared in court and his four defense lawyers walked out after Levy deferred the matter of jurisdiction until after the trial.

'Nose Thumber'

Justice Levy noted that Powell has been subject to considerable public comment as a congressman but admonished the jury:

"He is not on trial because he is the subject of controversy in other areas."

$4.4 Billion OKd To Aid Colleges

Washington (UPI) — The Senate approved a three-year, $4.4 billion college aid bill Monday after shelving a rider to give home rule to the nation's capital.

Approval of the bill came on a voice vote in sharp contrast to the heated fight over the amendment by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., to provide self-government for Washington, D.C.

The measure was the second major education bill passd within a week by the Senate, which also approved a $6.4 billion aid authorization for elementary and secondary schools last Thursday.

To Conference

The college bill now will go to a Senate-House conference committee to work out differences with a $2.9 billion version passed by the House.

Most of the funds are destined for building classrooms, libraries and laboratories at institutions ranging from junior colleges to graduate schools. The Senate version also would raise federal contributions to student loans through the National Defense Education Act and other means.

The Southern block in Congress adamantly opposes the home rule proposal for Washington, more than two-thirds of whose residents are Negro.

Nonpartisan

Morse's rider would have authorized the selection of a Washington mayor, council and school board in a nonpartisan election. District voters also would elect a nonvoting member of the House of Representatives.

But the House, which has traditionally voted down home rule, refused on that occasion to negotiate a compromise with the Senate on the issue.

York Man Sentenced In Tax Evasion Case

A York cattle dealer was sentenced to one year in prison and fined $10,000 in U.S. Federal District Court Monday on a charge of filing a false income tax return.

Judge Robert Van Pelt sentenced Dennis R. Grosse, who was indicted by a grand jury in Omaha last spring and had entered a plea of nolo contendere.

Judge Van Pelt said in sentencing that "it is my judgment that Grosse has not told the court the truth . . . and I consider this an open attempt to defraud the government."

Grosse was charged with claiming total 1959 income of $5,036.33 when it was actually $22,473.60.

Joseph Ginsburg, attorney for Grosse, told the court in closing statements at the presentence hearing, that the government was not deceived and "no fraud resulted from the transactions" pointed out by agents for the Internal Revenue Service.

In pleading for leniancy for his client, Ginsburg said that the purpose of sentence is to protect society, people and government and to rehabilitate the defendant.

He noted that other returns have been filed since 1959 and there "apparently is no question since that time," and the defendant "has apparently rehabilitated himself."

Judge Van Pelt granted Grosse 30 days in which to appeal.

Two weeks ago, Judge Van Pelt fined several prominent persons for income tax evasion and warned that his policy of suspending prison sentences in tax cases would stop if circumstances warranted it.

Nebraska Harvest Lagging Slightly

. . . BEHIND 1965 PACE

By United Press International

Nebraska's golden corn harvest, expected to yield bin-busting quantities, is lagging slightly behind last year's pace, government farm experts reported Monday.

The state-federal division of agricultural statistics said less than five per cent of the crop has been picked so far.

Nebraska News

However, the corn harvest doesn't get into full swing in Nebraska until the third week in October. The division said the outlook is still bright. A new production and yield estimate will be issued later this week by the U.S. Agriculture Department.

The grain sorghum and soybean harvests are in full swing in some areas. About 25% of the bean crop is out.

The division said moisture content of the grain sorghum is averaging 17%. Yields have been good and, in some localities, yields of dryland sorghum have been exceptional.

The sugar beet harvest is also under way in the west. Early reports indicate a good crop.

Planting of winter wheat is virtually completed in all parts of the state, and the crop has emerged to very good stands in most areas. Moisture supplies in the topsoil are becoming short, particularly in the southeast and some central counties.

Silage cutting and haying operatings are winding up. Fourth cutting alfalfa and corn and sorghum silage yields have been good.

Range and pasture conditions are near average in the state while feed grain supplies are expected to be average or better in most counties. Hay and forage supplies are below average in some southeast and northeast areas but mostly average or above elsewhere.

The division said recent movement of replacement cattle into feedlots has been heavy. Weather conditions have been highly favorable for most classes of livestock.

Nebraska Skater Takes Time Off Trip—To Skate

Bartholomew, Aurora, Neb., carpenter, headed on east on U.S. 30 for North Platte Monday encountering one of the dangerous 50-mile stretches of his 5,385-mile trip. He plans to follow U.S. 30 across the state and will encounter less traffic once he gets east of North Platte where the Interstate Highway begins, and siphons off much of the traffic.

Followed by his wife in a camper truck, Bartholomew has covered 1,400 miles since he started out June 27 from Spokane.

Energized Staff Plans Uses For Reading Lab

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Auburn—If the air feels charged around this school system, an impressive array of electronic paraphernalia is the original source.

But a strong secondary shot comes from an energized staff anxious to crackle this message:

"Auburn's reading laboratory is the best-equipped non-metropolitan setup in the state."

Visitors from other schools not only hear such enthusiasm from Supt. Albert Austin, but see themselves marvel on closed-circuit TV. Meanwhile. Principal Jack Kent and Mrs. Lillian Eddy have video-taped the conversation—and it's a convert who steps onto the screen.

No Limits

"There are so many practical applications of the equipment that we're limited only by our imaginations," said the superintendent. "Four laboratories and some 160 youngsters will be using it this fall to improve their reading, but there are all sorts of other possibilities."

Acquired last February under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, approximately $15,000 of electronic apparatus enhances the more common listening booths and study materials. Two grade school laboratories and one each in junior and senior high have their own basic equipment, borrowing the TV pieces as needed.

Employing re-useable tape, the video-tape machine permits the playback of ETV programs for students with schedule conflicts. It has also proved of "tremendous value" for speech and dramatics, science demonstrations, and athletic events.

Film Football

"We used it on the football field to show the mistakes during a soap scrimmage," noted Kent, who heads both the junior high and two elementary schools. "We'll also shoot all the football games without having to buy a dollar's worth of movie film."

Utilized for 90 remedial reading pupils this summer, the closely-watched program has already demonstrated its possibilities. Some children have grown "as much as two grade levels," noted Mrs. Eddy.

Orginally a $42,000 project, the program is continuing under a supplementary grant of $34,000. Assisting director Mrs. Eddy are teachers Mark Zimmerman, Mrs . Darlene Kent and Mrs. Leona Reed.

U. N. Given Statue

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — Nigeria has donated a six-foot statue of an African woman to the United Nations. The statue, by Nigerian sculptor Ben Enwonwu, is on display in the conference building at U.N. headquarters. Nigerian Ambassador Chief S. O. Adebo formally presented it to Secretary-General U Thant at a dedication ceremony.

Mrs. King Cites Civil Problems To Be Overcome

Omaha (AP)—Mrs. Martin Luther King Jr., wife of the well known civil rights leader, declared Monday that racial injustice, poverty and war are the problems which civilized men must overcome because "if any part of society is in need, each of us is affected."

Mrs. King spoke before the National Board of Managers of the United Church Women. The board, meeting in Omaha for the first time, will continue sessions through Wednesday.

Mrs. King said "real and substantial gains have been made in racial justice," but she said minorities—particularly Negroes—still must battle for equal job opportunities, education and housing.

She urged the group made up of more than 500 women, to first inform themselves about problems and then to become involved in their solution.

Youth Held In Stabbing Of Little Sister

A 15-year-old Lincoln youth was being held at the detention home and his 12-year-old sister was listed in "fair" condition at Bryan Memorial Hospital Monday night following an incident at their home in which police officials said the boy stabbed his sister several times with a knife.

The boy was treated at Bryan Hospital for stab wounds which police said he also received in the fight.

Police and juvenile authorities were still investigating the incident which occurred about 7:30 p.m. Monday.

According to police the boy just grabbed his sister and stabbed her several times.

A struggle ensued and the girl managed to get hold of a knife which she plunged into the boy's leg twice, police said. When the girl finally broke away from her brother, she ran to a neighbor who called the police.

The girl received deep stab wounds in the breast and back, the police said.

State Streamflow Generally Above Normal Amounts

Washington (UPI) — The Department of Interior said Monday the average streamflow in Nebraska during September was above normal except in the north-central area, where it was slightly below normal.

The department said irrigation demands decreased and reservoirs began to fill during the month.

Harry Strunk Lake and the Harlan County Reservoir were 0.9 feet and 0.4 feet, respectively, into their flood pools. Contents of Lake McConaughy increased and was 1,579,000 acre feet, which was slightly more than a year ago and 35% more than average.

Ground-water levels generally declined. The greatest decline was in the heavily pumped area of the lower Platte River Valley. Water level at the key observation well near Gibbon was nearly 5.5 feet below average.

Land Bank Heads Meet In Omaha

Omaha (UPI) — Twenty-three directors of federal land bank and production credit associations opened a two-day conference here Monday with officials of the Federal Land Bank and the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Omaha.

Civil Rights Measure In Omaha's Proposals

Omaha (AP) — The Sorenson Administration Monday proposed 22 bills for presentation to the 1967 state Legislature including one which would permit Omaha to enact civil rights legislation.

Another measure would increase the Metropolitan Utilities District's annual contribution to the cly in lieu of property taxes.

The civil rights measure would permit the city council to adopt laws prohibiting discrimination in the sale or rental of property and in the use of public accommodations.

In 1964 the State Supreme Court ruled that the Omaha Fair Employment Practices Ordinance was unconstitutional because the state had not given the city the power to pass civil rights laws.

The MUD measure would increase MUD payments in lieu of taxes from a flat $250,000 yearly to 4½% of the gross revenue from retail sales. Greg Stuve, city legislative representative, estimated the change would bring MUD's annual contribution to about $750,000.

Other proposed legislation would establish a $5 a vehicle highway user fee and increase the cigarette tax from eight to nine cents a package.

Additional proposals would:

—Allow Omaha to use gasoline tax funds to pay off revenue bonds for street and highway construction and maintenance.

—Require the State Department of Roads to allocate 10% of federal primary road money and 10% of federal secondary road funds and a matching amount of state money to an urban highway fund to be spent on streets and highways within cities on a sufficiency rating basis.

—Make the State Department of Roads responsible for maintenance of state and federal highways within city limits.

—Knock out the requirement that a sewer bond measure receive a 60% majority for passage and substitute a simple majority.

—Remove the provision that general obligation bonds cannot be issued in excess of 10% of the assessed property valuation of a city.

—Require that inheritance taxes be divided equally between counties and metropolitan class cities.

—Eliminate the one dollar added this year on non-moving traffic violations. The added dollar goes to a pension fund for judges.

There also were some minor proposals.

'Farmers Won't Plant Full 1967 Wheat Allotment'

Washington (AP) — Members of an Agriculture Department Grain Advisory Committee generally agree that farmers will not plant the full 65 million acre allotment the government has set for the 1967 wheat crop.

Here for conferences with department crop control officials, representatives from major wheat areas said many farmers dread the possibility of a return of wheat surpluses.

Hence, they said, many growers will plant around 75% of the increases the government has recommended. This year's wheat allotment was 51 million acres.

U.S. Bolsters Lines In North

A big battle may be in the making in the border province of Quang Tri, where American Marines and South Vietnamese troops have killed about 2,000 infiltrating Hanoi regulars in two operations since last July and are holding the line against others.

The ground forces are under orders not to occupy the six-mile-wide buffer strip — a point reiterated by Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara to newsmen in Saigon. But fighter-bombers struck again at military trails and supply dumps within the zone and B52 jets pounded a communist base camp just north of it.

Developments so far disclosed in the shift of manpower:

—A battalion —perhaps 800 men—of the U.S. 173rd Airborne Brigade, which has headquarters at the Bien Hoa airfield near Saigon, sped to Da Nang. That city, 380 miles northeast of Saigon, is headquarters for U.S. Marines in Viet Nam and for the Saigon government's 1st Corps.

—From its base at Chu Lai, 53 miles down the coast, the headquarters unit of the 1st Marine Division also pulled into Da Nang, evidently to arrange for a move of combat detachments.

—Headquarters of the 3rd Marine Division, based at Da Nang, headed 30 miles north to the Hue-Phu Bai sector. There was no announcement as to how many Leatherneck regiments might be expecting orders.

CP At Dong Ha

The field command post for American Marines and Vietnamese troops in the long engagement is 40 miles farther north at Dong Ha, within artillery range of the border zone that the Geneva conference of 1954 earmarked as neutral territory.

The 173rd Brigade paratroopers are the first U.S. Army soldiers, aside from advisers and Special Forces, to be assigned within the 1st Corps area, the northernmost region of South Viet Nam. Helicopters give them mobility.

Allied troops directly involved on the outskirts of the zone between the South China Sea and the Laotian frontier total about one division—15,000 men. It's a 45-mile-long front.

Intelligence agents have identified elements of three North Vietnamese divisions in and around the zone and strategists expect the communists to try an offensive under cover of rain and fog due with a seasonal switch in monsoon winds this month.

Moderates May Blast 'Black Power'

New York (AP)—Negro leaders in the moderate wing of the civil rights movement said Monday they may issue soon a manifesto disowning proponents of "black power."

Confirming that talks with this aim are going on, A. Philip Randolph, president of the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, said:

"Black power is a menace to racial peace and prosperity. No Negro who is fighting for civil rights can support black power, which is opposed to civil rights and integration."

Others taking part in the discussions include Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People; Whitney M. Young Jr., executive director of the National Urban League, and Dorothy Height, president of the National Council of Negro Women.

"What we have in mind," said Dr. John Morsell, assistant national director of the NAACP, "is a statement which will clarify the civil rights movement — what its goals are and what they are not."

The proposed manifesto would be aimed primarily at the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) and the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC).

McNamara In High Huddles

Saigon (AP)—Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara had a round of top-level meetings with American officials Monday on the part the United States is playing in the Viet Nam war.

Much of the rest of the day was spent in secret intelligence briefings. McNamara's findings on over-all capabilities, concepts and goals of the allies during his four-day visit—his eighth to Viet Nam—are expected to weigh heavily on future U.S. commitments in men, money and material.

Colonies Lost; George Too Big For Britches

By EDDY GILMORE

London (AP) — I think I now know why King George III lost his American Colonies—his pants were too tight.

This reporter put on George's britches Monday, and his coat and vest as well.

While the coat and vest were fairly comfortable, with the stomach room and sleeve length just about right, the pants were terrible.

In Wrong Places

They were painfully tight, binding in all the wrong places, hard to get into and out of, and powerfully hot.

I wore them for 48 minutes, and they were torture. At the end of 48 minutes I'd lost my sense of humor.

King George's crimson velvet suit—along with two others—are at Sotheby's, the fine-arts auctioneers. They are to be knocked down to the highest bidder Friday.

Same Size

The expert rolled his eye over my ample frame and said:

"You and the king seem to be of the same size. Would you like to try on the suit?"

(Editor's note: Writer Gilmore weighs 214 pounds.)

"May I keep the suit on for a while?"

"Of course, but why?"

"I want to test out a private theory. Historians say George III was vain, testy, short-tempered, obstinate, unforgiving, and sulky. In the end he went nuts."

Tea Party

Fourteen months after he started wearing this job, a group of George's infuriated subjects in Boston held one of the most disastrous tea parties in England's history, dumping the king's tea into Boston harbor.

This was followed by other acts of rebellion and then, in course, the Declaration of Independence in 1776 and the Revolutionary War.

Church Tax Challenge Turned Down

Washington (UPI) — The Supreme Court turned down Monday an appeal by a group of atheists seeking to bar state tax exemptions for church property on grounds they are a subsidy of religion.

At the second session of its new term that began last Monday, the high court disposed of more than 40 cases by announcing whether it would accept them for review and arguments.

In refusing to hear the church suit brought by Mrs. Madalyn Murray O'Hair and others, the court did not specifically affirm a Maryland appeals court ruling that upheld the tax exemption.

The Supreme Court simply refused — without comment — to hear the case. Its rejection of the appeal undoubtedly will be cited in support of continued tax exemptions granted in other states for churches and parsonages.

Won Prayer Case

Mrs. O'Hair, formerly of Baltimore and who now lives in Austin, Tex., also was the woman who brought the suit that resulted in the Supreme Court's 1963 decision outlawing prescribed prayer and Bible-reading in the public schools.

The new suit challenged Maryland's real estate tax exemptions for church property. It contended that the practice was an indirect subsidy of religion and as such was prohibited by the 1st Amendment to the Constitution, separating church and state.

Mrs. O'Hair said she would renew her suit to get a Supreme Court decision on the issue.

"I will bring it again and again and again, if it takes me 20 years," she said. "Sooner or later they have to face the issue, and I'm going to be here plugging until they do."

In other cases, the Supreme Court acted on appeals from four decisions involving civil rights.

'63 Birmingham Protests

It agreed to examine complaints of eight civil rights leaders, including the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., that Birmingham officials used state courts to suppress their constitutional freedoms. The case, growing out of demonstrations in 1963 against Birmingham segregation practices, will be heard some time this term and decided by written opinion.

The high court let stand an order requiring Mississippi officials to authorize the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) to do business in that state.

It also let stand an order setting astride the 1965 municipal elections in Sunflower, Miss., on the grounds that Negroes had not been able to vote on run for office.

The court denied a hearing to a group of Negroes from Birmingham and Bessemer, Ala., who claimed racial discrimination in the selection of juries there. The brief court order left standing as final a lower court ruling that the Negroes did not prove their case.

2 Libel Cases

In other actions, the Supreme Court:

—Agreed to review two widely publicized libel judgments, one to former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker and the other to former Georgia athletic director Wally Butts. Walker won a $500,000 libel judgment against the Associated Press in 1964 in a suit based on two AP dispatches dealing with his activities on the University of Mississippi campus during the 1962 rioting when Negro James H. Meredith was enrolled. Butts' award of $460,000 from Curtis Publishing Co. grew out of an article in the Saturday Evening Post that charged him with rigging the 1962 Georgia-Alabama football game.

—Refused to hear an appeal by an Indiana man's widow against General Motors Corp. for her husband's death in an auto crash. The action let stand a lower federal court dismissing the claims brought by Mrs. Barbara F. Evans.

—Dismissed a challenge to a New York state law which makes it illegal to distribute obscene literature to persons under 17. The appeal was rejected "for want of a properly presented federal question."

—Denied a hearing to T. Eugene Thompson, St. Paul, Minn., attorney convicted of masterminding the 1963 murder of his wife for $1 million in insurance and the love of a mistress.

—Rejected a plea by California state officials to reinstate a ban on home subscription television. The ban was approved by state voters in 1964, but the California Supreme Court held the act to be unconstitutional.

Percy Quotes Bible, Returns To Campaign

"As the Bible says," Percy said firmly, "'there is a time for every purpose under the sun—a time to be born, a time to die; a time to mourn, a time to dance...'

"With so little time remaining, I think it is time to speak."

Thus, three weeks and one day after his daughter Valerie was slain, the Illinois Republican senatorial candidate resumed his campaign to unseat veteran Democratic Sen. Paul H. Douglas.

Percy was asked how he feels.

"Under the circumstances, as well as can be expected," he said. "I am more determined than ever to wage a strong campaign."

Percy said that as of now, inflation and Viet Nam "together with racial disturbances" are the main issues of the campaign.

Powell Urges Responsibility

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

An encouraging sign might be found in the Sunday statements of Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, Harlem representative in the House. For some 30 years now, this Negro Democrat has been a stormy figure, first as a strong voice in local affairs and later as a leading spokesman for his race in Washington, D.C. Powell's career has been anything but calm.

During the 1930s, he was an active participator in demonstrations in New York against job discrimination. In 1936 he began writing a newspaper column for a weekly Harlem publication. In 1937 he succeeded his father as pastor of the Abyssinian Baptist Church, the place from which he made his Sunday remarks. He was elected to his first public office, a seat on the New York City Council, in 1942. In 1944, Powell accomplished the political trick of receiving both the Republican and Democratic nominations for Congress in his district, and, naturally, was elected.

Mr. Powell's History

Powell has been unbeatable in his home grounds since then and it is believed that he will have his seat in Congress for as long as he wants it. In Congress, he has been a liberal with his voting record and continued his efforts in behalf of an end to segregation in all forms.

It is more in the personal end of his life that Powell has surrounded himself with controversy. Beginning in 1952, Powell spent the next 14 years in a continuing battle with the Internal Revenue Service over alleged underpayment of taxes. In June of 1966, pending complaints against the Harlem Democrat were settled with his payment of $27,833.17 in back taxes and penalties.

Within Congress, Powell has faced the criticism of his peers for a number of things. In recent years, Powell has had an attendance record roughly 30 per cent below that of the average member of the House. His attendance for the current session is running even worse than that, at a 40 per cent clip. Next, Powell aroused congressional critics with his junketing.

Congressional Quarterly (CQ) reports that "in August of 1962, Powell's junketing activities during congressional sessions provoked considerable comment both within and without Congress. Accompanied by two office secretaries, Chairman Powell (of the House Education and Labor Committee) departed in mid-session for a six-week tour of Europe. The well-publicized trip resulted in an unprecedentel attack by a member of one chamber of Congress on a member of the other chamber.

"On Feb. 5, 1963, Sen. John J. Williams, Delaware Republican, denounced Powell by name on the Senate floor, saying that 'on the front page of every newspaper were accounts of Mr. Powell's European vacation with his lady friends, where he attended all the night spots of the European capitals on a tax-paid junket that was financed through the State Department.'" Powell was also criticized for having his wife, living in Puerto Rico, on his office payroll at $12,974 per year. Later, even his wife was to complain because Powell began depositing her check in his own personal account. He maintained that he paid her bills himself from these funds.

In 1956, Powell pulled a political switch and supported the candidacy of President Eisenhower against Democrat Adlai Stevenson. Some columnists connected the party switch by Powell with his income tax problems at the time. More recently, Powell has been at odds with the Democratic administration over the implementation of the anti-poverty program.

He has also been at odds with the membership of his own House committee. Condemning his conduct of committee business, the membership recently took action curbing his authority in spending committee funds and controlling committee business.

Ability and Power

Also, Powell has had a continuing struggle since 1960 with Mrs. Esther James who is suing him for libel and other related matters. Despite all of this, even critics admit that Powell has great ability and none will challenge his political power. Thus, it is generally agreed that he could be a tremendous force for progress in the world. He has further alienated himself from some quarters, however, as a result of his affiliation with the so-called "black power" movement. It is on this score that he showed promise Sunday.

He denounced Negro violence and anti-white feelings in his Sunday statement, calling for "massive" Negro responsibility in all walks of life. If Powell would become a spokesman for Negro progress through individual responsibility, he would make a real contribution to the civil rights problem that seems at the moment to be getting worse rather than better.

Break For The Hunters

The problem of the hunters and the property rights of farmers has been relieved somewhat under a new Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation provision.

It is granting an average $2.50 per acre subsidy to complying farmers. In return the farm land is open to public access during the hunting season.

Thus far 382 farms have been so opened to Nebraska hunters, totaling in all 47,000 acres. The farms will be posted under the cropland adjustment program and hunters may use it subject to reasonable restrictions of the Nebraska State Game Commission.

This could develop into a great break for the hunters, who more and more have been feeling the pinch of land closed to hunting by the owners. Good sportsman behavior can increase the new open acres substantially. But careless hunting and damage to installations and injury to livestock can ruin the program.

The day of open hunting range, which so long prevailed in this middle western region has about had its day. The new program is one that can both encourage game and keep hunting land open to the rank and file. With cooperation both from the landowner and the hunter there is no reason why this new venture cannot open a better day for the outdoorsman.

Shoring Up Downtown

The Lincoln Downtown Development Corporation has directed its energies toward a program of self-improvement. The organization has hired a full-time director to pursue its objectives—improved parking and continued commercial strength.

These are the two things with which the corporation should be concerning itself. The downtown area has a number of built-in advantages but these are not sufficient in themselves to insure perpetuity.

The University of Nebraska downtown is a big advantage as is the presence of facilities for large numbers of service and professional people. Downtown has the largest core of people to draw upon of any retail business center in the city but still it could find itself in a declining competitive situation.

To make use of these retail facilities, it is essential that people be able to park conveniently and at no expense. We did not say little expense, but no expense. Parking must be plentiful and free if downtown is to meet the challenge of modern and rapidly developing commercial centers in the suburbs.

Of course, downtown's commercial or retail base must be retained. That means that merchants downtown must stay there, not move out of downtown and into the newer shopping centers. This is a large order because it involves the availability of normally expensive land as well as a trend toward the suburbs.

The corporation will not find either job an easy one but it will succeed if, as is now indicated, it realizes that it must. In its efforts, it should receive the enthusiastic support of city government and the people of Lincoln in general. All of us have a substantial interest in downtown as a tax-producing center and any serious erosion of its valuation would be a blow to the entire city.

The Seeds Of Failure

President L. B. Johnson asked Congress for $1.75 billion to run his anti-poverty program through the current 12 months.

Last week House action seemed to comply. It authorized a budget of $1.75 billion, nominally supporting the program.

But an understanding of congressional procedures shows that an authorizatoon only sets metes and bounds to actual spending. Funds are appropriated under later money measures. The upshot may be that the program will get $1.75 billion or something less, perhaps a great deal less.

But the damage to the program was done in the fine print, some of which could constitute failure of the program. There are more ways to kill a cat then stuffing butter down its throat.

One such is the lower limitations on salaries of the operators of the program. Pay increase limitations of 20 percent have been levied on all earning $6,000 or more in the program. This virtually assures pedestrian leadership. There are not very many men who have the rare and peculiar faculty of getting successful results from a massive endeavor. Because of their rarity they come high. One would not expect General Electric or U.S. Steel to employ as president a man they could get for $6,000 a year. But apparently that is about what we are going to expect of the nation's anti-poverty program.

Another serious blow was struck in reducing the care and educational and social budget which will limit the cost of training the unemployed at $7,500 a year. It has been $9,100. Poorer training will mean a poorer product and is a strong invitation to failure.

Whether the program is realistic or not it can only succeed by doing an adequate job under adequate leadership. If it fails for dollar shortage and unreasonable limitations we had better not embark on it, if there is any other answer.

But life is a bundle of fictions. The Congress is willing to pay $2.75 billion a month for a speculative war in Viet Nam but only $1.75 billion a year to solve a serious social and economic imbalance in our domestic society, involving infinitely more people than are in our whole defense establishment.

Gromyko Acted To Bail Out U.S.

WASHINGTON — When Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko sits down to dinner with President Johnson in their hands will be the question of peace in Southeast Asia or the risk of World War III.

They will not be sitting down as strangers; rather as two shrewd negotiators who came to Washington about the same time. It was when Lyndon Johnson was a young congressman from Texas that Andrei Gromyko came to work four blocks from the White House in the 16th Street mansion built by Mrs. George Pullman, widow of the Pullman car executive.

Gromyko, a young Soviet secretary, grew up in these capitalist surroundings, featuring gold candelabra and red satin wall coverings; came to know the politics of the USA not as well as Johnson, but its foreign policies perhaps better.

He knew in the 1960 election, however, not to criticize Nixon or it might defeat Kennedy. I know because in October, 1960, I talked to Gromyko about it. He also knew in 1963-64 not to do anything that might rock the political boat for Lyndon Johnson and elect Goldwater. And he knows right now that Johnson is handicapped in making foreign policy moves until after the November elections.

☆ ☆ ☆

The Russians, though they don't agree with American politics, understand politics and are practical people. Twice in the past they have rescued the United States or the West from embarrassing impasses. Once was in 1954 when Foreign Minister Molotov, Gromyko's predecessor, helped call the Geneva conference to get France and indirectly the United States — which had been financing France — out of the Indo-China mess.

The second was in 1961-62, when Khrushchev deliberately helped President Kennedy pull his chestnuts out of the fire in Laos where we had become overextended and hopelessly bogged down.

So the big question is: will Gromyko help bail us out of Viet Nam, where we have 317,000 troops involved in a war that may last eight to ten years, which is undermining the Johnson administration, causing serious inflation and alienating our friends in Asia and our allies in Europe?

On the surface this is a situation which should make Gromyko and his chiefs in the Kremlin rub their hands with glee. But political recrimination isn't as important in this case as the bitter gulf developing between Russia and Red China and the Russian desire for peace.

They know that the USA and USSR today can control the peace of the world.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Campaigns Fail To Touch Issues

WASHINGTON—One of the oddest election campaigns in America's political history will falter to an uncertain end in four weeks. It has been a peculiar campaign because the deep underlying concerns and discontents have found so little expression in the give-and-take of campaign oratory.

The war in Viet Nam, the growing hostility between Negroes and whites, crime and violence—these nagging worries have been muffled. The candidates are talking about effects rather than causes.

The Democrats stress prosperity, the Republicans hit at high prices and high interest rates. The cause, in the swelling expenditures for the Viet Nam war, gets only incidential attention.

The outcome on Nov. 8, if a confusion of predictions is a measure, is equally uncertain. The loss of Democratic seats in the House ranges from a cautious forecast in the neighborhood of 30 to Sen. Everett McKinley Dirksen's proud claim of 75. Any change in the Senate is likely to be no more than two or three seats either way, with the present Democratic majority of 66 to 34 left intact.

This reporter leans to the cautious forecast while recognizing that some profound subsurface upheaval could blow all the prognosticators out of the water. A loss of 30 Democratic seats, and this is roughly the figure which in private knowledgeable Republicans give, would be less than the normal attrition after the Johnson landslide of 1964. It could be claimed as a Democratic victory, although a loss on that scale would put a roadblock in the way of the Johnson great society programs.

If Democratic losses are comparatively small it will not be hard to find the reasons. First and foremost is the massive power that goes with control of the executive branch of government and with large Democratic majorities in the Senate and House.

Increasingly, with huge spending by the federal government — conspicuously the $60 billion for the Department of Defense — this power can hardly be exaggerated.

First-term Democrats in marginal seats have benefited by a constant flow of post offices, rehabilitation projects, government contracts of various kinds, dams and harbor dredging, in other words, the pork barrel has been full to overflowing.

The crop of first-termers out of '64 were in many instances exceptionally able. They knew how to take advantage of the favors passed out by Washington and if they didn't they were coached by Vice President Hubert Humphrey and others. Humphrey has played a leading part in co-operative efforts to line up support for hard-pressed Democrats in both Senate and House.

☆ ☆ ☆

LA VERNA HASSLER

Patchwork Prairie Country

The night comes very fast now at this time of year. It reached the gate of the corral just as I went past. Up in the barn the pigeons were cooing their good-night vespers. I heard the soft flutter of wings as they moved and settled again and again before finding a final place to roost. Soon all the ruffled feathers were silenced and I knew their heads were tucked snugly under their wings.

I heard, too, the soft purring of the kittens as they followed one behind the other to find their hiding place among the bales of hay. I stopped to hear what they were saying but all I caught was a piece of soft purring saying something over and over again. Purrr . . . haps it was not meant for me to understand.

A crow swooped by, visible only because he was several shades blacker than the oncoming night. He alighted in a nearby tree, amid a great flutter of wings. Other crows had already settled for the night and resented the late-comer. Soon their raspy back-talk came to a close and the dark shadows settled through the treetops.

In the corner of the gate, a spider worked diligently to complete its web. The death trap for some unsuspecting moth was meticulously spun and barely visible in the gray shadows. I knew as darkness settled some insect would fly into the mesh of webs

One by one the notes of the crickets grew into a steady hum in the grass. Their serenade to the night grew in intensity as the night progressed.

I hurried into the house, glad to feel the warmth of the kitchen meet me as I opened the door. The chill of the evening air had penetrated deeper than I thought.

Every night I wonder if frost will come. The roses are blooming again and I would like to see the last four or five buds open into full blown roses before they are nipped by a freeze. Roses in the fall are as welcome as those in the early summer. Knowing the blooming season is of short duration in autumn makes each rose more beautiful. Giving up the last rose to the frost is saying good-bye to the old season.

I have been rather smug and boastful to The Farmer since I have found a recipe for making pie crust with a commercial cooking oil, or salad oil, as it is also called. In the past years I have made pie crust with lard, always certain there was no other best way to make a tender, flaky crust. Then I came upon a recipe using oil and milk instead of lard. There is no more crumbling the flour and lard together until it looks like cornmeal. It is rolled between pieces of waxed paper so there is no counter-top covered with flour to be cleaned up after the crusts have been made. It only takes a jiffy to make and I am quite satisfied with the tender pie crusts.

I have no excuse now for not baking pies unless it should come because of a broken arm as a result of patting myself on the back after taking a pie from the oven with a "melt-in-the-mouth crust."

It almost looked as if it could snow one morning recently. The dark blue-black clouds hugged the farm with a somber foreboding and the wind had a winter-chill. I would not have been at all surprised to see big feathery snowflakes fall through the sky.

Perhaps the sky is the best guide to a changing season. Spring has its own vibrant blue, clear as a looking glass. Autumn has its dark navy blue mixed with grays. Winter has its own heavy, rolling clouds of gray, low slung and dreary.

The winds, too, are different as the seasons change one to another. A spring zephyr is light and airy as a bubble. An autumn wind is chill and filled with the scents of drying seed pods and grass. A winter wind is eerie and cold. It whistles around the corners and tells of a snowstorm coming from the distant north. Almost, but not quite, it seemed the wind had a warning note as it blew in with the dark clouds.

Two Pauls

Bennet, Neb.

There's a fellow named Harvey, his given name is Paul, and he's due for a tumble, as sure as you're tall.

No doubt he's a smart one for he sure handles words, but his political talks are all for the birds.

Now, he's not for the "peace-nicks," as he calls them of late. He's all for the eating but still save the cake.

Twenty centuries ago another man, Paul, rode astride of his high horse when he too took a fall. But when he met the hard earth, his vision did clear and his eyes they did open and he saw far and near. And he learned at that moment when his high horse did stumble that to pass through the gate, one needs to be humble.

And today that same Paul of long years ago is watching and waiting for the Pauls here below. But it makes his heart sad as he watches their stride, for some might not make it because of their pride.

Curtis Film

Lincoln, Neb.

I was shocked to see the Carl Curtis film on television the other night with that portion depicting children clapping. As everyone knows, that portion of the film was a ruse; that the children were asked to clap before the senator had spoken to them; and that the children were asked not to tell their parents about the matter.

Last spring the school committee said it would protest the matter, that of using children for partisan political purposes. But it never did. They said that portion of the film depicting our local children clapping would be deleted. It was not.

I think this is nasty business, and as one whose son was in the auditorium that day, I protest very much that he has been used to help Senator Curtis gain re-election to a post he has no qualifications to hold.

Legal Fees

Lincoln, Neb.

The final article in a Star series leaves a question in my mine. What possible relationship could there be between the size of an estate and the fees charged by lawyers? It's like a cancer surgeon setting his fee by the size of the tumor he excises.

It is not logical to assumo that the larger the estate, the more complex it is; therefore, the fee schedule seems to be an impudent gouge by lawyers in many cases. Actually probate and administration are the simplest and least professional jobs that lawyers do—nearly any intelligent layman could do this work if he were permitted to do it—and the per-hour profits must be fantastic.

Drafting and executing a will need not be expensive? As little as $25? That happens to be two or even three days pay for most Nebraskans. I note from studying the outrageous fee schedule The Star quotes that the poor pay more percentage-wise than the rich do. The rich would not stand for the kind of treatment that the poor accept meekly. The bar association knows this and has set fees accordingly.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Athletic Elders Splendid Examples For Others

By ROBERT PETERSON

A lot of elders pride themselves on keeping in trim and engaging in feats of considerable physical demands. They not only benefit from their assorted exercises, but set a splendid example for their contemporaries.

I've never forgotten my long ago interview with 91-year-old Henry Torrance of New York who exercised regularly so that each summer he could fulfill his annual goal of paddling the length of Lake George in his canoe.

Then there was Mrs. Freda Bourne in her 80s, who was still taking two strolls a year from Providence, R.I., to Boston, Mass., and back again — a round trip of some 80 miles.

In the tradition of these hardy souls is Prof. Edwin H. Paget, a speech professor at North Carolina State University in Raleigh. He's in his 60s but has climbed Pikes Peak in Colorado 175 times during the last six years. This past summer he climbed it 24 times.

Eager to learn more, I contacted Prof. Paget who tells me he became interested in exercise and its role in health a score of years ago. He said he had noted terrible waves of fatigue and exhaustion, and began wondering if a daily regime of exercise might help.

"I found that regular exercise was what I needed," he said, "and began getting at least an hour of strenuous activity daily.

"As a young man I had climbed Pikes Peak a few times, so I decided to see if I was still equal to it. Apparently my daily exercises paid off, for I found I still had the strength to climb it. This triggered my belief that if we exercise regularly we may well get stronger with the passing years.

"Climbing Pikes Peak several times each summer has now become routine, and I wish I could interest others along in years to join me. I'd like to see established a national center for physical fitness where people could come and study various ways of keeping fit."

Prof. Pagent doesn't think much of the pace at which golf is ordinarily played. In an attempt to zip up the game he has founded a National Speed Golf Tournament held annually at the Garner Country Club in Raleigh, N.C. To participate, a player must be able to play an 18 hole golf course of at least 6,200 yards in less than 53 minutes of actual playing time — the minimum time required to qualify.

The late news commentator H. V. Kaltenborn would have approved of speeding up golf. He once told me that he gave up golf in his 40s, in favor of tennis. Golf, he said, wasn't much better than a leisurely stroll across a country meadow and gave the body none of the brisk shaking up required for health and longevity. He must have known what he was talking about for he lived to be 90.

There's little doubt that we need to stimulate folks along in years to get some brisk exercise daily. By using our muscles and stimulating the blood circulation, we retard the bodily lethargy and organic deterioration which comes from too much food and too much sitting around.

If you would like a booklet "Exercises for Folks Past 40" write to Robert Peterson, "Life Begins at Forty," c/o The Lincoln Star enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents to cover handling costs.

Swanson's Candidacy Is Legal, Meyer Says

By Associated Press

Atty. Gen. Clarence A. H. Meyer said Monday State Railway Commissioner Wayne Swanson's nomination for state treasurer does not violate the State Constitution.

Democratic State Chairman John Mitchell of Kearney said last week that if Swanson, a Republican, is elected to the treasurer's post, the election might be challenged on a contention that the constitution prohibits a railway commissioner, while in office, from seeking another elective position.

Swanson's term on the Railway Commission expires in 1968.

Article LV, Section 2 of the State Constitution states that "none of the officers mentioned in this article shall be eligible to any other state office during the period for which they have been elected . . ." The Railway Commission is mentioned in Section 20 of the same article.

Meyer, also a Republican, said he has told railway commissioners seeking other elective posts in the past that the constitutional restriction does not apply to them.

He said the constitutional restriction against certain officers running for other posts during their term in office has been in the constitution since 1875.

He said voters authorized creation of the Railway Commission in 1906 but did not specify where the Railway Commission section should be placed so it was added to Article IV.

"The people didn't put that section in Article IV," Meyer said. "It was placed there by the printer because of lack of a better place to put it, and a printer cannot determine a person's eligibility to office."

Compromise Ends Reservist Dispute

Washington (AP) — House and Senate negotiators compromised Monday in their dispute over presidential authority to call up military reservists.

The dispute has delayed final congressional action on the $58 billion defense appropriations bill.

But neither Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., nor Rep. George Mahon, D-Tex., leaders of the Senate and House groups, would disclose terms of the agreement.

Public Later

Mahon said details will be made public when the conference committee report is filed in the House, probably Tuesday.

"It's not altogether satisfactory, but it's better than nothing," Russell said of the compromise.

Russell sponsored the Senate plan, which was tacked onto the appropriations bill, to give the president authority to call up as many as 467,000 reservists to bolster U.S. military manpower for the war in Viet Nam.

House's Separate Bill

The House passed separate legislation, covering about 197,000 active reservists who are not now assigned to reserve units.

Both versions waive the requirement that the president declare a national emergency to summon reservists. Each would run for two years.

Increase In Hanoi Air Power Noted

Saigon (AP) — U.S. military sources said Monday North Viet Nam's air force, while still not a significant power, is increasing in size. The latest intelligence indicates Hanoi has about 100 MIG fighters.

The new estimate indicates that the Soviet Union and possibly Red China have replaced North Viet Nam's combat losses and beefed up the forces since last spring, when the best guess was that 75 MIGs were on hand.

The MIGs have been appearing more frequently south of Hanoi in recent weeks. Previously they had been confined primarily north, northwest and northeast of Hanoi and in the Haiphong area.

The increasing MIG activity heightens the possibility that the United States may attack the communist air bases.

As one officer put it: "If they keep shooting at us, we probably will have to do something about it."

The latest encounter with MIGs came Sunday when Navy pilots flying propeller-driven Skyraiders downed one MIG and damaged a second, and a jet Crusader felled another.

Job Picture Bright Except For Negroes

Washington (AP) — The nation's job picture continued bright for most Americans except Negroes last month and the unemployment rate dipped to 3.8%, the Labor Department said Monday.

Commissioner Arthur M. Ross of the Bureau of Labor Statistics said the prospect is good the rest of this year for continued high employment and a low jobless rate, except for Negroes and unskilled workers.

Total nonfarm payroll employment rose 400,000 to 64.9 million, a record for September. And factory workers' average wages went up 4 cents to a high of $2.74 per hour.

The bureau said the total number of unemployed dropped by 350,000 to 2.6 million in September, bringing the jobless rate down from 3.9% to the civilian labor force in August.

Officials Can't Ask Funds For Income Tax

The state tax commissioner's office said Monday it will not include any funds for income tax administration in its initial budget request for the 1967-69 biennium.

William Peters, attorney for the tax commissioner, said the successful referendum petition drive to force a November vote on the 1965 income tax law prevents state officials from taking any action to prepare for the income tax.

If the 1965 law survives the election test next month, the tax commissioner's office will file a supplemental request for funds to administer the tax, Peters said.

The 1965 Legislature appropriated $635,000 in state funds to prepare for administering the new law, and only a few thousand dollars were spent before the initiative drive suspended the law.

Prof. Gaver To Address Confab

Prof. Mary Gaver, president of the American Library Association, will speak at the 68th annual convention of the Nebraska Library Association at the Lincoln Hotel Oct. 20 and 21.

The theme of the convention will be "Centennial Eve: Planning for the Next 100 Years." Professor Gaver, of Rutgers University, New Brunswick, N.J., will speak on cooperative library planning for school library development.

Other plans for the program include a look at future developments and needs in public libraries, planning a study on regional library systems, library education and a review of federal legislation for libraries and library interaction.

U.S. Bombing Halt Urged To Pave Way For Talks

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — Communist and neutral nations pressed Monday for an end to U.S. bombing of North Viet Nam as a means of breaking the deadlock on peace talks. A British peace plan got a promise of careful U.S. consideration.

Poland and Sweden were among the nations suggesting in the U.N. General Assembly that a stop to the bombing might open a door to negotiations.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg conferred privately with British Foreign Secretary George Brown on Britain's six-point plan which Brown is expected to present formally to the Assembly Tuesday.

Goldberg said afterward the United States was giving "very thoughtful consideration" to the British proposals and expressed hope that this "sober consideration will be matched by equally thoughtful consideration in Hanoi and other capitals."

Hanoi has spurned the British plan, and also has rejected the appeal by Pope Paul VI for an end to the hostilities. But Western diplomats said they would continue efforts to get the Viet Nam war to the negotiating table.

State Educational TV Commission Meets Tuesday

Revision of program submission and acceptance procedures will be a major topic on the agenda when the Nebraska Educational Television Commission meets at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday in Room 2414 of the State Capitol.

Reports from network in-school programming agencies, the Nebraska Council for Educational Television, Inc., and the Metropolitan Omaha Educational Broadcasting Association on expanded services in the new academic year will also be heard.

Other items on the agenda include a quarterly review of the commission's budget and reports on coverage being provided by the two new stations, KPNE-TV, Channel 9, North Platte, and KTNE-TV, Channel 13, Alliance. The meeting is open to the public.

ELECTIONS—1966

Two-Term Limit For Governor Proposed On Ballot

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Constitutional amendments which would limit the governor to two consecutive terms, permit elected executive state officials to seek the governorship during their terms of office and hike payments to state senators will appear on next month's general election ballot.

Among other proposed amendments are two legislative reapportionment proposals and a measure providing procedures for removing or retiring judges from office.

All six amendments were placed on the ballot by action of the 1965 Legislature.

Amendment 9, proposed by the Unicameral on a 38-10 vote, would limit the governor to two consecutive four-year terms. He could seek election again four years after the completion of his second term.

Three Terms

Nebraska has elected four governors, including Frank Morrison, to three consecutive terms—but the length of gubernatorial terms prior to the 1966 election was two years. No Nebraska governor has served in office for eight years.

Amendment 1, which won 42-3 legislative endorsement, would eliminate the present constitutional ineligibility of elected state executive officers to seek other state offices during their terms.

If approved, the amendment would permit the secretary of state, auditor, treasurer and attorney general to be candidates for governor — or any other state office—during their elected terms.

(There is some legal dispute over whether the amendment also applies to members of the State Railway Commission, or whether commissioners are now covered by the present constitutional prohibition. Railway Commissioner Wayne Swanson, whose term extends until 1969 is the Republican nominee for state treasurer.)

The amendment would also permit the lieutenant governor to seek state offices other than governor. A 1962 amendment previously freed the lieutenant governor to be a candidate for governor during his elected term.

Travel Expenses

Amendment 2, approved by the Legislature on a 39-8 count, would provide state senators with round trip travel expenses home once a month while the Unicameral is in session and per diem expenses for each legislative day, not exceeding 120 legislative days (about six months) per session.

Senators now receive expenses for only one round trip home each session and no per diem (meals-lodging) allowance.

The amount of per diem pay would be established by the Legislature (perhaps at a special session after the election) if voters approve the amendment.

Amendment 7, which gained 43-0 legislative approval would create an 11-member Commission on Judicial Qualifications composed of seven judges, two members of the Nebraska Bar Assn., and two laymen to consider complaints against judges.

Removal Of Judges

The Commission could recommend removal of judges for misconduct failure to perform their duties habitual intemperance conviction of a crime involving moral turpitude or disbarment or retirement because of physical or mental disability of a permanent nature.

Recommendations would be submitted to the State Supreme Court which would review the proceedings and make the final determination.

Two legislative reapportionment changes are proposed in Amendment 13, which won 35-7 legislative approval.

The first change would require redistricting of the Legislature after each federal decennial census. The constitution now contains permissive, rather than mandatory, language providing that the Legislature "may redistrict the state from time to time, not more than once in 10 years."

The second change protects the four-year terms of senators whose districts are reapportioned in the midst of their terms. Those senators would continue in office and the Legislature would specify what new district each would represent for the balance of his term.

Interest Pleases Candidate's Wife

Mrs. Philip C. Sorensen, who last Thursday began a series of coffee hours to campaign for her husband, Democratic gubernatorial nominee, says she is "pleased by the interest shown."

Mrs. Sorensen is scheduled to visit 60 communities in two weeks.

Other visits scheduled this week:

Tuesday — Hershey, Wellfleet, Paxton, Grant and Big Springs.

Wednesday — Oshkosh, Dalton. Potter and Kimball.

Thursday — Morrill, Minatare, Bayard and Bridgeport.

Broad Scientific Research Base Vital—Sorensen

Such a research base would "help secure national assistance in the development of scientific research and aid the growth of industry," he declared in remarks prepared for a Dundee Kiwanis Club meeting.

The Democratic candidate for governor noted that Nebraska now has the second highest literacy rate in the nation and ranks among the top 10 states in percentages completing both elementary and high school. He urged "building on this base for a strong future."

Diesels In Operation

Dacca, East Pakistan (AP)—Eighteen new American diesel locomotives — 14 bought with a U.S. loan of $8.7 million and four with U.S. aid—went into service this week in East Pakistan. The total of American locomotives in East Pakistan now is 102. The oil burners help cut down consumption of coal, which Pakistan imports from Red China.

State Service To Suggest Changes

State Administrative Services Director Willard Townsend said Monday his department will draft specific remedial recommendations for the next Legislature to consider for enactment.

Townsend said the suggestions, though only in idea form now, will help "smooth out" the rough road his department has traveled since its creation in 1965.

"We hope to have a series of recommendations that will be clarifications," he said. "In some cases it is evident certain activities need to be repealed."

Administrative Services is charged with the state's new accounting procedures. It also serves as an overseer of the newly installed computer system.

Townsend said the Legislature tacked on certain amendments to the bill establishing his department which are unrealistic under actual operation.

He said the recommendations should be completed for both the Legislative Council's Executive Board and Interim Budget Committee when the council meets in full membership Nov. 14 and 15.

Two Brothers Charged In Sheryl Cummings' Slaying

Santa Monica, Calif. (UPI) —Two brothers were being held Monday in the slaying of secretary Sheryl Cummings whose body was discovered nearly two months after she disappeared.

Earlier police had booked Donald on suspicion of murder in connection with the death of the attractive 22-year-old secretary. She was formerly a student at the University of Nebraska and was a native of South Dakota.

Donald led authorities to the body Friday. She was found concealed under heavy brush near a tunnel in the Santa Monica mountains.

Homicide Lt. James Hamilton of the Los Angeles sheriff's office said the Davis brothers had been arrested for questioning about a burglary. Detectives said Donald then admitted having knowledge of the murder and led them to the body.

House-SenateConferenceCommittee Approves Power Line Appropriation

Washington (AP) — Nebraska Sens. Roman Hruska and Carl Curtis reported through their Washington offices Monday that the House-Senate conference committee has approved an appropriation of $450,000 for the start of the 345-KV transmission line from Fort Thompson, S.D., to Grand Island.

This amount was $50,000 less than had been asked for the big power line, but the Nebraska Senators said in telegrams to Nebraska power leaders the appropriation will be sufficient for preliminary engineering and right-of-way for the $26 million power line project.

They noted that the bill includes language requiring the Bureau of Reclamation to go back to both houses of Congress for approval before extending the line beyond Grand Island. Power planners have envisioned extending the transmission southward to hook up with the Southwestern Power Pool providing an integrated grid system, which will make possible greater and less interruptible power supplies to Nebraska.

Milford Students Increase To 669

He said 77% of last year's graduates stayed in Nebraska.

He served a term for burglary and attempted escape at the state penitentiary at Raleigh, N.C., and a term for transporting a stolen car across state lines at the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga.

He then was returned to the Nebraska Penitentiary where he completed a burglary term and started serving a one-year term for the escape on July 22 of this year.

TALK around Town

No time for any verbal meandering this ayem — We have to hurry along with th news — We want to tell you that there are to be some guests from New York City in town for the game weekend — Mrs. John O. Ross, the former Mary Riepma of Lincoln — and Delta Gamman at the University of Nebraska. Mrs. Ross, who will be accompanied by Mrs. Margaret Speer, also of New York City, will be arriving either Thursday or Friday and they will find numerous courtesies waiting for them.

There is, for instance, a very small dinner on Friday evening complimenting Mrs. Ross. And on Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Arnott Folsom will be a pre-game host and hostess when they entertain at luncheon at the Lincoln Country Club in courtesy to the visitors. The guest list will include a group of Mrs. Ross' old friends.

• • •

Then we learned that Mrs. Ross and Mrs. Speer are to be included among the guests when Judge and Mrs. Hale McCown and Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Olson are hosts and hostesses at a post-game canape party at their penhouse apartments atop Sky Park Manor.

Later on Saturday Mrs. Ross and Mrs. Speer will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ellery Hall Davis at the Monday Night Club dinner dance at Hotel Cornhusker.

On the far side of the weekend Mrs. Ross, a highly successful attorney in New York City, and Mrs. Speer will take off for California — and business. But during her stay in town Mrs. Ross aims to plant a seed — She is hopeful that she may be able to inspire some enthusiasm for a reunion of her Delta Gamma class — next summer.

• • •

The members of a certain birthday club will be out and about today celebrating the anniversary of Mrs. Elsie Grainger Fullerton, whose birthday really was on Oct. 6.

Anyway, the group will be the luncheon guests of Mrs. Ralph Campbell at Hotel Cornhusker.

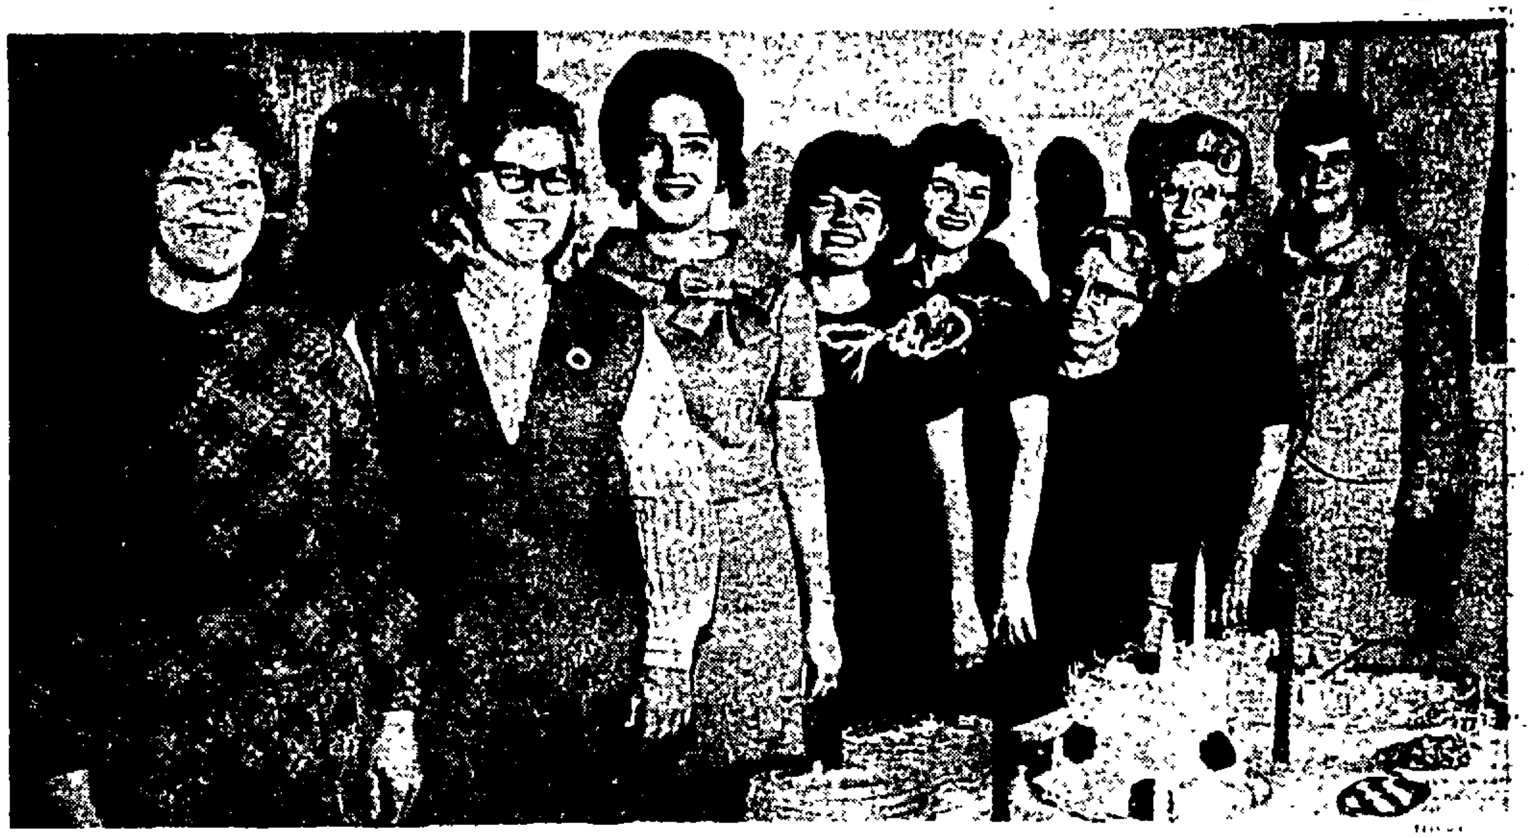
Sorority Alumnae

New pledges of the collegiate chapter of Pi Beta Phi will be guests Thursday evening when the Lincoln Alumnae will meet for a 7:15 o'clock dessert at the home of Mrs. Clifford Hardin, 41 The Knolls.

Chairman of the hostess committee for the evening will be Mrs. M. E. Whitehead.

FORMER

coed is shower honoree



An autumn visit with Lincoln friends was completed with a pre-nuptial courtesy for Miss Sharon Maule of Princeville, Ill., on Saturday evening. Miss Maule, a former student at the University of Nebraska, will become the bride of Donald Campbell of Lafayette, Ind., on Dec. 28 at Princeville, Ill.

Miss Maule is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs., Charles Maule of Princeville, Ill. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Campbell of Rensselaer, Ind., Mr. Campbell is doing graduate study at Purdue University in Lafayette, Ind.

Bouquets of chrysanthemums in autumn tones appointed the altar of the church of St. Mark's-On-The-Campus, Episcopal, on Saturday, Oct. 1, for the marriage of Miss Diana Dawn Barr, daughter of Mrs. Thelma Barr of Nebraska City, and of William J. Barr, New York City, to Dale William Sall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Sall of Holdrege. The service was solemnized at 7 o'clock by the Rev. George Peek.

The attendants, who wore Empire frocks of dark blue velvet and powder blue crepe, were Mrs. Gary Barrett of Nebraska City, as the matron of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Suzanne Hansen, Omaha, Miss Kay Jones, Nebraska City, and Miss Karen Sall, Atlanta.

Serving as best man was Bob Sall of Holdrege, and the ushers were Matt Beha and Duane Queen, Omaha; Gary Sall, Holdreye; Rick Sall, Atlanta; and Raymond Sall, Mullen.

The bride's period gown of white Chantilly lace was embroidered with iridescent sequins. The long-sleeved basque was designed with a scalloped, sabrina neckline, and the width of the skirt was emphasized by a back panel of lace-edged tiers of silk tulle which continued into a cotillion train. She wore an heirloom amethyst lavaliere, and her illusion veil was held by a circlet of jeweled illusion petals.

Mr. and Mrs. Sall will live in Holdrege. The bride is a former student at the University of Nebraska, from which Mr. Sall received his degree in engineering.

NEWS

While Orioles might be the favorite birds of the sports world in Baltimore this week (after their World Series victory) in Lincoln it seems that the stork is society's mascot. News of suburbia today includes the arrival of two of the Stork's most traditional bundles.

EASTBOROUGH

The first of the storks visits to the Merle J. Westerling residence in Eastborough left them tiny Tracey Allen. Tracey, the first of the Westling "nestlings," arrived home with his mother yesterday. Grandparents of the one-week-old baby are Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Kess, and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Westling, all of Lincoln.

The stork also has made new grandparents of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Schamp. The new arrival is Jeffery Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Schamp of Las Vegas, Nev.

Born Sunday, Oct. 9, Jeffery is anxiously awaited at home by his brothers Douglas and Gregory and sister, Susan Marie. Their mother is the former Noralee Dyer of Savanna, Ill.

TRENDWOOD

Visiting her son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. Gary Aksamit, for the past week has been Mrs. Lydia Morton of North Platte.

Planning to stay for a week or 10 days, Mrs. Morton arrived in Lincoln Monday, Oct. 3 for vacation, visiting and perhaps "a bit of babysitting."

KIMBERLY HEIGHTS

Former Lincoln residents Mr. and Mrs. Ray Dinges of Omaha were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Gabelhaus Friday night at the Hillcrest Country Club.

The reunion was prompted by the Dinges' plans to move to Seattle, Wash., as soon as Mr. Dinges has found a home for the family.

BETHANY PARK HEIGHTS

Tommy, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Zimmer, celebrated his birthday last Monday, October 4 with his grandfather, his parents, brother Steven, and sister Linette.

We Hear That

A visitor in Lincoln last week was Mrs. S. George Notaras of Indianapolis, Ind., who arrived Tuesday evening to spend several days as the guest of the collegiate chapter of Alpha Gamma Delta at Nebraska Wesleyan University. Mrs. Notaras serves as president of the sorority's Province X.

REAL ESTATE TIPS

Q. Our home has been rented and needs a lot of fixing to make it look decent. Couldn't we just sell it for less and let the buyer do the work himself?

A. In any condition, your home is worth whatever a buyer will pay for it. However, it will sell much faster if it's in SHARP condition.

ABBY: if your qualifications are up to par—call police

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am 22 and for the past year have been going with a married man of 44. He was nearly separated from his wife when I met him. He's a fine intelligent man, and we love each other very much. His wife is a shrew who has turned their four children against their father. Since she has foeund out about me she has been pestering my family with anonymous telephone calls and gossiping about me.

She has called me, too, and said some horrible things to me, calling me names, etc. She's also sent me hate cards. I know she'll eventually get sick of the way things are and will divorce him so he can marry me. But in the meantime, is there anything I can do to keep her from making my life so miserable?

BORN TO WIN

DEAR BORN: It is the right of every decent, law-abiding, respectable citizen to go about his daily business without fear of being harassed, intimidated or threatened. If you qualify, seek police protection.

DEAR ABBY: A teacher in a public school wanted to make an example of my son because he talked out of turn, so she put a piece of adhesive tape across his mouth. Well, Gilbert wasn't going to walk around school with that tape on his mouth all day, so he tore it off just as he was leaving her class.

And with it he tore off a piece of his lip. The principal had to rush Gilbert to a hospital to have six stitches put in his lip. What I want to know is, can we sue?

MRS. G.G.L.

DEAR MRS. L.: I have an agreement with the bar association. They won't write advice columns and I won't practice law. But they have allowed me to state that no one can prevent anyone else from suing. Whether they can collect or not, is another matter. In the meantime, why not give the teacher a piece of YOUR lip!

CONFIDENTIAL TO "THE FALL GUY" IN AUBURN, N.Y.: Let it go. No man of stature ever demands an apology.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♥	Pass	1 NT	Pass
2 NT	Pass	3 NT

Opening lead — king of spades.

The secret of good play is the ability to figure out how the unseen cards are divided. Once you know the distribution of the missing cards, your task is relatively easy.

If you are a defender, your knowledge of declarer's hand will usually come mostly from his bidding. Generally he will have described his hand to some extent during the bidding, and any additional information you may need to pinpoint his values will ordinarily come from either your partner's plays or from declarer's choice of plays.

For example, suppose you have the East hand and partner leads the king of spades—on which you play the deuce and declarer the six. West continues with the ten, which South wins with the ace.

Right at this point, if you bother to think about the matter, you can predict the outcome of the hand. You should pretty much know declarer's hand, and you should also know that he will eventually go down exactly one.

It is not difficult to pinpoint South's values. He has shown up with nothing in spades but the ace and he is also bound to have the ace of clubs, if the two bids he made are to be believed. There is nothing else left for him to have.

So when declarer leads a diamond at trick three and finesses the jack, you take it with the king and return the king of clubs!

This unusual play sinks declarer without a trace. Regardless of what he does, he winds up with only eight tricks.

But if you had not been paying attention to the bidding, or to the significance of your partner's play of the king of spades followed by the ten, you might not have made the key play of the king of clubs. You might have returned a low club, or some other silly card, and in that case declarer would wind up with a minimum of nine tricks.

PEO Meeting

A meeting for unaffiliated members of PEO in Lincoln will be held Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Roy J. Martin, 3125 W. Summit. The meeting will begin at 7:30 o'clock.

PTA Board

A meeting of the board of Saratoga PTA has been planned for Tuesday afternoon. The 2 o'clock meeting will be held in the teacher's lunchroom of the school.

Pros Finally Get Chance

Monday at Lincoln's Hillcrest Country Club and today at the Lincoln Country Club, Nebraska's golf pros are finally getting to swing a club somewhere other than on the teaching tee.

When they teed off on the first hole at Hillcrest Monday, these 20 to 30 pros had to feel somewhat like the small boy, who had just been allowed out of the house after being quarantined all summer.

He was able to look out the window to the vacant lot across the street and see other youngsters playing baseball. But he couldn't join in.

These golf pros, the club pros, are similar to that little boy. They can occasionally glance out of the pro shop window or look up from the teaching tee and see golfers chasing the little white pellet, but they seldom get to participate themselves—until fall when activity in the shop falls off.

Turn Pro, Quit Playing

How many times have you heard someone say of a top amateur golfer, "Why doesn't he turn pro? He's always on the course."

There's one very good reason why many amateurs choose to remain amateurs rather than turning to a pro career at a golf course—they wouldn't get to play nearly as much golf.

Few people who own a set of golf clubs get to play less golf than a club golf pro.

More Than A Golf Pro

These club pros playing in the Nebraska PGA Tournament are more than golfers—by demand.

He has to be a discerning judge, being able to hear two distorted views of what actually happened from two of his members and be able to render a decision that could decide the $2 nassau.

He has to have the patience of a kindergarten teacher, being able to have a member tell him, "But Jack said I should hold it this way," and still keep his composure while trying to straighten out that member's slice.

He has to be as cool as a pilot with one engine on fire, being able to listen calmly while John tells him the pin placement on No. 11 is lousy and while Matilda blames him for putting a fence up between the fairway and where her drive landed.

At many clubs, he is a janitor one minute, a mechanic fixing an electric cart the next, and a carpenter the next, repairing the bridge across the creek.

Early Beginning, Late Ending

The club pro's day begins somewhere between 5 and 8 a.m., depending on the nature of his members, and ends well after sundown.

He is normally on the scene when the first golfer tees off and is still there after the last golfer has run in his final putt.

While the members are at the 19th hole improving their lies, the club pro is in the pro shop figuring out who won the blind bogey, who was closest to the flag with his eighth shot on the 16th hole and who gets the booby prize for having hit the most balls into the lake at No. 12.

The club pro must be all of these things, sometimes going for several days without being on his own golf course, and still be able to go out and shoot par golf to keep his respect with club members.

If he goes away to a tournament such as the one being conducted now in Lincoln and comes back with a pair of 77s, he's sure to hear from members, who shot the same course in 73 several weeks ago.

The only differences, which the pro dare not mention, are that the member has been playing every day since the snow melted, the tee markers were in the middle and the pin placements were in easy positions.

A club golf pro is a golfer only a few days out of the year. Monday and today are two of them.

Wisconsin 'Rabbit Trick' Good Entertainment

. . . DEVANEY CREDITS HUSKER DEFENSIVE UNIT

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Wisconsin received two pats on the back from Nebraska football coach Bob Devaney at Monday's Extra Point Club Quarterback Luncheon — one for its choice of pre-game entertainment and another for its football team.

"That rabbit trick of theirs was far superior to Iowa State's bomb," Devaney said, referring to the bomb that exploded on the field at Ames, Iowa, a week ago and to the rabbit that cavorted on the Wisconsin gridiron through much of the first half Saturday.

"If we're going to have that type of entertainment each week, I'd have to say, Wisconsin's rabbit trick was in much better taste than that bomb," the Husker coach continued. "That rabbit gained quite a bit of ground in the first half."

Devaney also jokingly blamed the rabbit for Wisconsin's lone score — a field goal.

"Our defensive players are very tender hearted," he explained, "And they were looking out for that rabbit so they wouldn't step on him."

The Wisconsin rabbit was the second time this season the Huskers have encountered relatives of Bugs Bunny.

Earlier this fall in a practice session, a group of baby rabbits were discovered on the practice field and the Huskers shifted their drills to avoid hurting the animals.

Devaney also credited Wisconsin with "the best all - around running and passing game we have faced this year."

Explaining that his Huskers had played their best game of the year in whipping Wisconsin, 31-3, Saturday, Devaney also gave them credit for doing it against a sound football team.

"You couldn't say that we beat them, 31-3, because they were a bad football team," Devaney pointed out. "They (Wisconsin) were good enough to beat Iowa at home and they played unbeaten Southern California good until the final quarter.

"When you hit a player like Langston Coleman hit John Ryan," Devaney explained, "You're going to cause them to fumble. And our pass interceptions were a result of our linebackers and defensive backs being in position.

"Once again, we were able to prevent the home run both on the ground and in the air. And our offense carried its share of the load.

"This was our best overall game. Our defense played as well as it has all year and the offense was better. Our offense was able to control the ball which helped the defense."

Defensively, Devaney credited Jim McCord with playing his best game of the season and indicated Barry Alvarez would see more action in future games.

Alvarez, a linebacker, was in on eight tackles and intercepted a pass in his brief appearance against the Badgers although in running back the interception, he looked like a man trying to carry a large banner against a high wind.

"Offensively our line with the exception of one man was definitely improved," Devaney said. "Gary Brichacek was as good or better than at any other time."

Richnafsky Out With Ankle Injury

Nebraska will be playing its next three to four games without two of its early season starters with split end Dennis Richnafsky joining halfback Ron Kirkland on the injury shelf.

Richnafsky, the Huskers' leading pass receiver with 12 catches for 121 yards, suffered a hairline fracture of the ankle in Saturday's win over Wisconsin.

NU trainer Paul Schneider said Richnafsky's foot will be in a cast for two weeks and another week will be required for rehabilitation.

"It is a painful type of injury but it is not as bad as a serious sprain," Schneider said Monday. "Once a hairline fracture heals, it heals well and there are no injured ligaments to contend with."

Husker coach Bob Devaney also revealed Monday that Kirkland's knee would remain in a cast for two more weeks and he likely would not be ready for three weeks.

This would mean both Kirkland and Richnafsky will be out for the Kansas State, Colorado and Missouri games.

Devaney said Tom Penney, a sophomore from Augusta, Kan., would replace Richnafsky at split end on the top Husker unit. Penney has caught five passes for 77 yards this season.

Lincoln Swim Club Sets Tryout Date

Backlund Leads State PGA Tourney With 72

. . . PLAYS 'SCRAMBLING' GAME

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Merle Backlund, playing what he called, "the best scrambling round of my life," took the lead Monday in the Nebraska PGA Championship with a 72 over the Hillcrest Country Club course.

Backlund, pro at Grand Island's Riverside Golf Club, thus will enjoy a two-stroke edge over Lincoln Holmes Park pro John Young as the action shifts to the Lincoln Country Club for the final 18 holes today.

Defending champion Bud Williamson of the Lincoln Country Club and John Frillman of Omaha's Happy Hollow Country Club are four strokes back at 76 and Carl Faddis of Sidney, along with Bob Popp of the Omaha Country Club are at 77.

"Scrambling," was Backlund's reply to a query regarding a strong point in his game Monday. "It was the best scrambling I've ever done. I was just chipping and putting good.

"If I had been playing Firestone today, I'd have had a 90," he continued, referring to the Firestone Country Club in Akron, Ohio, where he and Williamson played as Nebraska's representatives in the National PGA Tournament the past summer.

Typical of Backlund's round was the opening hole, a 476-yard, par-5 which he birdied despite duck hooking his tee shot near the driving range, then hitting a second shot far to the right across the fairway and nearly out of bounds before chipping close to the pin and sinking the putt for a four.

"I missed seven greens so that means I was seven under-par with putts," Backlund said in discussing the round.

His major problem was duck hooking his drives and after the fifth hole, he used a three-wood off the tee until he came to the par-5 18th where he grabbed the driver again and again duck hooked the tee shot.

Playing up the left rough, Backlund found himself faced with a delicate shot to the green to reach it in regulation. His approach was two feet from the hole for the birdie putt, giving him 72 and the lead.

Going to the tight, tree-lined Lincoln Country Club with a duck hook could be trouble for the Grand Island pro and former Lincoln High athlete. So what do you do?

"I'll use irons or maybe a 4-wood on those first four holes at least," Backlund replies.

Young, who trails by only two, could have been even closer had he not three-putted the 18th green for a bogey moments after Backlund had gotten his birdie to account for the two strokes difference.

Williamson, who had made the nine-hole turn in 36, one stroke ahead of Backlund, blew his chance for a share of the lead when he three-putted three straight greens on the back side, starting at No. 11 for three straight bogeys.

Frillman stayed in contention by getting an eagle-3 on the 544-yard 11th hole when he hit a drive and a 3-wood 10 feet from the hole and sank the putt.

Orioles' Boss Tabbed In AL

. . . AS MANAGER OF YEAR

New York (AP) — Hank Bauer, the former Marine who led the Baltimore Orioles to their first American League pennant and World Series victory, was named the circuit's Manager of the Year for 1966 Monday in the annual Associated Press poll.

Bauer was an overwhelming choice in the balloting by 380 baseball writers. He received 321 votes. Al Dark of Kansas City was second with 53 votes.

The Orioles led virtually throughout the season, clinching the pennant 10 days before the end of the campaign and finishing with a record of 97 victories and 63 defeats. They wound up nine games ahead of the second-place Minnesota Twins.

The former New York Yankee outfielder made a key personnel move before the season's opening, placing rookie Dave Johnson at second base. Jerry Adair, who had played that position for Baltimore in 1965, was later traded to the Chicago White Sox for Fisher.

Johnson turned out to be one of the club's most valuable members along with outfielder Frank Robinson, who won the triple crown, third baseman Brooks Robinson and rookie catcher Andy Etchebarren.

Bauer is 44 years old and a native of East St. Louis, Ill. He took over as Baltimore manager before the start of the 1964 season and the club finished third the next two years.

Dark, who managed San Francisco for four years, directed Kansas City to a surprising seventh place finish. The A's won 74 games and lost 86, placing ahead of Washington, Boston and New York.

Others who received votes were Gil Hodges of the Senators, 3, and Bill Rigney of California and the late Chuck Dressen and Frank Skaff of Detroit, one-each.

Skaff was the Tigers' interim manager after illness struck Dressen and Bob Swift. Dressen died of a heart attack two months ago.

—AURORA FACES TOUGH TEST—

Aurora, West Point Still Lead In B, C

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

Aurora and West Point, teams which have had little trouble producing touchdowns, continue to lead the Class B and C divisions of the Nebraska Prep Ratings.

Class B pacesetter Aurora pushed its scoring pace to 56.8 points a game as it stormed past outmanned Fullerton, 71-0, last week.

The Huskies, whose toughest test to date was a 20-7 triumph over seventh-ranked Cozad in the season opener, face their second major hurdle this week as they entertain sixth-rated York.

The improving Dukes, the 1965 ratings champion, have marched past three foes since losing to fifth-ranked David City in an error-filled opening game.

New in the No. 3 position is Holdrege, which handed Cozad a 14-7 whipping last week. Jess Keifer's Dusters settled for a 6-6 draw with Class A McCook in their opening game and were beaten 19-7 by Kearney, unbeaten and sixth-ranked in Class A.

Papillion gets a chance to prove itself this week as it tangles with Blair with the North Division Ak-Sar-Ben Conference playoff ticket at stake.

There is little change behind West Point in the Class C race. The games of note last week saw Class B Scribner hand Wisner its first loss and Newman Grove defeat Humphrey St. Francis in a battle of unbeatens.

Rushville and Grant, the western powers, continue to run 2-3 behind West Point with Newman Grove using its 18-0 whitewashing of Humphrey St. Francis to climb to No. 4.

Hooper hangs on to the No. 5 berth after a surprisingly close 27-20 win over Clarkson. Wisner tumbles to No. 6 after a 26-7 loss to Scribner.

North Platte St. Patrick, 12-7 winner over Class B Valentine, continues in the No. 7 spot with Republican Valley leader Oxford retaining the No. 8 position.

Falls City Sacred Heart, narrow 12-7 winner over Wymore, moves to No. 9 and Norfolk Catholic, a high-scoring outfit, enters the list as the No. 10 team.

—F. ROBINSON WINS CORVETTE—

Baltimore Celebration Is Wild

Baltimore (AP) — Staid old Baltimore slowly returned to normal Monday following a rousing celebration in honor of the city's first baseball World Series championship.

The Orioles, who had a difficult time convincing local fans they were even American League pennant contenders, took the top prize by completing an amazing four-game sweep over the Los Angeles Dodgers Sunday.

Soon after center fielder Paul Blair caught a fly ball for the last out, the celebrating began. It lasted well into Monday morning.

Thousands of persons swarmed through the downtown area. Torn paper was thrown from hotel windows. Cars roamed the streets in various sections of the city, with horns sounding and passengers waving pennants from the windows.

Even the City Hall clock became involved. It was rung 66 times in honor of the year the Orioles won the Series.

The Orioles threatened to make a runaway of the American League race until injuries slowed down their torrid pace. Still, Baltimore won by a comfortable nine-game margin.

The World Series opened with Baltimore an 8-5 underdog and closed with the Dodgers humiliated. The National Leaguers scored only two runs on 17 hits—both all-time Series lows—and were shut out for a record 33 consecutive innings.

While most observers thought the Dodgers would be too much for the Orioles to handle, out-fielder Frank Robinson of Baltimore thought Los Angeles would be the easiest of the National League contenders to beat.

"Everybody thought I was crazy when I picked the Dodgers over San Francisco and Pittsburgh," Robinson said Monday. "Now, I don't look so crazy.

"People kept saying I should know better," Robinson said. "They said Los Angeles would beat us with pitching and speed."

It was Robinson's theory that the Orioles would be involved in close games with the Dodgers, and one swing could decide the outcome.

Baltimore won the last two games 1-0, in just such a manner. Paul Blair's homer won the third game and Robinson clinched the title with a solo homer Sunday.

"This has been an amazing year all the way around, from beginning to end," Robinson said. "It's all been like a dream."

Robinson sparked the Orioles from the start. In his first time at bat, after being obtained in a trade with Cincinnati, the 31-year-old outfielder doubled in a spring training intrasquad game.

He homered in each of his first two games of the regular season to get the Orioles winging, and his two-run homer in the first inning of the opening World Series game took the pressure off the Orioles.

Robinson won the American League Triple Crown during the 1966 season and a new car as the outstanding player in the World Series. He seems a cinch to be named the league's Most Valuable Player.

Robinson, who was paid about $65,000 this year, was asked Sunday if he would be embarrassed to seek a six-figure salary next season.

"Embarrassed?" he said. "That's where we'll start.

Sheppard Hearing Rules Are Strict

Cleveland, Ohio (AP)—A judge assigned 13 seats to newsmen — none to out-of-town media—and laid down strict rules Monday for coverage of a hearing opening Wednesday on a motion to move Samuel H. Sheppard's second murder trial out of Cleveland.

Judge Francis J. Talty's four-page journal entry was distributed to newsmen who signed receipts for press credentials. The entry specified and the judge said the rules were to regulate and govern conduct of the change of venue motion hearing Wednesday.

The judge said nothing about application of the regulations to the trial, scheduled to begin Oct. 18 in his small Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court.

The 13 seats assigned by Judge Talty went to organizations involved in the day-to-day coverage of news of Cleveland courts: the Associated Press, the United Press International, the two daily newspapers, five radio stations and three television stations.

One of the 13 seats was allocated to the afternoon Cleveland Press during the morning and to the morning Plain Dealer for the afternoon session. Each also had one seat for all day.

The rules Talty laid down prohibited:

—Use of cameras, recording devices, or registering devices "within the courthouse premises by any person before or during any hearing session or at any recess or adjournment."

—The making of sketches in the courthouse.

—Installation of any telephone or teleprinter equipment not in operation on or before Sept. 30, when the building had only its normal facilities.

—Any blocking of corridors or other access ways used in regular courthouse businesss.

Talty's journal entry said it was "appropriate, indeed imperative, that the court enter an order which will assure an environment of calmness and solemnity and be protective of the rights of the parties, public, witnesses, officials and news and communications media."

The U.S. Supreme Court held last June 6 that Sheppard was depriced of a fair trial by prejudicial news accounts and courtroom commotion when he was convicted 12 years ago.

GOV. MORRISON WELCOMES AID RECRUITERS

Omaha (AP) — Gov. Frank Morrison Monday welcomed recruiters for the Agency for International Development to Nebraska Monday night.

"I know that all Americans want the war in Viet Nam to end as soon as possible and if we are going to end the war in Viet Nam as soon as possible it is necessary that we help the Vietnamese people create a stable, progressive society of their own," the governor said, adding:

"The AID program, in which these young men are engaged, is not a give away program. It is an attempt by the American people to furnish technical assistance to the Vietnamese people to help themselves build a stable society and stable government, for without this all of the sacrifices made by our soldiers is made in vain.

"This is an important program of the American people working through their government to help bring the war in Viet Nam to a speedy conclusion and in the words of former President Eisenhower "create a stable government in Southeast Asia and in South Viet Nam in particular."

Sooner QB Unanimous Back Of The Week

By Associated Press

Oklahoma quarterback Bob Warmack, who befuddled Texas with his passing, running and faking and gained a school record of 280 yards total offense, is the Big Eight Back of the Week by a unanimous vote.

He was the key men in an 18-9 Oklahoma victory, first by OU over Texas since 1957. Warmack, a slim and talented sophomore, was 10 years old the last time the Sooners beat Texas. He is 19 and from Ada, Okla.

Warmack completed 12 of 21 passes without an interception for 220 yards, ran for a net gain of 60 yards despite 29 yards in losses trying to pass, scored one touchdown and set up four field goals by OU rookie Mike Vachon, a conference one-game record.

"That little quarterback really hurt us with his faking and running," said Texas linebacker Joel Brame, a standout defender who made 15 tackles. "He really took us apart."

On one play Warmack faked a pass, Brame and two Texas linemen jumped, arms in the air, and Warmack scooted around them for a nice gain.

"Boy, did he make us look like a bunch of fools on that one," Brame said.

Warmack's faking to Ron Shotts on the OU touchdown drive was something to see. On one play, Texas tackled Warmack and Shotts went 22 yards. Then Texas tackled Shotts and Warmack kept the ball on his hip and circled end for the TD from the one-yard line.

On the first play of the second half, Oklahoma had the ball on its own 20, going into the wind. At the line, Warmack noticed Texas was in a blitz pattern and the safety had moved to cover Eddie Hinton, so he called a new play and threw a swing pass the other way to Ben Hart for 30 yards. OU went on to another field goal for a 12-3 lead.

Warmack's school total offense mark is noteworthy since Oklahoma has had several great backs over the years. He is 6-foot-2, 162 pounds, has been playing quarterback since age 7 and has never been hurt.

Other nominees were William Harris of Colorado with 109 yards rushing in 21 carries; Cornelius Davis of Kansas State 91 yards on 20 trips and two passes caught for 49; Harry Cheatwood of Oklahoma State, 11 tackles and two interceptions, last one at the OSU 22 spoiling Colorado's final bid; Harry Wilson of Nebraska, down to 198 pounds now, gained 86 including an 11-yard TD and caught a 25-yard pass; Larry Carwell of Iowa State, two pass interceptions for a Big Eight record of 123 yards, one a 75-yarder setting up the first TD; Ray Thorpe of Missouri, 93 yards rushing including a 67-yard sweep for the first TD; and defensive back Bill Hunt of Kansas with 14 tackles and a 32-yard interception.

Alworth's 28 Grabs Lead AFL

New York (AP) — Lance Alworth's 10 pass receptions in San Diego's losing cause against New York Saturday gave him the lead among American Football League pass receivers.

Alsworth now has a total of 28 catches good for 461 yards, an average of 16.5 yards per reception and four touchdowns. Alworth gained 149 yards on passes against the Jets, but New York won 17-16.

Jim Nance of Boston retained his rushing leadership with 437 yards gained in 100 carries for a 4.37 average and four touchdowns. Wray Carlton of Buffalo, is second with 337 yards in 81 carries for a 4.16 average.

K-State Loses Corr; Nossek Still Uncertain

Manhattan, Kan. (UPI)— Kansas State's football team has lost offensive guard Tom Corr for the season, coach Doug Weaver said Monday.

Corr, who has started at times this season, suffered a shoulder separation in Saturday's game against Missouri.

Weaver said Corr was the only Wildcat to be injured in the loss to the Tigers.

Quarterback Bill Nossek may play this week against Nebraska, according to Weaver.

"We plan to have him run on Tuesday. On Wednesday, we'll look at him and say yes or no," Weaver said. "If he makes the trip to Nebraska, he will play."

Peru Is Next Challenge For Undefeated Wayne

. . . CLASH TOP NCC GAME

By TOM HENDERSON
Star Sports Writer

Wayne College, fresh from a 10-6 victory over Kearney last week, won't get any rest again this Saturday as the Wildcats host Peru in their second important test in the Nebraska College Conference in as many weeks.

Wayne, Kearney and Peru tied for the NCC title last season and things have been nip-and-tuck between the three schools again in 1966.

But Wayne managed to take a slight advantage last weekend, breaking a tie with the Antelopes for the lead.

Now, hoever, the Wildcats must stave off the Peru Bobcats who want to tighten things up again.

Kearney's loss placed the Antelopes in a tie for second place with Peru, both with 1-1 league records.

A Peru victory over Wayne, 2-0 in league play, would deadlock the NCC again.

Kearney, however, would drop to third, still with a 1-1 mark. The Antelopes take on Dakota Wesleyan in a non-loop contest.

A Wayne victory would take the heat off, placing the Wildcats in excellent position to run away with the title

"Peru always plays good football," commented Wayne coach John Jermier. "We will have to work hard to get the boys ready for this one. We can't let down after our win over Kearney."

Posting a 14-0 decision over Dana, Midland got its touchdowns in the second period.

A capacity Midland homecoming crowd saw the touchdowns come on a two-yard plunge by Bruce Green and a 25-yard pass play, Ed Oeltjen to Del Blair.

Bob Nix' kicking toe provided the margin in Sioux Falls' 14-13 victory over Concordia at Seward. He got the extra points in the first and fourth quarters following touchdowns by Hose Dalton, who took a 16-yard pass from Larry Skogerboe, and Sam Robinson, who went over from the one.

Barry Raga ran one yard for Concordia's first touchdown in the second period. The home team scored again in the third when Dennis Hartner returned an intercepted pass 22 yards.

Doane won its first game in 15 years against Hastings, 16-7. The home team scored 13 points in the first quarter for the margin. Larry Green tossed to Jim Welti for five yards and Roger Booth ran one yard for the tallies.

Doane got a 30-yard field goal by Fred Hayeks in the fourth.

Perry Peterson passed 49 yards to Jack Hockersmith for the Hastings touchdown in the second period.

At Peoria, Ill., Bradley captured seven University of Omaha fumbles en route to a 14-6 victory. Omaha got the first TD on a three-yard run by Bill Dodd in the opening period.

A recovered bad center in the end zone and a short run gave Bradley second and fourth-period scores.

Hiram Scott traveled to Denison, Iowa, and downed Midwestern 25-21. Ron Riggins counted twice for the Scottsbluff team, once on a four-yard run and again on a 70-yard pass interception.

Polls Rate Nebraska Sixth

Compiled from News Wires

Nebraska moved back into sixth place in both the Associated Press and United Press International major college football polls this week after its impressive 31-3 victory over the Big Ten's Wisconsin.

Both polls rated the Huskers sixth two weeks ago, but an unimpressive 12-6 win over Iowa State dropped them to seventh in the UPI ratings and eighth in the AP balloting.

Both polls agree on the first nine positions with Michigan State leading both ratings.

The only discrepency is in 10th place where Baylor, a 7-0 victor over Arkansas, is given that spot by the UPI and another Big Eight school, Oklahoma, gets the nod from the AP.

Oklahoma stopped Texas, 18-9, last Saturday.

Notre Dame climbed to second in both polls, replacing UCLA which dropped to fourth after a close decision over unrated Rice.

Alabama, the national champion for the last two seasons is currently third.

Missouri Loses Russ Washington For 3-4 Weeks

Columbia, Mo. (AP) — Russell Washington, Missouri's giant defensive right end who suffered a knee injury in Saturday's victory over Kansas State, will be lost to the team for three to four weeks, coach Dan Devine said Monday. The injured knee has been placed in a cast.

Earl Denny, offensive right halfback who missed the trip to Kansas State because of a back ailment, has not been cleared for practice by the team physician and remains questionable for Saturday's game with Oklahoma State here.

Seven other players were held out of Monday's practice for injuries but Devine expects all of them to be ready for full duty against Oklahoma State.

Mitchell Eyes Soccer Kicker

Homecoming Contest With K-State A Sellout

Nebraska's Homecoming Day clash Saturday against Kansas State at Memorial Stadium was declared a sellout Monday by NU ticket manager Jim Pittenger.

Pittenger said the 3,000 tickets that had been put on sale last week for the game were now exhausted.

Dallas' Neely Faces Switch To Houston

Dallas (AP) —Ralph Neely, the former Oklahoma star who is rated by coach Tom Landry of the Dallas Cowboys as the finest offensive tackle in the National Football League, heard Monday that he may not be with Dallas long.

Neely signed contracts with both the Houston Oilers of the American Football League and Dallas. The U.S. Circuit Court at Denver held that the contract with Houston was enforceable, thus he would have to play with Houston if he continued in pro football although he now is in his second season with Dallas.

The Supreme Court in Washington denied a review of the decision Monday, therefore deciding that the contract with Houston was valid.

Johnson Number One O-State Signal-Caller

Stillwater, Okla. (AP) —Oklahoma State heard a scouting report on Missouri, then went through a light workout Monday.

Cowboy coach Phil Cutchin announced that Ronnie Johnson had secured the No. 1 quarterback spot for the Cowboys, which came as a surprise to no one, since it was Johnson who took Oklahoma State on a last-ditch drive that beat Colorado 11-10.

First Satellite Collision Reported To Scientists

Madrid (UPI) — Two unmanned U.S. satellites accidentally collided in space at speeds of five miles per second but withstood the crash and are still in orbit, it was disclosed Monday.

Dr. Hilliard W. Paige, a vice president of the General Electric Co., told the 17th International Astronautical Congress of the first known crash of two satellites. It occurred in April 1965, he said.

"After they collided," Paige said, "both satellites quickly stabilized. Today, after 18 months, both are still stabilized in orbit."

Scientists among the 1,200 delegates from 30 countries attending the Madrid meeting said it would be almost impossible to put two satellites on the same orbit so they would collide.

Leroy E. Day, director of the U.S. Apollo test program and former deputy director of the Gemini project, said progress in space since the first Soviet Sputnik was launched nine years ago "has far exceeded the most optimistic predictions."

Soviet scientists declined to answer queries as to why the Russians have not put a manned spacecraft into orbit for 19 months. But they denied reports the Soviets were building a rocket capable of putting a 165-ton spaceship into orbit.

Federal Highway Funds Meted Out

Washington (AP) — The Commerce Department apportioned among the states Monday the $4.4 billion in federal highway funds approved by Congress more than a month ago for the next fiscal year which ends June 30, 1968.

An apportionment merely puts the states on notice of the amount of federal aid to which they are entitled in any specific year. The apportionment for the current fiscal year was $4 billion.

The total for Nebraska was $34,143,170, including $19,133,194 for the interstate system and $15,009,976 for primary, feeder and urban highways.

Ex-Justice, Wife Seeking $25,000 Insurance Claim

Former Nebraska Supreme Court Chief Justice Robert G. Simmons and his wife, Gladyce, filed a suit in Lancaster District Court Monday seeking a $25,000 claim from the Continental Casualty Co.

The plaintiffs allege that the defendants issued to them in 1961 a policy of group insurance with the American Judicature Society of Chicago, Ill., which included a clause for $25,000 coverage on permanent disability.

Simmons alleges that on May 10, 1964, Mrs. Simmons was totally and permanently disabled as a result of injuries received in an accident and that the total disability still exists.

The plaintiffs contend that all information concerning the claim was furnished Continental Casualty but that on Aug. 17, 1965, the defendants "disclaimed any liability or responsibility on account of permanent and total disability" of Mrs. Simmons.

The suit states that Simmons has made demands upon the defendant but the defendant has failed and refused payment.

The Simmons' ask $25,000 plus interest from May 10, 1965.

Wells Attacks Treasurer As 'Not Serving'

The present county treasurer is not serving the taxpayers by refusing to send out county real estate tax notices, according to Willard J. Wells, Democratic candidate for county treasurer.

Wells said, "It is unreasonable to make taxpayers inquire at the treasurer's office to find out their real estate tax bill. The county should automatically send out real estate tax notices to citizens. The city has been sending out notices for 28 years."

"In this respect and in many others, the county treasurer's office is years behind times."

Wells, 61, is running against Carl Berg, the present county treasurer. Berg, 75, has been in the treasurer's office for 40 years.

"It is true that the law doesn't require that real estate tax notices be sent out. The main characteristic of Berg's administration is that he has done no more to serve the public than he has to," Wells said.

Registration Not Altered By Street Renaming Plans

Residents of Lincoln areas where street names and numbers are in the process of being changed by the City Council don't have to re-register to vote Nov. 8 Miss Betty Jeanne Holcomb, county election commissioner, reported Monday.

She said that persons living at the same place of residence as when they last registered will be carried in the election record books at that address regardless of any pending changes in street designation.

The election commission has received many calls regarding the address changes in West Lincoln which are scheduled for December, she said.

Miss Holcomb said the election commission would change the registration records after the election to bring them up to date with the street designation changes.

Opposition To Liquor Organized

Fred F. Patzel, 362 Lyncrest Dr., was named chairman of the newly formed steering committee to oppose the liquor by the drink proposal — Lincoln Citizens Against Liquor by the Drink.

Overseeing and co-ordinating the efforts of groups and individuals who oppose liquor by the drink is the purpose of the organization, according to its secretary, the Rev. Richard C. Gage.

At its meeting at Bethel Baptist Church, the group based its opposition on the arguments that liquor by the drink:

—means an increasing highway accident toll.
—means more crime in the city.
—means more people drinking and more drunkenness.
—means more social pressure on young people.
—is a trap for the alcoholic.
—means more family problems and costs to the community.
—means further liberalization in drinking laws.

Rev. Gage said the plan of the group was to get the facts to the people through speaker appointments and the distribution of printed matter.

He further explained that the group was a voluntary association, contributions would be by personal subscription, and that the work of the steering committee would be done in committees composed of interested citizens.

Ex-Nazi Officer Commits Suicide; Denies Charges

Hagen, Germany (AP) —Former SS officer Kurt Bolaender 54, principal defendant at a war crimes trial here, was found hanging in his cell Monday, the prosecutor's office said.

Bolaender had been charged with the murder of 360 Jews and aiding and abetting in the killing of 480,000 other victims at Sobibor, a Nazi concentration camp.

A spokesman said Bolaender left a letter in which he denied being involved in the murders but said he felt the court would not believe him.

City May Get Engineer To Eye Sewer Trouble

The City Council Monday said it might employ a consulting engineer to investigaet and recommend a remedy for sanitary sewer troubles in the Hoppe Heights residential addition.

The cost of outside help would first have to be determined, the council intimated.

Action stemmed from two claims against the city submitted by property owners in the area—Melvin A. Bice of 4001 Gertie Ave. and David Higgins of 4101 Gertie Ave.—who alleged property damage resulting from a sanitary sewer backup following heavy rains on June 2, 1965 and on subsequent occasions.

The city legal department has recommended that the claims be denied. Action on both was withheld until the situation is investigated.

Higgins and Bice said that all incidents which occurred in the Gertie Ave. neighborhood during the same time period were examples of sanitary sewer backup and not caused by rainwater entering basements from other sources and then flooding the sewer lines.

Both claimed that sewage and water from the line filled their basements from 12 to 27 inches after the rains and contaminated and ruined furniture, appliances anf other property.

Lee Blocker, acting director of public utilities, said his department has been unable to determine how the overcharge of water entered the sanitary sewer line. "We don't know what the problem is," he added.

In other action, the council continued to debate the implementation of its sidewalk construction policy adopted in August last year.

The latest conflict involves a resolution ordering in sidewalks on both sides of So. 27th, between Calvert and Van Dorn.

Calling the order unnecessary because of a lack of pedestrian traffic on the street, attorney Art Whitworth presented a petition with the names of 26 of 29 property owners in the area in question who opposed new sidewalk construction.

The residents were asked to come up with a compromise solution providing for sidewalks on one side of 27th and an agreement on financing the project, and the council said it would tour the arterial next Monday.

The council approved Mayor Dean Petersen's appointment of the first two new members of the city Park and Recreation Advisory Board who are under the 21-year-old voting age.

Named to one-year terms on the board were Ron Pfiefer, 20, of 1301 J, a student at the Univeristy of Nebraska and formerly at Southeast High School, and Terry Mazurak, 18, of 1001 Eldon Drive, a senior at Lincoln High.

Council Meeting May Move Out Of City Hall

Mayor Dean Petersen said Monday he favors moving City Council meetings and the council's new secretary out of City Hall until the City-County Building is completed.

A lack of space currently with the expectation of hiring additional administrative staff in the mayor's office led him to his opinion, the mayor said.

The council said it would meet informally for lunch next Monday to look over Pershing Municipal Auditorium as a site for public meetings and as office space for secretary to the council Mrs. Marcia Baldwin, who started work this week.

The mayor said that City Hall space, now at a premium, would become even more limited with the future addition of an administrative assistant and an economic development coordinator, as well as Mrs. Baldwin.

Money for all three positions has been budgeted for this fiscal year.

An obvious advantage in holding regular meetings in the cramped council chamber, aside from custom, is that the council has direct access to needed information during debate from administrative departments within the same building.

Asked if a move might not work to a disadvantage for the council and the public, Mayor Petersen said, "there might be some inconvenience, but not too bad . . . if anyone wants anything, it can be brought over".

Council members were not noticeably for or against the proposal, but took a wait-and-see attitude.

Legally, a move to the auditorium would fulfill City Charter provisions, since Pershing is a city building.

Most officials have guessed that the new city - county structure will be finished in two years.

Slow Traffic On O Street Under Fire

City Councilman Ervin Peterson Monday asked that city departments work on a method to speed up traffic movement on O St.

"It's time we conduct a study on the means we can get further use out of O, as well as the southeast radial and other arterials—driving two-a-breast at a low rate of speed is not allowing motorists to get the proper use out of O, especially when other main streets are being worked on," Peterson said.

He suggested either raising the maximum speed limit to 45 miles per hour, setting a minimum speed limit or issuing tickets for "obstructing traffic".

Peterson also called for more "clear time" at traffic signals for O St. traffic.

Councilman John Mason proposed that O St. traffic capacity could be increased east of 17th by cutting back existing wide sidewalks, thus creating a permanent parking lane and additional traffic lanes on each side.

76% Of State, Local Taxes On Property

. . . UNIVERSITY STUDY SHOWS

Property taxes in Nebraska accounted for $246,851,000 or more than 76% of the $322,391,000 in total state and local tax collections in 1965.

These figures, based on tax data not previously compiled, were reported in Business in Nebraska, a publication of the University of Nebraska Bureau of Business Research.

Intangible taxes which totaled $8,382,180 constituted only 3.5% of all property taxes and about 2.6% of the total bill for state and local taxes.

In relating taxes to personal income, from which all state and local taxes ultimately must be paid, the analysis showed that the cost was roughly $85 per $1,000 of personal income.

The study was conducted by Dr. Edward B. Schmidt, tax specialist in the University's department of economics, who considers a cost figure related to income to be more significant than an average since some families paid much less and some much more than the average.

He found that on an average basis, however, state and local taxes came to approximately $220 for each man, woman and child in the state, or $880 for a family of two parents and two children.

Taxes on property accounted for almost 93% of the $266,098,000 unrestricted taxes which may be spent at the discretion of the legislative groups that authorized their collection. Of total tax collections, unrestricted taxes constituted 82.5%. The rest were restricted taxes, more commonly referred to as "earmarked."

Of the restricted taxes, gasoline and motor vehicle taxes, which are considered highway user taxes, totaled $55,150,000 or 98%. City poll and severence taxes made up the remainder of the $56,293,000 total in this category.

Dr. Schmidt's study represents an attempt to supply reasonably comprehensive and accurate data for the year ended June 30, 1965. Information concerning the amounts of tax revenue derived from the various taxes in the state is in short supply because no single agency is charged by law with the responsibility for collecting and reporting data.

Tunender Pleads Guilty Of Motor Vehicle Homicide

O'Neill (AP)—Francis J. Tunender, 27, of Emmet, pleaded guilty Monday to a charge of motor vehicle homicide and District Judge William C. Smith deferred sentencing until Oct. 24.

Tunender was charged in connection with the death of Mrs. Martha Wills, an elderly Emmet woman. She was struck by a car while returning from church March 16 and died the following day in a hospital.

Judge Smith said an investigation would precede sentencing.

Rural Power Districts To Pursue Goals If They Aren't Met Voluntarily

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Rural public power districts Monday announced that they will attempt to accomplish five major goals of the 1965 power consolidation act through further legislation if they are not pursued in the recently-announced voluntary power realignment.

Notwithstanding the announcement, rural districts said they will proceed with their legislative program.

What they will actually seek from the 1967 Legislature will depend upon what is finally agreed upon by the three major districts which are negotiating a realignment plan.

Consumers Public Power District, Loup River Public Power District and Platte Valley Public Power and Irrigation District announced last week that they have agreed, in principle, to a joint proposal.

Under the plan, Consumers would replace Loup as Platte's partner in the Nebraska Public Power System.

Loup would acquire and operate the retail electric facilities of Consumers in a new four-county district comprised of Platte, Boone, Nance and Colfax Counties.

The joint legislative committee of the Nebraska Rural Electric Assn., and the Nebraska Electric Generation and Transmission Cooperative met in Lincoln Monday to consider the realignment plan.

Dil Blatchford of Columbus and Paul Ogier of Wallace, committee co-chairmen, said rural districts continue to seek assurance that five major objectives of the 1965 power merger act will be met. Included are:

—The realignment will continue to work toward the goal of a single, representative wholesale generation and transmission agency to serve outstate Nebraska.

—Wheeling will be made available to all power agencies regardless of the source of power.

—The wholesale supplier will recognize present contractual agreements, including the right of the rural districts to contract collectively.

—The wholesale supplier will assume utility responsibility to provide power supply at the least overall cost and provide for delivery point facilities.

If only part of these objectives are met by the realignment agreement, Ogier said, "we may introduce legislation in the 1967 session to see that the rest is accomplished."

Rural districts have not established any deadline for the realization of all five goals, Blatchford and Ogier said, nor do they all necessarily have to be accomplished in full by the conclusion of the 1967 session.

"We certainly don't want to throw cold water on the negotiations," Blatchford noted. "We don't want to do anything to discourage continued negotiations to get this thing settled."

But, he noted, "we've got to see progress made" toward accomplishing all five objectives.

Rural districts were strong supporters of the 1965 consolidation act which later was ruled unconstitutional by the State Supreme Court.

New York (AP) —President Johnson has been named to receive the first Margaret Sanger Award in World Leadership for his contributions to population planning at home and abroad.

Both Hanoi, Peking Reject Bomb Pause

Tokyo (AP) — North Viet Nam joined Communist China Tuesday in ruling out a pause in bombing of North Viet Nam, timed troop withdrawals and seating the Viet Cong at a peace conference as solutions to the Viet Nam conflict.

Like the Chinese, the North Vietnamese reiterated that U.S. troops must pull out of Viet Nam. Hanoi said this in a point-by-point rejection of a peace plan broached by British Foreign Secretary George Brown.

The army newspaper, Quan Doi Nhan Dan, said Brown's six-point plan clashes with the terms of the Geneva armistice agreements of 1954. Brown had called for a reconvening of the Geneva conferees.

In its clearest rejection so far of various recent peace moves, the Chinese accused the United States of "trying the old trick" of creating a Laos-style coalition in Viet Nam, a solution it made plain it would not accept.

The paper revealed that despite the peace initiatives, China's position has not wavered and that it insists on fulfillment of so far unacceptable conditions laid down by North Viet Nam and the Viet Cong.

HEMISPHERE CONFERENCE IMPROBABLE?

Washington (AP)—Some Latin-American diplomats speculated Monday that the proposed conference of Western Hemisphere presidents may never take place.

In addition, they said so many obstacles had arisen to the holding of a regular inter-American conference, originally scheduled for Buenos Aires that it, too, may not take place for months — if ever.

Trash About TV Outstripped Only By Sex—Commissioner

Atlantic City, N.J. (AP) — A federal communications commissioner said Monday night that there is "more nonsense, garbage and hogwash spoken, written and printed about television than about any other single subject with the possible exception of sex."

Lee Loevinger told the 20th annual convention of the New Jersey Broadcaster Association, "The more I see of television, the more I dislike it and defend it. Television is not for me but for many others who do like it, but who have no time for many things I like.

"It seems to me that television is: the literature of the illiterate; the culture of the lowbrow; the wealth of the poor; the privilege of the underprivileged; the exclusive club of the excluded masses."

But Loevinger said he believes, "If television is forced to admit the elite, it will lose its exclusivity for the masses and—as the clubby elite should know—this will destroy its value for those who belong to it.

"In the current lingo, television is the cool of the squares, and it cannot exist if inverted. The square of the cools equals nothing.

"Television is a golden goose that lays scrambled eggs; and it is futile and probably fatal to beat it for not laying caviar. Anyway, more people like scrambled eggs than caviar."

CARDINAL WILL KEEP HIS POST AS REQUESTED

New York (UPI) — Francis Cardinal Spellman disclosed Monday that he had offered his resignation to the Vatican but that Pope Paul VI had asked him to remain in his position with the Roman Catholic Church.

Spellman, 77, made the disclosure to some 3,000 worshippers at St. Patrick's Cathedral during a ceremony investing six auxiliary bishops as episcopal vicars.

The prelate said he had submitted his resignation Sept. 21 in compliance with a recently promulgated decree by the Pope, requesting bishops 75 years or older to resign.

The first zoological garden in the United States was established in Philadelphia in 1874.

Space Flight Influences Viet War, Webb Says

New York (UPI) —James E. Webb, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) said Monday that successful space flights have helped shape the war in Viet Nam.

"The situation in Viet Nam would be a bit different if the Gemini flights had been failures," Webb told a news conference.

"We are showing that we have power and technological capability to back it up. We are showing the Russians that we can make their effort in Viet Nam a loss rather than a profit," he said.

Webb said Russia is still ahead of the U.S. in attempts to land a man on the moon. He pointed out that Russia has not had a manned space flight in 19 months, but he said they were undertaking more extensive unmanned tests of the environment around various planets than the U.S.

Webb predicted, however, that the Russians would have a manned space flight very soon.

"The Russians are undoubtedly ahead of us in (moon) fly-by and probably ahead of us in actual landing," he said.

Floods Devastating

Algiers (UPI)—Widespread flooding in western Algeria during the past week has claimed the lives of 20 persons and made thousands homeless, the government said.

Market Mounts Vigorous Rally

Volume swelled to 9.63 million from Friday's 8.14 million shares and was the largest since Aug. 30 when 11.21 million shares changed hands in a rebound from the Aug. 29 low.

The Dow Jones industrial average showed an early loss of 5.24 when prices were being pounded. It retrieved this loss, however, and closed with a net gain of 10.19 at 754.51. This was its largest rise since Sept. 14 when it rebounded above the 800 level in a continuation of the snapback from the Aug. 29 lows.

Analysts saw no change in the fundamental newsback-ground to account for a rally. Instead, they saw the recovery as based on the usual "technical" factors.

"The market was deeply oversold," said one analyst.

Multi-point gains were made by many of the glamor stocks which had just finished their worst week of the year.

Xerox closed at 143⅝, recovering 11½ points of the 42½ it lost last week. IBM regained 16⅝ of 24⅝ it lost; KLM Airlines 13¼ of 25¾; Polaroid, 11½ of 20; Fairchild Camera 9⅞ of 31⅞.

Sperry Rand was the most-active stock, rising 3 to 24⅛ on 240,900 shares.

Of 1,422 issues traded, 725 advanced and 453 declined. Lows for the year totaled 437. There were no new highs.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 3.3 to 272.9 with industrials up 6.5, rails up .9 and utilities up 1.6. It was the largest rise for this average since Sept. 12 when it gained 3.5.

All of the 15 most-active stocks advanced.

RCA reported record earnings and it advanced 3⅛ to 39⅛ but it was not among the 15 most-active stocks.

On the American Stock Exchange, a scattering of more stocks advanced than declined. Volume was 2.71 million shares compared with 2.41 million on Friday.

Grain Prices Firm, Weak

Wheat and soybeans closed easily to a scattered demand which started with some commercial accounts then attracted a little speculative short covering.

The failure of hedge selling to materialize as expected accounted for some of the support for soybeans. Dealers said there was a moderate demand from commercial accounts in early activity.

At the close wheat was 1⅛-1½ cents a bushel higher, December $1.72¼-72; corn ½ to 1 cent lower, December $1.35⅜-36; oats ⅛-⅜ higher, December 74⅜-⅝ cents; rye ⅛ higher to ½ lower, December $1.23; soybeans ⅝ to 2⅜ higher, November $2.94⅛-94.

Sorensen Labels Lower Salaries 'False Economy'

Omaha—Failure to provide competitive salaries to keep the young teacher in Nebraska is false economy, Lt. Gov. Philip Sorensen told a meeting at Rock Brook School Monday night.

"If we are to place professional teachers before our students, we must keep those whom we train in our colleges and universities," the Democratic gubernatorial nominee said.

"Our young people are going to school in numbers which keep us ranked among the top states, and it is our responsibility to see that when they do this, they get the best possible start in life."

Mitchell Claims Norbert Tiemann 'Great Follower'

Kearney (UPI) — State Democratic Chairman John Mitchell said Monday "as a candidate banker Norbert Tiemann of Wausa is proving to be a great follower."

In a statement, Mitchell said Tiemann's "latest action in following Lt. Gov. Philip Sorensen is his endorsement of the constitutional convention.

"The lieutenant governor has been on record as favoring a constitutional convention since his campaign for lieutenant governor two years ago and has recently affirmed that stand in his answers to questions about a convention in questionnaires submitted to him."

Steen Predicts $10 Million Gain On Pheasants

A 10 million dollar income for Nebraska farm pheasant hunters was predicted Monday evening by Mel Steen, director of Nebraska's State Game Commission.

Steen, speaking to the Capital City Kiwanis Club, said, "We will have more nonresident pheasant hunters than the state has ever had, with a longer season and more pheasant population than any other state."

Steen received the Capital City Kiwanis Agricultural Bellringer Award in recognition of 46 years service in the field of wildlife, recreation and conservation.

Letter Carriers Delivering Cards For ZIP Codes

Letter carriers throughout the Lincoln area are delivering two cards to every residence, Postmaster Kenneth Lewis reported.

Each card will have spaces for addresses the householder wishes ZIPPED. After placing their uncoded addresses on the card, they may be dropped into any letter box with no postage required or returned to the mail carrier.

A return address should be included on the front of the cards so they may be returned after the post office has inserted the appropriate ZIP Code numbers.

The project is part of Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien's program to make ZIP codes more accessible to the mailing public.

German Women Prefer Nighties

The industry reports 78.5% of all ladies' nightwear produced in Germany in 1965 consisted of nightdresses. Only 18.1% were pajamas and 3.4% were shorties and bikinis.

Northern Co. Reveals Plan For Pipeline

Omaha (AP)— Northern Gas Products Co. a subsidiary of Northern Natural Gas Co. of Omaha, announced Monday a $10 million pipeline project to provide common carrier liquified petroleum gas transportation service to refineries in the Chicago area, Ohio and Michigan.

The project, including 70 miles of pipeline along the west side and through the south side of Chicago, will bridge a gap in common carrier transportation of natural gas liquids from the major producing areas of the southwest to markets in the northeastern United States.

Gas Products currently operates a 435-mile products pipeline from Bushton, Kan., to Wichita, Kan., and from Bushton to Des Moines, Iowa. Bushton is the location of an extraction plant which produces about 210 million gallons of natural gas liquids each year.

President Ross K. Albon said the company's present LP-gas pipeline system will become a common carrier. A propane tariff has been filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Besides the new Chicago line, which will have a capacity of 40,000 barrels per day, gas products is building 29 miles of pipeline connecting its existing system with the salt bed LP-gas storage near Hutchinson, Kan., plus three underground storage caverns and above ground tank storage in the Chicago area, two underground storage caverns at Des Moines and additional pumping capacity.

Hruska Attacks Ag Department's Proposed Policy

The senator said John A. Schnittker, undersecretary of agriculture, had been quoted as saying in effect that the present farm policy is aimed at achieveing parity income for adequate-sized commercial farms.

Asked by a reporter to define adequate-sized commercial farms, Hruska said they were said to be those grossing $10,000 or more a year.

According to the latest agricultural census, there were 80,163 farms in Nebraska, Hruska said, adding that 34,681 of these fell below the $10,000 gross income figure.

Schnittker declined any comment.

"He was sitting right there where you're sitting," said Brendan O'Regan. "And he said: "Lord Inchiquin, how long has your family owned the castle?' 'Over a thousand years,' said Lord Inchiquin.

"Which is true," said Brendan, "for he's of the 'O'Briens who claim direct descent from Brian Boru who drove the Danes out of Ireland in 1014."

Dromoland Castle is a great gray-stone towered mansion, set is 1500 acres of rolling green park and woods and misty Irish lakes.

An American named Bernard McDonough bought it a few years ago. He spent $1.5 million remodeling it into a luxurious hotel of 70 castle rooms.

"I'd had business with him before," said O'Regan—he's chairman of the Irish tourist board. "His father came from Galway, though McDonough's in sand-and-gravel business in West Virginia now. And I said, "Would you be interested in making a hotel here?'

Dromoland is all great halls. Lined with pictures of arrogant looking O'Briens of the aristocratic years. The ceilings are 20 feet high. You bounce on the thick carpets.

"We sat here," said O'Regan. "It was Lord Inchiquin's study then." (It is the scarlet-and wood-panel bar now.) McDonough was looking up at the picture of Donough O'Brien who got the place in 1570. 'Donough' it said under the picture. 'That's my name,' said McDonough. 'A good omen,' I said.

"He said, 'How much would you take for it, Lord Inchiquin?' 'Fifty thousand pounds with 300 acres,' says Lord Inchiquin. 'I'll take it,' says McDonough, 'That's about $150,000? Write it down,' he said to me. And I wrote it down."

Dromoland lies between Limerick and Ennis in the south of Ireland. The storm-damaged Armada fell on the coastal rocks—34 ships. The O'Briens put to death the sailors who got ashore. The mounded grave is at Lahnich.

"At this point," said O'Regan, "Inchiquin began to take thought. For it was all so sudden, you see. 'Not including the furniture,' he says. 'And only 100 acres.'

" 'Read off what you wrote down,' said McDonough, and I read it off—'300 acres.' Inchiquin says, 'I was confused with pounds and dollars.' 'Well,' says McDonough, 'you struck the bargain. But I'll not hold you to it. What do you want for the 300 acres?'

"So Inchiquin named him a figure," said O'Regan." 'I'll not take it,' said McDonough and he walked out.

"I was disappointed," said Brendan. "For we needed a hotel."

"I called Inchiquin," said Brendan, "and I said: 'You won't get a better offer. Now perhaps he doesn't need the acres. Would you do this: would you give him and his guests shooting, riding and hunting rights over the whole estate?'

"I'd do that,' said Lord Inchiquin. For you see, he was willing to make a compromise," said Brendan. "And I wrote that to McDonough."

"A year or so later," said Brendan, "I was in the States and I called him.

" 'Come down,' he said. 'I want to talk to you. I'll send a plane.' So I went down.

" 'Oh, by the way,' he said to me when I got there, 'I bought that castle this morning by telephone.' 'But didn't you want to see more of it?' I said. 'You know nothing about hotel business.'

" 'The principle in all business is the same,' he said. 'I intend to make it the finest hotel in all Europe. If you're the best in your business, where else can people go for what they want?'

"And that's how it was bought," said Brendan.
